Delayed When Cable Breaks After Take-Off at Terre Haute—Columbus, O., Day's Destination.

SPENDS THE NIGHT AT PARKS AIRPORT

Flyer Scheduled to Reach New York Sunday, a Week After Starting Trip From Los Angeles.

By the Associated Press. INDIANAPOLIS, April 4.—Capt. Frank Hawks, making a transcontinental flight in a glider, reached the Mars Hill airport here at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon. He came from Terre Haute where he was delayed for a short time, this morning when the cable between his glider and his towing plane broke. He was forced down four miles east of Terre Haute.

He had arrived at Terre Haute shortly before 10 a. m. from St. Louis and taken off at 10:54. It was the second time that Hawks has been delayed by such a mishap. The cable broke last Wednesday 10 miles east of Tucson, Ariz., but he piloted the glider to a safe landing and resumed the tour the following day.

Capt. Frank M. Hawks resumed his glider trip across the continent today, taking off behind the tow plane, piloted by "Duke" Jernigan, from Parks Airport at 7:05 a. m.

Today's lap of the cross-continent journey, which started from San Diego, Cal., last Sunday and is scheduled to end in Van Cortlandt Park, New York City, Sunday afternoon, calls for a refueling halt at Indianapolis, Ind., and an overnight stop at Columbus, O. The airline landing and resumed the tour the following day.

The "air-train" arrived over the East Side airport at 5:45 p. m. yesterday, flying at an altitude of 4000 feet. The plane and glider were barely discernible against the late-afternoon haze. The tow line was cast off almost as soon as the ships were seen from the ground, the biplane turning to the right and the glider winged glider appearing to remain stationary.

While Jernigan circled to earth the glider drifted above the airport in a series of gentle turns. When headed into the wind the graceful craft appeared to make but slight headway, but the pace became lively whenever Hawks tossed the glider downwind into the wind at his back. To the observer accustomed to roaring engines, steep banks and whistling dives, gliding appears quite mild. The landing, however, was accomplished by a swift swoop and a precise leveling off, the glider landing squarely on the single rubber-tired wheel set near the center of the keel. Capt. Hawks had soared above the airport for 25 minutes before bringing the craft to earth within 50 feet of a crowd.

"Unsurpassed as Sport." "Glidering is unsurpassed as a sport," Capt. Hawks declared after the front and top of the tiny cabin had been removed. "Glidering has features that beat flying a ship, and it is certainly the proper method of studying aviation. One gets the feel of a ship and the air far more quickly in a glider than in a powered plane."

Discussing his 1865-mile trip from San Diego to St. Louis, Capt. Hawks said: "I've had a tough time of it over the mountains and in other spots in the Southwest, where the wind was gusty and the glider whipped around like the tail of a kite. Lonesome? No chance. When it's gusty I have my hands full, and when things are running smoothly I kid with the boys ahead over the telephone, and occasionally turn on the radio."

First With Instrument Board. "The glider used by Capt. Hawks is one of the first with a completely enclosed cabin, and is said to be the first motorless plane to have an instrument board. The instruments include an air speed indicator, turn and bank indicator, and altimeter. Towing is by means of a rope, 235 feet long, which is reeled into the tow plane when Hawks casts off. A telephone wire is contained in the rope, permitting conversation between the two craft. Hawks also has a 5-tube radio set in the glider."

The glider, which was specially constructed for the flight, weighs 300 pounds empty, and with the pilot and a consignment of "glider mail" weighs about 400 pounds in the air. Wallace Franklin of Wayne, Mich., one of the designers of the craft, accompanies Jernigan in the tow plane.

From Columbus the "air train" is scheduled to go on to Buffalo, N. Y., Saturday, and to reach New York City Sunday. The trip from San Diego to New York is approximately 2800 miles, which Capt. Hawks expects to complete in about 40 flying hours. On his arrival here he had been aloft 21 hours and 24 minutes towing time, 4 hours, 25 minutes soaring time over the 11 airports where he had stopped.

SENATE READY TO VOTE ON MUSCLE SHOALS

Norris Confident His Resolution Will Pass — Seeks to Avoid Veto.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 4.—The Senate was ready today for a vote on Senator Norris' proposal that the 10-year-old problem of the disposition of Muscle Shoals be settled by Government operation of the vast power and nitrate plants there.

All efforts at important amendments had been voted down, and the measure stood in virtually the same form as that which was approved by Congress two years ago and is scheduled to be submitted to a pocket veto by President Coolidge.

Senator Norris was confident that he had enough votes for the adoption of his resolution and was hopeful that this time it would receive Presidential approval. It was with an eye to the White House that he successfully opposed attempts by Black and Herlin of Alabama, Democrats, to amend the measure. He urged that "no peg be put on the resolution upon which a veto by the Chief Executive may be hung."

However, two perfecting amendments were adopted. One by Black would permit 30-year contracts for the sale of power, instead of 15, and the other, by George of Georgia, would forbid those using power from Muscle Shoals to fix discriminatory rates.

The resolution would create a "Muscle Shoals Corporation" with a directing board of three members appointed by the President. The power and nitrate plants erected during the war to provide nitrates for explosives, would be operated by the Government for the production of nitrate fertilizer. Surplus power, under the measure, would be distributed equitably among adjoining states. The resolution also provides for the erection of a dam at Cove Creek, Ky., to be used as a reservoir, to assure a uniform flow of water at Muscle Shoals.

WAR MEASURES IN CHINA

Nanking Orders Arrest of Governor of Shanai Province.

By the Associated Press. SHANGHAI, April 4.—The Nationalist Government at Nanking took war measures tonight against the northern militarist alliance, which has declared for its overthrow.

Nanking's State Council approved a mandate for "the arrest and subjugation" of Gen. Yen Hai-Shan, Governor of Shanai Province and leader of the alliance.

The glider, which was specially constructed for the flight, weighs 300 pounds empty, and with the pilot and a consignment of "glider mail" weighs about 400 pounds in the air. Wallace Franklin of Wayne, Mich., one of the designers of the craft, accompanies Jernigan in the tow plane.

MAYOR TO OFFER TERMINAL PERMIT FOR FREE BRIDGE

In View of Aldermen's Failure to Act, He Suggests Its Use Under Existing Ordinance.

Mayor Miller today announced that, as the Board of Aldermen is about to end its session without having enacted any measure authorizing the Terminal Association to use the Municipal Bridge, he will ask the Terminal whether it does not wish to arrange for such use under the existing bridge ordinance.

The existing bridge ordinance, the Mayor pointed out, would make it possible for the Municipal Bridge Commission, an ex-officio body of city officials, to grant the Terminal a permit for use of the bridge, and permits for constructing and connecting any new approaches it may need. The city would have the option of buying the bridge, or any part of it, on six months' notice, by repaying the original cost and carrying charges, but the city would not be obligated to purchase them. The pending proposed ordinance would require the city to purchase the approaches, paying the Terminal for them in remitted tolls.

The Mayor has directed City Counselor Muench to confer with Henry Miller, president of the Terminal, about the matter. Both Terminal Miller and Thomas M. Pierce, the Terminal's chief counsel, are out of the city.

The special bridge committee of the Board of Aldermen met this afternoon for discussion of the pending measure, and to confer on legal phases of the matter with the committee's special counsel, Cleveland A. Newton. The Board of Aldermen holds its final meeting of the present 1929-30 session later in the afternoon, and it has not been planned to vote on the ordinance today.

However, the Mayor decided that the Board had planned to introduce an amended measure at the beginning of the new session. The pending ordinance, as originally agreed upon by the Mayor and the Terminal officials, provided that the Terminal should be given the right of way for the bridge, to be opened as a free public highway, and that the rental to be paid by the city for Eads Bridge and that to be paid by the Terminal for the Municipal Bridge should be the same.

For the first time, Dr. Bass' handbag was searched at the jail today and 11 stickers from hotels in the United States and "Original" were found. Robert Fearman was sent for and said the stickers resembled some he had collected at hotels in Western United States and in China, Japan, the Philippines and Hawaii when he was on a tour with an orchestra from the Columbia four years ago. He said he had left them in his room at the hotel and did not know they were gone.

Authorities regarded discovery of the stickers as an important clue. They presume that if they were taken from Robert's room, his father took them to give color to his claim that he was a prosperous land dealer who had traveled widely.

Little Interest in Killing. Bentonville, which has 3500 inhabitants, is only mildly curious. Only a few persons were in court when Dr. Bass was arraigned. He is not known here nor has Fearman been seen in these parts.

There is little sympathy for Fearman in Bentonville because it is felt he was party to a conspiracy to defraud the insurance company and was caught in his own trap.

On the other hand, Prosecuting Attorney Combs, Judge Blannett and Sheriff Fields realize they have got hold of something big with which they intend to deal swiftly.

No attempt was made by any official to question Dr. Bass at length after his arrest concerning his movements before the crime or his dealings with the murdered man in the land deal.

"We did not question him because we are busy with a grand jury," said the Sheriff, "and besides he has a lawyer to do his talking for him."

The Sheriff did allow newspapermen to question Dr. Bass in his cell, but limited such interviews and terminated them when the doctor referred all inquiries to his attorney.

$65,000 Valuation on T. & F. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 4.—A final valuation of $65,000 for owned and used property as of June 30, 1918, was placed upon the Texas & Pacific Railway today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Owned but not used property of the road was valued at $2,156,938.

Raskob said he didn't know where the charts came from but he said the association "is making an honest effort to ascertain the facts and is reducing these facts to charts."

Under persistent inquiry by Walsh Raskob said he had never been interested in the manufacture of liquor and so far as he knew none of those connected with the association were interested now or in the past in the manufacture of liquor.

Replying again to Walsh, the witness said that the interest of the association was in the election of judges, and that he had never been interested in the manufacture of liquor.

Raskob identified W. W. Atterbury, Republican National Committeeman for Pennsylvania, and Charles W. Sabin, the husband of the Republican National Committeewoman from New York, as directors of the Association Against Prohibition.

Does Not Speak for Party. Raskob said he was careful not to mix his personal beliefs on prohibition in the affairs of the Democratic National Committee.

"I have no right to commit the Democratic party on either side of the prohibition question," he asserted, adding: "My opinion is that no one can commit the Democratic party on this question except the national convention. I shall not try to influence any democratic member on this question."

Robinson then took up the questioning. "When was the association organized?" "I don't know."

"You were a contributor; why don't you know?" "Well, I don't. Do you favor repeal or modification of prohibition?" "I do, or at least modification."

Meetings in New York. The Indiana Senator then clashed with Raskob over the location of the headquarters of the association. Raskob insisted the main offices were in New York and Robinson contended that literature of the association named Washington as headquarters. The subject was dropped after Raskob said he met as a director with other directors of the association in New York.

Caraway and Robinson engaged in a brief tilt after Robinson questioned Raskob about a recent statement attributed to Senator Harrison, that Raskob was no longer an officer of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. Raskob explained he was a vice president of the company, but said the position was largely honorary. Caraway asked Robinson what Senator Harrison's statement had to do with the inquiry.

"It will have a great deal to do with it," Robinson retorted. "Then we'll get Harrison before the committee," countered Caraway.

Caraway-Robinson Clash. "Some of them we can't get," Robinson shot back, referring to Senator King (Dem.). Utah, who is in Europe. "Yes, and he went there with your consent," Caraway said.

"I didn't know anything about him going," Robinson insisted. "Then George Moses (Republican Senator from New Hampshire) is utterly unreliable," Caraway retorted, adding: "He told me you did."

King, who has been ill for several months, went to Europe for his health. It was testified before the committee that H. A. Metz of New York, chemical importer, had contributed $1000 in 1922 and $1000 in 1923 to the Senator's campaign fund.

King has denied knowledge of the 1922 contribution and said the 1923 fund was not used.

Raskob denied that the association was a lobbying organization. "Of course, I don't know the correct definition of lobbying," he added.

Robinson read from association literature that "the fundamental purpose of the association is to take the eighteenth amendment out of the Constitution."

Continued From Page One. "That's right," said Raskob. "That's what I wanted to know." Raskob said his contribution of $65,000 to the association in 1925 was made prior to his becoming chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Walsh breaks in at this point and inquired that Senator Robinson permit the witness to answer questions. "I am the judge of whether he answers," shot back Robinson. "Well, let him answer," returned Walsh.

Raskob denied the accuracy of an interview published in the Philadelphia Public Ledger during the last presidential campaign in which he was quoted as saying he wanted "to get rid of this damnable affliction of prohibition."

Another tilt took place between Robinson and Walsh when the Indiana asked Raskob: "Did you think in accepting the position of Democratic chairman that you could serve the cause of repealing the prohibition amendment?"

"That question is wholly irrelevant," Walsh put in.

Robinson insisted that the question be answered and Walsh retorted: "I don't like to see this inquiry into lobbying diverted into wholly irrelevant questions."

No Senator Robinson retorted: "This inquiry has never been directed into political questions."

Robinson Finally Withdraws. Walsh again said the question of Raskob's motive in accepting the position of Democratic chairman had not part in the hearing. Finally Robinson withdrew the question.

As questioning continued, F. Scott McBride, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, stood with the crowd near the back door.

Raskob said he did not know about the expenditures of the association.

Robinson asked him about plans of the association, but the witness again said he did not know about them.

"As a prudent business man you wouldn't spend $65,000 on something you didn't know anything about, would you?" persisted Robinson. "No."

Raskob's Answers Abrupt. "What did you spend this money for?" "For the purposes to which I have testified," Raskob answered.

Raskob smiled, as laughter broke out in the crowd at his abrupt answers to Robinson, who asked "Is this a loud voice?"

Robinson asked Raskob if he had any money spent by the association last year.

"I don't know," the witness replied.

"Would it surprise you to learn $468,000 was spent last year?" Robinson continued. "I have no knowledge of it," Raskob answered evenly.

The Indiana Senator asked Raskob if he intended to quit after reading his editorial in a newspaper published by Josephus Daniels, former Navy Secretary, in which Raskob was condemned for serving as a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment while Democratic chairman. Walsh broke in and shouted to Raskob not to answer the question. Robinson retorted that the same sort of question was asked Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National Committee, while he was being questioned by the committee on his Muscle Shoals activities.

Caraway denied that Huston had been asked by the committee if he intended to resign. The excitement died away as Robinson went to another subject. Raskob sat calmly by while the two Democratic Senators clashed with the Republican.

Raskob sat calmly by as Caraway and Walsh fought with Robinson. All three Senators were talking at the same time during part of the exchange.

Finally, Raskob said, "I don't believe, Senator Robinson, that you want to understand by answers."

"I have tried to make it clear how I have spent this money," he added. "I am willing to contribute the money I have to be spent by these men. I have confidence in them. Naturally, any executive would leave the matters of details to the officers of the company."

Activities Not Interwined. Raskob then again denied that his activities as Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and as a director of the Association against the eighteenth amendment were interwined.

"I asked that, because this serious charge has been made by a leader of the party, Josephus Daniels," said Robinson. Caraway said, "Don't answer that."

The hearing was interrupted by the arrival of William Tyler Page, clerk of the House, with the reports filed by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment of its receipts and expenditures.

In answer to a question by Robinson, Raskob said he had spoken to no one about the rayon schedule in the tariff bill.

"Are you familiar with reports that you organized a lobby on the rayon schedule?" inquired Robinson. "Never heard of it," Raskob replied.

A Lobby on Rayon Tariff. Raskob said the duPont Corporation had a rayon subsidiary company. He said he had no stock in these companies.

Robinson read a letter signed "Gertrude M. Duncan," calling attention to reports of a rayon lobby, with which prominent Democrats were reported to be connected. The letter mentioned Joseph Tumulty, Lieutenant Governor Lehman of New York and Congressman Celler of New York. Raskob reiterated that he had never heard of the lobby.

Caraway asked Robinson if he wished to inquire into the rayon lobby. "I believe we should," replied the Indiana Senator. Raskob was then dismissed as a witness.

Chairman Caraway announced that William H. Stanyon of Washington was reported to be one of the directors of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment would be called for questioning by the committee.

Caraway also announced that Henry H. Curran, president of the committee, was expected to testify either Tuesday or Wednesday. He will be asked to produce records of the organization.

After the committee session, newspapermen asked Raskob if he had any money spent by the association last year. He replied that he had none. He asserted he had no intention of resigning.

Robinson announced he would ask that Daniels be called before the committee Tuesday to discuss the editorial, condemning Raskob.

WASHINGTON U. EXHIBIT OF STUDENT ART WORK

Paintings, Sculpture and Other Specimens at City Museum Tomorrow.

The exhibition, the ninth of its sort, will remain on view throughout April.

Edmund H. Wuerpel, director of the school, ranks the exhibit as superior to those of other years. The large space occupied by the paintings in the Carnegie exhibition now at the museum made it necessary to curtail the student exhibition so that only the better examples of their work are shown. The exhibit is placed in one gallery and a portion of the west corridor. In other years two more galleries were available.

Included are about 50 oil paintings, several cases of small sculptures, a number of busts and figures in plaster, fashion drawings and magazine illustrations, commercial art work, designs and plans drawn by students in the interior decoration department, textiles, batiks, jewelry and tooled leather.

Interest centers on the oil paintings which include a number of portraits and still life pictures by advanced students. Mrs. Stella Eason's still-life showing a vase and ash tray before a purple drape and one by George Meyer, showing a table top on which there is a wine bottle, part of a loaf of rye bread and some pickled fish, were pointed out by Wuerpel as particularly finished examples. The most striking portrait is a picture of an East Indian by Virginia Woodman.

An interesting series in the magazine illustration group shows how variously the imaginations of the students were stimulated although starting from the same idea. A model dressed as an army officer posed in a three-quarter portrait with a drawn revolver at his hip. Filling in the picture one student placed him in a Latin Ameri-

CHAIN GANG TERM FOR ATLANTA BROKER

He Was Convicted of Defrauding City—Business Associate of Councilman.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 4. — Jack White, broker and business associate of Councilman Harry York, yesterday was convicted on all four counts of an indictment charging him with defrauding the city and sentenced to serve three years on the chain gang and to pay fines aggregating $3500.

State witnesses testified White had boasted he had the city business "tied up," that they had paid him commissions running as high as 50 per cent on goods sold to the city, and that they had paid him various amounts for "using his influence" to put business deals through the City Council.

He was the second trial and second conviction growing out of the activities of grand juries which after many weeks spent investigating charges of municipal graft indicted 24 persons, including several city officers. York recently was convicted of bribery and sentenced to serve three years and pay several fines.

can barroom, the revolver pointed at a swarthy native, and off to the side the receding figure of a young woman. Another pictured the scene as an English drawing room, and has a goaty old man staring into the revolver. A third shows nothing but the officer standing in a doorway, commanding the room before him.

In the commercial art group there is a prize winning series of posters drawn by D. C. Nicholson. They illustrate the use of colors in literature advertising vacation resorts.

Pictures of a Spanish breakfast room, an English dining room and several colonial living rooms are contributed by the interior decoration classes.

A number of charcoal portraits and pictures of antique sculpture are shown by students in the drawing classes.

LILA JIMERSON TO GET TERM OF 1 TO 20 YEARS

Mandatory on Her Plea of Culprity in Murder of Artist's Wife.

By the Associated Press.
BUFFALO, N. Y., April 4.—Lila Jimerson, 25-year-old Seneca Indian, victim of tuberculosis, on a sick bed in the Buffalo City Hospital, faces a prison term of 10 years to life which became mandatory when she pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of murder, second degree.

In contrast to the earlier scenes of her trial for murder in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Clothilde Marchand, wife of Henri Marchand, artist and sculptor, the final act of the drama took place in the auditorium of the hospital, before a handful of spectators, most of them newspaper reporters.

From her bed, wheeled into the auditorium, the Indian woman needed assistance to questions put to her by Judge P. Bret Thorn, and thereby entered her plea of guilty. Not once did she speak. Her plea accepted, she was taken back to her room. After her release from the hospital she will be formally sentenced to prison.

Marchand, husband of the murdered woman, who took the witness stand and admitted intimacy with the Indian woman "for professional reasons" only, today was released from the jail where he had been detained since the start of the trial as a material witness.

Prosecutor Moore will decide soon what to do with Nancy Brown, 65-year-old Cayuga Indian woman, jointly indicted with Miss Jimerson. Nancy killed Mrs. Marchand with a hammer and with chloroform, believing her to be a witch, she said.

Marchand, it is learned, has severed his association with the Buffalo Society of Natural Science. His resignation was mailed from the jail last night, and Chauncey J. Hamlin, president of the society, said today that it would be accepted immediately.

BILL MEANT TO SPEED CONDEMNATIONS DIES

It Will Be Re-Submitted at Next Session of Board of Aldermen.

Proposed ordinances for submission of charter amendments on condemnation methods, for use of the Municipal Bridge by the Terminal Railway Association, and freeing the vehicular deck of Eads Bridge from tolls, were among those which died today with the adjournment of the 1929-30 aldermanic session.

City Counselor Muench recommended that the bill to expedite condemnation proceedings, prepared at the request of the City Improvement Association, organization of downtown real estate dealers, be redrafted after conferences with city officials, Circuit Judges and business men, and introduced at the next session which will convene April 15.

The bill would submit the charter amendment at the primary election Aug. 5, if possible, or at the November election. It provides that notice of condemnation proceedings be given by publication instead of personal service and that trial in open court before six commissioners to adjust benefits and damages take the place of a hearing by three commissioners.

The Legislative Committee voted yesterday to report favorably today a bill to require an annual license of $400 for taxicab companies, also providing that they could operate only after obtaining a certificate of convenience and necessity from the Board of Public Service.

A measure limiting the load of trucks to 25 per cent more than their advertised rated capacity and carrying an appropriation of $9000 for employment of four inspectors and purchase of equipment, was reported favorably. The bill was advocated by Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks to prevent damage to streets. The owner of a truck would pay $1 for a rating certificate. There are about 50,000 trucks in St. Louis.

Alderman Waldman's pay-rolling bill and an ordinance prohibiting the parking of automobiles in any alley, died in committee.

RYCKOFF DEMURRER TO CRIMINAL CHARGE

Form of Charge Involving Contractor, Pritchard and Heath Is Attacked.

The demurrer of the defense in the case of A. M. Ryckhoff, Chicago contractor, John C. Pritchard, former Director of Public Utilities, and George B. Heath, former chief electrical engineer of the Utilities Department, charged in an information with obtaining $157,064.66 from the city by false pretenses in the execution of Ryckhoff's lighting installation contract, was filed with Judge Hamilton today.

The demurrer was filed by Daniel Bartlett and William Baer, counsel for Ryckhoff, and Patrick H. Cullen, for the two other defendants. It sets forth 25 allegations of insufficiency, indefiniteness and uncertainty against the information, and declares that because of this condition, the defendants cannot properly prepare their defense.

The information now pending replaced an indictment previously voted. The indictment was voted after the Post-Dispatch had shown, by a private engineer's investigation, that the city was heavily overcharged on the lighting contract in the item of paving and sidewalk replacement. The city conducted a thorough survey, through the firm of Pitzman's Co. of Surveyors and Engineers, and ascertained the amount of the overcharge on all items, whereupon the information was issued, setting forth the figures as ascertained by the survey.

Several of the 25 points of objection in the defense's demurrer are based upon the mention, made in the information, of the compromise settlement made by the city with Ryckhoff on the item of cable. When a balance of $49,726.44 was still claimed by Ryckhoff, the information shows. Comptroller Nolte objected to the item of cable, and as a compromise, $18,950.58 was cut from the balance, reducing the amount received by Ryckhoff to $30,775.86. The defense lawyers declare that mention of this matter in the information is highly prejudicial to their clients, as making it appear that Ryckhoff was willing to accept less than he had at first claimed, and as indicating that the city did not rely on his figures; also that this part of the allegation does not bear on the other defendants, Pritchard and Heath.

On the other hand, the demurrer alleges, Pritchard and Heath are charged with acts of official corruption, and there is no such charge against Ryckhoff, who was not in official position. This is held to be an improper inclusion of separate offenses in the same count of the information.

Several sections of the demurrer relate to alleged insufficiency of the information, in not setting forth the ordinance under which the lighting contracts for Districts B, C and D were let, or the boundaries of those districts; and in not showing the duties prescribed by the Charter and ordinances for the two city officials. Another allegation is that the statute of limitations bars the entire proceeding; no dates are set forth in this allegation.

The defense alleges that there is no averment in the information showing what sums the city was legally bound to pay to the contractor. It alleges also that the city does not show the locations, in the districts covered by the contracts, at which overcharges were made on the contract. It is charged also that the information does not differentiate between acts alleged to have been fraudulent, and those alleged to have been merely negligent.

More Younger Workers Injured.
By the Associated Press.
MADISON, Wis.—Older workers have fewer accidents than young workers in Wisconsin, statistics compiled by the Wisconsin Industrial Commission show. Between the ages of 25 and 44, death cases were 90.6 per cent of a total of 197.2. Workers between 45 and 64 years of age contributed only 61.7 per cent of the total. Permanent disability cases showed $25.5 for the young group and $22.9 for the older group.

TWO KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

By the Associated Press.
DANVILLE, Va., April 4.—Robert B. Perdue and Fleming Wright, both of Danville, were killed yesterday when their monoplane crashed from an altitude of about 300 feet above Municipal Airport. Perdue was killed instantly and Wright died while being brought to the city in an ambulance.

Perdue, a recent graduate of an Oklahoma flying school, was piloting the plane in which the two young men had been riding for about an hour. Eyewitnesses said that the plane went into a tailspin while circling for a landing.

BROTHERS GIVE $60,000 FOR HEARING RESEARCH

Money to Be Expended in Otology Section of Oscar Johnson Institute.

A $60,000 gift for research in the physics of hearing and for the engagement of "the outstanding man in this field of research" to conduct it in Oscar Johnson Institute of Research and Teaching in ophthalmology and otolaryngology were announced this afternoon by Dr. W. McKim Marriott, dean of Washington University School of Medicine.

The fund was donated by two brothers, E. Arthur and Frank E. Ball, manufacturers, of Muncie, Ind. The gift was made through Dr. Lee Wallace Dean, head of the medical school department of otolaryngology, and will be expended under Dr. Dean's direction.

It will make possible the full utilization of special research rooms for the study of hearing and a shop for making special apparatus, which are being built in the Oscar Johnson Institute at Kingshighway and Euclid avenue. The first practical application of the results will be in McMillan Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Hospital, which will occupy separate floors of the same building, and in Barnes and St. Louis Children's Hospitals.

To Carry on Dr. Shapleigh's Work. With this gift the work of Dr. John Bladell Shapleigh, professor of otology (diseases of the ear) until his retirement in 1922, can be continued. When he organized the department in 1885, he established one of the first otological clinics in the world. He was a student under the founder of that branch of medicine, Dr. Gruber of Vienna, and was presented with a bronze medallion of Dr. Gruber which will be preserved in Oscar Johnson Institute. In recognition of services and attainments, the main otological ward of McMillan Hospital has been named the "John Bladell Shapleigh Ward." Dr. Shapleigh's successor as head of the medical school department, Dr. Dean, received his training in Vienna 11 years after Dr. Shapleigh. To head the division of physics of otology to be established through the gift of the Ball brothers, Dr. Dean has engaged Dr. C. C. Bunch, associate professor of research otology in Johns Hopkins, to assume his duties here on July 1.

Invented Audiometer. Dr. Bunch is the inventor of the audiometer, the first instrument for actual measurement of the ability to hear. While he was designing the instrument and for seven years afterward he was associated with Dr. Dean in the department of otolaryngology of the University of Iowa.

"Before this instrument was invented," explained Dr. Marriott, describing Dr. Bunch as "the outstanding man" in research physics of hearing, "the voices, the whisper and the watch were used to determine the power of hearing, and these tests were very inaccurate. The audiometer put the measurement of hearing on a practical and scientific basis."

DEAD MAN'S VOTE QUESTIONED

By the Associated Press
LANSING, Mich., April 4.—Attorney General Wilbur M. Brucker has been asked to decide whether a dead man may vote.

A resident of Owosso, Mich., ill in a hospital, sent for an absent voters' ballot, marked it and mailed it in. He died later. A close race in election of supervisors Monday is expected, and the County Clerk said one vote might make a difference. Brucker reserved his decision.

JUDGE ASSETS PLAYGROUNDS REDUCE JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

Hartmann Says Cost of One Reform School Prisoner Will Give Play Facilities to 10 Children.

Playgrounds were declared to be an important factor in reducing juvenile crime by Circuit Judge Hartmann, yesterday in an address to the Women's Chamber of Commerce at the American Apnea Hotel.

"It requires $450 to keep one juvenile delinquent in a reform school one year and that amount will provide adequate playground facilities for 10 children," Judge

Hartmann said. "A survey has indicated that one playground will reduce delinquency in a given neighborhood 50 per cent."

DEATH OF DIPLOMAT UNDER INVESTIGATION

BASIL MILES.

NO MAJOR CLEWS IN INQUIRY INTO DIPLOMAT MILES' DEATH

Body Not Likely to Be Exhumed Unless Further Evidence Is Produced.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 4.—The Washington Post says the inquiry of the Department of Justice into the death two years ago of Basil Miles has elicited only the information that he was to have left the hospital on the day after that on which he died, and that his appearance, had he died of prussic acid poisoning, would have been the same as if caused by pulmonary embolism.

Miles, a diplomat and economist, died June 14, 1928, and at that time his death was attributed to pulmonary embolism, or a blood clot on the lung.

The Post adds that unless stronger evidence is produced, or Mrs. H. H. Rogers, wife of the Standard Oil millionaire, requests, the body will not be exhumed. Mrs. Rogers, the widow of Miles, was said to have been the only person with him at the time he died.

Among those questioned thus far are Dr. John H. Lyon, who was attending Miles in the illness which preceded his death, and Mrs. M. G. Nash, his nurse, but no new information was disclosed.

Other witnesses in various parts of the country are still to be questioned.

SUSPECT FREED ON BOND IN HOFFMAN KIDNAPING

John Pepe Released on $25,000 Bond on Order of the Court of Appeals.

John Pepe, alleged member of the "Gas House gang," charged with the kidnaping of Jacob Hoffman, St. Louis bookmaker, Feb. 16, was released on $25,000 bond late yesterday, after the St. Louis Court of Appeals had ordered him admitted to bail under habeas corpus proceedings brought by his lawyer, former Circuit Attorney Howard Stidner.

Hoffman was rescued by police from a county resort before any ransom was paid. Joseph Sinovich, owner of the place, and Pepe and Claude Gillman, who were guarding Hoffman there, were charged with kidnaping. At a recent preliminary hearing, Sinovich was released on $25,000 bond, but the others were ordered held in Clayton jail without bond.

The Court of Appeals granted bail to both Pepe and Gillman. Pepe's bond was signed by Pasquale Fiorita, movie theater owner, and his wife, and is returnable May 5. Gillman is trying to arrange bond.

The county grand jury is investigating the kidnaping.

YOUTHS ARRESTED AT BRIDGE ADMIT SIX AUTO THEFTS

Car They Stole March 19 Found Near St. Peter's, Mo.; Two Others Wrecked.

City detectives detailed to Eads Bridge questioned and searched two youths who were idling there yesterday. The youths were found to possess duplicate automobile keys, which they could not explain. Taken to the Carr Street Police Station, they admitted six automobile thefts.

The prisoners said they were Charles Suedkamp, 19 years old, and Eugene Terry, 20, both living at the Garfield Hotel, 523 Chestnut street. Terry confessed two thefts and Suedkamp admitted four. Police reported, implicating as his accomplice in two thefts Joseph Cody, recently committed to Booneville Reformatory.

The automobile of John C. Schneider, 3614 Maple avenue, stolen from Ninth and Pine streets, March 19, was recovered yesterday near St. Peter's, Mo., where the prisoners said they abandoned it when it ran out of gasoline on the way to Kansas City. Another car was wrecked when it went into a ditch beside the Florissant road, and a third went into a ditch near Poochontas, Ark.

NO INTENTION TO TIGHTEN MEDICINAL LIQUOR RULES

Senator Copeland, After Protests From Doctors, Confers With Commissioner Doran.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 4.—Dr. Royal S. Copeland (Dem.), Senator from New York, received official assurance yesterday that there would be no movement for tightening restrictions on the use of medicinal liquor by doctors and hospitals.

Following protests from doctors, Copeland conferred with Prohibition Administrator Doran.

It is understood at the Capitol that a proposal to restrict further the use of liquor by doctors and by hospitals in their practice was put up to Doran, and that it is now in the hands of high officials of the Department of Justice.

"I am satisfied," Copeland added, "there is no intention at present to tighten the regulations."

Hunters Shot 300,000 Game Birds. BALTIMORE, Md., April 4.—Sportsmen of New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore shot most of the 300,000 wild ducks and geese killed in the last hunting season on Chesapeake Bay and tributary waters in Maryland, gun clubs have reported to the State Game Warden. In the reports of 23 principal clubs, a low percentage of the total pooling, the birds killed between Nov. 1 and Jan. 31, totaled 34,551 ducks and 401 geese.

CRITICISES METHOD OF FINANCING CIVIL COURTHOUSE COSTS

Grand Jury Reports Use of $600,000 in Excess of Bond Issue Should Have Been Referred to Voters.

THINKS CITY HAS RECEIVED FULL VALUE

Points Out That in Erection of $4,000,000 Structure No Contract Frauds Developed.

The February grand jury, in its report to Judge Calhoun today, told of its inquiry into the cost of the new Civil Courthouse on Memorial Plaza, which has exceeded the $4,000,000 bond issue provision by nearly $600,000, and will require an additional $400,000 to $500,000 for completion. Its conclusion was:

The grand jurors (a few of us dissenting) are of the belief that sound business policy in the expenditure of public funds required that the Civil Courts Building should have been so planned and erected that its total cost, ready for occupancy, with due regard to future expansion and growth of the courts, should not have exceeded the amount voted for that purpose by the citizens at the bond issue election, namely, the sum of $4,000,000, without first obtaining the consent of the citizens. In view of the fact that all sums in excess of the original bond issue appropriation have been taken for this purpose from the general revenue funds of the city, which could only be reimbursed by a new bond issue to cover the extra cost, and (in view of the further fact that no such additional bond issue has been authorized or voted by the citizens.)

Judge Calhoun, in his charge to the grand jury Feb. 2, mentioned the Plaza Commission, Inc., a group of St. Louis architects and engineers, and the Board of Public Service, an advisory body, as being chiefly responsible for changes in Courthouse space assignments, which, he said, "placed an additional burden on the taxpayers." He suggested to the grand jurors that increased cost of construction and fixtures would also increase the Plaza Commission's fee. He said further that "Lack of utility and efficiency in the design, it is claimed, has made the cost of construction highly excessive for the results obtained."

The grand jury states in its report that it spent four full sessions in hearing testimony, and spent one afternoon in a top-to-bottom inspection of the building, accompanied by Judge Calhoun, President Kinney of the Board of Public Service, Circuit Attorney Miller and Joseph A. Lennon, Assistant Circuit Attorney in charge of the grand jury.

It is its report it makes no further mention of the Board of Public Service, does not mention the Plaza Commission at all, and states its belief that "upon a basis of legitimate construction costs at the time when the various stages of the work have progressed, the city has received full value for such expenditures."

"Assuming that present plans for its final completion will be carried through without further change," the grand jury says, "It is a magnificent structure of its class in the city, and its appearance, as a civic monument of which the citizens of St. Louis may well be proud. Its interior construction and arrangements are satisfactorily designed for the purposes of a courthouse in a city such as ours; the assignment and apportionment of space for the several divisions of the Circuit Court, for the Court of Appeals, for the Probate Court, for the Law Library, as well as for the offices of the Sheriff and Circuit Clerk, and their various departments, are adequate for the purposes for which they are to be used, and are fairly and equitably apportioned for present needs, having due regard for future expansion and development with the normal growth of the city and its legal business."

Although this building has cost to date, and will cost when finally completed, a very large sum of money, we did not find any evidence that any part of that sum has been dishonestly expended or contracted, and we find that upon a basis of legitimate construction costs, at the time when the various stages of the work have progressed, the city has received full value for such expenditures."

The report then reviews the "long and serious delays" in erection and completion of the building, authorized at the bond issue election held seven years ago, but not yet ready for occupancy. It could be occupied within 30 to 40 days, the report states, but to avoid interruption to court business, will not be occupied until July 1 of later.

The delay occasioned by the controversy over selection of a site is mentioned by the grand jury as unavoidable. (The site was determined at election of November 1923.) Delays since then have been due,

Reviews Long Delays.
The report then reviews the long and serious delays in erecting and completion of the building authorized at the bond issue election held seven years ago, but not yet ready for occupancy. It would be occupied within 20 to 30 days, the report states, but to the interruption to court business, but not be occupied until 1 or 2 years later.
The delay occasioned by the controversy over selection of a site is mentioned by the grand jury as having been determined at the election of November, 1924, and since then have been due,

the grand jury says, to two main causes:
"First, the plans and specifications for the building have been radically changed from time to time by the authorities in charge of its erection, new plans being submitted by the architects, necessarily involving discussion, criticism and approval or disapproval by various bodies and committees representing the several public interests involved."
"Second, the delays just mentioned have been largely, if not wholly, occasioned by necessary modification of the financial set-up of the building, due to the fact that the original bond issue amount was found to be insufficient to complete the building as originally intended, and as modified by the change of plans. We do not find there has been any considerable avoidable delay on the part of the contractors or others who have actually done the work."

Entire $4,000,000 for Building.
The grand jury mentions the fact that the $4,000,000 bond issue was for building and site, but that selection of a city-owned site made it possible to devote the entire amount to the building. "As a result of the elaboration of the plans by the architects in charge, and with the approval of the public officers charged with the expenditure of the money, it was found, after construction had been started, that this sum would not be sufficient to erect a Civil Courts Building of the size, type, finish and arrangements deemed necessary."

"As the work progressed and the plans were changed, this additional sum grew into a very large amount. The ultimate cost figures for the building are:
Expenditures, actually made under all contracts down to March 24, 1929, $4,118,344.51.
Estimated cost to complete building under existing contracts now unfulfilled, $50,010.43.
Lowest estimated cost of granite steps and accessories for east and west main entrances, $72,000.
Total, $4,570,357.94, or nearly $600,000 in excess of bond issue item."

Three Floors Unfinished.
"This last figure covers total cost of the building, including courtroom furniture, but not general office furniture, on basis of leaving floors 8, 9 and 10, with their mezzanines, unfinished for occupancy, these floors being designed for future use by additional

Circuit Court divisions; and also leaves unfinished certain space originally intended for the use of the Recorder of Deeds, whose offices are now left in their present location in the City Hall, this unfinished space being on the north side of the second and third floors.
"The estimated cost of completing and furnishing this reserved space for the additional courtrooms and their appurtenant offices, and of the space originally intended for the Recorder of Deeds is variously estimated at $400,000 to $800,000."

The building, as it stands, the grand jury states, has quarters for 15 of the 19 civil divisions of the Circuit Court, so that "the two Courts of Domestic Relations must stay in the Municipal Courts Building. It is proposed, the report states, when funds are available, to complete one of the three unfinished floors, for the use of these two divisions and the next two divisions which may be added to the Circuit Court.

The excess cost of nearly $600,000, mentioned in the report, was appropriated from municipal revenue by the Board of Aldermen, on recommendation of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, it is to be repaid from a bond issue, if one is voted for the purpose of Courthouse completion."

W. G. Drexler, Jeweler, at 713 Hawthorne boulevard, was for a man of the grand jury.

A Short Story of The Longer Topcoats for Spring $25 - $30

Depend on the always well-groomed Britisher to add a final jaunty swing to our trim topcoat lines. Two inches has he added, that's all! But those two inches, plus a touch of masterful designing, have worked wonders. They give a "going places and doing things" dash to our new topcoats. They create softly draped, longer lines that flatter men of average height; and that adds to the stature of shorter men. And they comfortably cover the knees of six footers. The original patterns for these Topcoats came to us from London. We developed them in a rare selection of imported Irish Tweeds; and in debonair homebred mixtures. And we present them, in the usual Bond manner, at the two extremely moderate prices featured above.

AND The Smartest Suits to wear under them $25 $35 $45 with two trousers

"Corded worsteds and tweeds stand first" cables our ever observant Stylist in London. That was four weeks ago. And today, Corded worsteds and tweeds stand first at Bond's. Royal Camerons (copied from a sturdy Scotch weave), beautifully loomed MacLarens, and silky Bolton worsteds—with roughish tweeds from Orkney. And, because color contrast is such an important style note this season, these new arrivals are ideal companions for your new Topcoat. The subdued Sabre Grays and Grenade Blues go perfectly with a light gray coat. And Saddle Brown is just the shade to wear under one of our good-looking creamy tans.

Usually, prices are not emphasized in presenting such distinguished new fashions. But Bond's great 26-store volume has been built on a different policy. So, although these new suits are rather exclusive—the prices are decidedly not!

$250,000 DOG SHOW OPENS AT THE ARENA

800 Blueblooded Animals on Display but Mongrel Gets Special Attention.

Foxhounds bayed, Great Danes growled, Toy Black and Tans yapped in excitement and Pekingese, aloof on their silken pillows, turned up their noses at the vulgar conduct of the other animals as the doors of The Arena, 3700 Oakland avenue, opened this morning for St. Louis' eighteenth annual dog show.

With more than $200,000 of dogdom's bluebloods, valued at more than $250,000, entered in the show, interest is expected to center largely on a mongrel whose pedigree starts where those of the others end. Babe, a cross between a poodle dog and a collie, crashed the gates by his heroism recently in saving the life of a 5-year-old boy who fell into the River des Peres.

Facing the judges this afternoon were Dachshunds, Foxhounds, Chesapeake Bay dogs, Flatcoats, Samoyeds and French bulldogs. Tonight prize winners in other breeds, Great Danes, Griffons, English Toy Spaniels, Pugs and Black and Tan Terriers will be selected.

Police Dog Demonstration.
Lambert Kreimer, billed as Germany's foremost dog trainer, will repeat his afternoon demonstration tonight, showing how police dogs are trained for police work and for the milder life of leading the blind. Kreimer, a former bodyguard of the Kaiser, and once Superintendent of the Government-operated dog training schools at Oldenburg, Munich and Berlin, was brought to this country last year by a Minneapolis dog fancier. His exhibitions will be daily features of the show.

New honors for Babe are scheduled for tomorrow night. Gerald B. O'Reilly, president of the Humane Society, will present its owner with a loving cup and on Sunday night the Mississippi Kennel Club will confer a medal for heroism on the dog. It has already received one from the Humane Society.

Hours of Judging.
The show committee of the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club has decided that dogs entered in the puppy class need be taken to the show only on the day on which they are to be judged, but must remain there until 10 o'clock that night. For the first two days of the show judging will be at 2 and 8 p. m., but on Sunday, the final day, there will be an additional judging period at 11 a. m. Cash prizes, trophies and ribbons are to be distributed among winners.

The judges will be Otto Gross, Philadelphia, Pa.; L. A. Decker, La. Porte, Ind.; William Schwin, Geneseo, N. Y.; John W. Burton, Chicago; Alfred Leping, Kensington, O.; W. T. Hauser, Hope, Ind.; and Joseph C. Quirk, Greenwich, Conn. Judges in the police dog contests will be J. E. Holman Jr., R. L. Goldsmith and Max Pfabe, St. Louis.

Of the 43 breeds entered, shepherds are the most numerous, with 140 specimens. Other breeds of which more than 50 dogs are entered are wire-haired fox terriers, pointers, Boston terriers, collies, English setters and bulldogs.

EXPLOSION THAT KILLED TEN REPORTED FELT FOR 30 MILES

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—Ten persons lost their lives and more than 30 were injured yesterday when a series of explosions virtually wiped out the plant of the Pennsylvania Fireworks Display Co., Inc., at Devon, 16 miles west of Philadelphia.

Most of the dead were employees of the plant which was comprised of ten small buildings on a seven-acre tract near the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Although hospitals reported treating only 20 injured persons, many more were treated on the scene by emergency ambulances dispatched with physicians. Many others in the 200 homes in surrounding territory, which State police reported were damaged, were treated by family physicians or administered first aid treatment themselves.

The shock of the explosion was felt over a wide area, reports having been received that the heavier explosions were felt 10 miles away.

Heavy damage was done to houses nearby occupied by workers.

STEALS $390 CHURCH FUNDS FROM HIS WIFE; IS PAROLED

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 4.—G. C. Graham, who confessed he stole $390 of church funds is custody of his wife, treasurer of a Sunday school class of the University United Brethren Church, was sentenced yesterday by Wandotte County District Court to serve one to five years in Kansas Penitentiary at Lansing. Then Judge Clyde Glandon paroled Graham to William McMillen, Chief of Police.

Members of the church did not ask for Graham's parole, but the Rev. Stanley Williams, pastor, told Judge Glandon the church was "willing to forgive," and asserted it would be pleasing to himself and his church members if the parole were granted.

Mrs. Graham went to church last Sunday night, leaving the money in a tin can secreted in a clothes closet of her home. Her husband joined her in church later. When they returned home the house was ransacked and the money was gone. Graham, arrested Wednesday, admitted he took the money to pay some debts.

BLASE BORROWED $88,913 FROM PROVIDENT LOAN

Head of Institution, Now in Receivership, Made Loans in Own Name and Those of Several Women.

Arthur P. G. Blase, president of the Provident Loan & Investment Institution, 1009 Locust street, which is in receivership, borrowed $88,913 from the company, and his brother, Oliver Blase, vice president, borrowed $2700, it was testified today at a hearing before Circuit Judge Hogan.

Blase also was president of the Union-Easton Trust Co., 525 Easton avenue, which closed last Saturday, with the Provident firm owing it $100,000.

Judge Hogan appointed Charles H. Dues and John B. Edwards as permanent receivers of the Provi-dent concern. Dues had been acting as temporary receiver since Tuesday.

President Blase's borrowings from the Provident institution were made both in his own name and in the name of others, mostly women, acting for him, Receiver Dues told Judge Hogan. The loans are secured largely by second deeds of trust.

Oliver Blase obtained his loan of $2700 without security 58 days ago and it was paid back by a relative last Saturday.

However, continued Dues, $300 was immediately withdrawn by William A. Koepman, a director in the Provident and Union-Easton companies, who also took out $7000 in deeds of trust from the Provident office.

Koepman got immediate delivery of the money. Koepman had a deposit with the Provident firm, more than $700, and the withdrawals were charged against his account, Dues said, adding that Koepman was permitted to make his withdrawals without notice, although the firm reserved the right to require 30 days' notice from its depositors, and, in fact, had 25 applications to withdraw sums pending at the time Koepman got immediate delivery.

While he was at the office, Koepman also withdrew $300 for a relative who had account there, Dues testified.

Dues disclosed that on the day he took over the business President Blase removed in a tactical lot of papers and documents. Dues conferred with Blase about this later and persuaded him to return the papers. Dues said 79 percent of the papers were personal ones to which Blase had a right.
Dues did not discuss the rest of the papers. However, he said the papers as a whole indicated that most of the firm's business originated with President Blase and that he was personally interested in many of the deals.

Blase's Salary $25 a Month.
As to Vice President Oliver Blase, Dues said he drew $25 a month salary, but devoted little or no time to the business.

Questioned in detail by Edward Foristel, attorney for stockholders who brought about the receivership, Dues testified that the Provi-dent firm had authorized capital stock of $250,000, of which $230, 000 was paid in. President Blase being a large stockholder, that it had deposit claims totaling $55, 000; and that it had $200 cash in the office and $600 to $700 elsewhere.

consisted largely of real estate occupied by Negroes and heavily mortgaged, and of second deeds of trust secured by real estate. Asked what the book value of the assets appeared to be, Dues estimated stockholders would lose $21,000, even if all listed assets pay out dollar for dollar and without counting expenses of the receivership.

Dues added that the firm's books had not aided him much in arriving at definite conclusions.

President Blase was sitting in court, but did not offer to testify.
Through an attorney, Edwin E.
Luedke, the Provident firm filed a general denial of allegations in the stockholders' petition for receivership, but did not oppose the appointments made by Judge Hogan.

EXPLOSIONS IN NEW YORK CRIPPLE 120,000 TELEPHONES

Four Manhole Covers Blown Into Air; Firemen Fight Gas Blaze for Three Hours.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Thousands of business firms were without telephone service today as a result of a series of manhole explosions in Broadway between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth streets.

Repair crews of the New York Telephone Co. toiled throughout the night repairing burned-out cables but expectations were that service would not be restored to all subscribers before tonight. Ho-gar men said 120,000 trunk, subscriber and leased lines were out.
A leaking gas main was thought by police to have caused the explosions which yesterday sent four manhole covers into the air, tore up large sections of paving, injured six persons slightly and routed 5000 persons from office buildings.

Business along Broadway between Twenty-Seventh and Thirti-eighth streets was suspended for three hours while crews fought the fire and sought to find the gas leak.

EMPEROR OF ABYSSINIA DIES; NEPHEW RULES

She Succeeded Another Nephew
Dethroned in 1916; Claimed Descent From Solomon.

By the Associated Press.
—ADDIS ABABA, Abyssinia, April 4.—This ancient empire today planned its most impressive honors for Zauditu, its Empress and ruler, who died Wednesday at the age of 64. Zauditu, whose name means Judith, was descendant of a line which traced its ancestors to King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

Her death leaves Ras Tafari, her nephew, and Negus (King) since 1928, in supreme control of the country. He has transferred his following to the Imperial Guebbi, or palace, which he has occupied with troops. Both the capital and the country are tranquil.

Zauditu was the daughter of the Emperor Menelik II, who died in 1913. She succeeded her nephew, Lij Yassu, who was dethroned in 1916. On Oct. 7, 1918, the Ras Tafari was made co-sovereign, and crowned "King of Kings of Ethiopia, the conquering line of Judah and elect of God."

Coronation of the Ras was proclaimed in the 70 languages of Abyssinia. The occasion was one of considerable festivities. In a feast which lasted seven days, the entire Abyssinian army and nearly every able-bodied male in the capital were fed.

The Abyssinian empire, or Ethiopia, includes four kingdoms, with a population of 10,000,000. Great Britain, France and Italy have guaranteed integrity of its territory. Both Great Britain and Italy have recognized spheres of influence under an agreement signed in 1906.

SAYS NEW YORK HAS SECEDED

New York Methodist Urges Action to Enforce Prohibition.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Declaring that New York had virtually seceded from the Union on the question of prohibition, the Rev. James J. Henry, superintendent of the Newburgh district of the Methodist Episcopal Church, last night urged that the church form one great state-wide organization "to go into every Senate and Assembly district and elect men who will put New York's star back in the Union."

The plan was propounded in his annual report, which he read before the New York Conference of the church, attended by more than 300 ministers.

Cosima Wagner Body Cremated.
By the Associated Press.

COBURG, Germany, April 4.—The body of Frau Cosima Wagner, widow of the famous composer, was brought here from Bayreuth yesterday and cremated in the presence of Siegfried Wagner, her son, and his wife. The cremation was accompanied by a rendition of the Passion music from Wagner's opera "Parsifal," played by the chamber music quartet of the Coburg State Opera. As the body was taken into the crematorium, the Pilgrims Chorus from "Tannhauser" was sung. A wealth of floral offerings decorated the coffin, including those sent by former King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, Prince Hohenzollern-Langenburg, and the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha.

POSTOFFICE HEAD FOR HIGHER LETTER RATE

Brown Says Charge Should Be 2-1-2 Cents to Eliminate Deficit.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 4.—Postmaster-General Brown, speaking last night at a meeting of the Bronx Board of Trade, advocated increasing the rate on first-class mail to 2 1/2 cents to eliminate the $50,000,000 deficit in his department.

"The business of the Postoffice Department shows it to be a public utility," he said. "Like any other properly managed public utility, it should conduct its operations without financial loss; that is to say, its rates to the public should be adjusted so as to provide an income sufficient in the aggregate to pay the cost of all of its services."

"The present rate on first-class mail, he said, has been in effect since 1885, except for a brief period during the World War when emergency rates were in force. "Since 1916," he explained, "there has been an increase of 12 per cent in the second-class rate and an average increase of 10 per cent in the parcel post rate. But in a period of greatly increased commodity prices and steadily mounting labor and service costs the Postoffice Department has maintained unchanged for 45 years the selling price of its basic commodity—first-class mail."

"If we take into account the reduced purchasing power of the dollar in the period to which reference is made, the 2-cent postage rate of 1885 is equivalent to 3 1/2 cents at the present time. If we take into account the relative wage to labor generally, the 2-cent rate in 1885 is equivalent to 7 cents at the present time."

"We are getting from three to five times more for our postal dollar in the sending of letters than for any other dollar which we spend."

DISTINCTION FOR DR. ECKENER

Aeronautics Society Makes Him

Honorary Member.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, received yesterday honorary membership in the National Aeronautics Association—the first foreigner to receive this distinction.

Senator Bingham, Connecticut, president of the association, made the presentation.

The only other living honorary members are: Orville Wright, Glenn Curtiss, Thomas A. Edison, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

Dr. Preston Kellogg Dies.

By the Associated Press.

GLENDALE, Cal., April 4.—Dr. Preston Kellogg, 72, brother of W. K. Kellogg, food manufacturer of Battle Creek, Mich., died of heart disease here yesterday. Dr. Kellogg was graduated from the Bellevue Medical School, New York, served in the army medical corps in the Philippines and for many years was connected with a local sanitarium. He is survived by his widow, a daughter and two brothers, the manufacturer, and Dr. J. H. Kellogg of Battle Creek, Mich.

More Trouble in Samoa.
By the Associated Press.
WELLINGTON, New Zealand, April 4.—One chief and 10 of his followers were arrested today at Apia, British Samoa, for wearing the uniform of the illegal native organization called the Mau and for holding unlawful meetings. Two thousand Samoan women in the Mau uniform paraded the waterfront at Apia.

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to Remove It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you remove it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all of your symptoms of dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and remove every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find too all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fully, lustreous, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Woman Declares She Acted in Defense of Her Home.
Associated Press.
DALLAS, Tex., April 4.—Asserting she acted in defense of her home, Mrs. H. E. Evans was held in jail here today, charged with shooting Miss Bernice Burger, 18 years old, as the girl alighted from an automobile in front of her home last night.

In a statement to police, Miss
Burger said she was shot by Mrs.
Evans who found her husband had escorted the girl home. The wife fired after saying, "Bernice, I'm going to kill you," the victim declared.

After wounding the young woman, Mrs. Evans pointed the pistol at her husband, who drove rapidly away. It was said. An hour later the wife surrendered to police. The prisoner is Evans' third wife. She has three children.

PROPRIETOR AND BARTENDER GET SAME SENTENCE, A YEAR
Mike Oldani's Employee Had Worked for a Week; Other Penalties Assessed.

Four men pleaded guilty today of selling liquor in a saloon at 2710 Shreve avenue and were sentenced by Federal Judge Davis to 60 days in jail. They were George and Edward Huck, brothers; William Mathews and Richard Shirley.
Mike Oldani, proprietor of a saloon at Fourth and Walnut streets, was sentenced to a year and a day in the penitentiary and fined $500.
Before Judge Davis passed the sentence he was informed by Assistant District Attorney Hapke that Oldani's bartender, who worked for $3 a week, had pleaded guilty to a liquor charge several months ago and was sentenced to a year and a day in the penitentiary. "We will give the proprietor the same sentence," the judge said.

Others who pleaded guilty and their penalties were: Dan Rajack, $701 Chestnut avenue, six months and $500; Pete Laaky, 2018 (rear) Papin street, three months and $250; Steve Lang, Lettingwell and Bernard avenues, three months and $500; George W. Balmann, Hermann, Mo., three months and $500; Milton Sick, 5800 Delmar boulevard, 60 days and $500; Bill Kovich, 1231 South Broadway, three months and $500.

James Gilmore, Hannibal, Mo., was sentenced to one day in the custody of the Marshal. He said he had just been released after serving 60 days on a State dry law charge and wanted to go to Oklahoma, where a job had been offered to him.

BRITISH COAL MINES BILL SENT TO HOUSE OF LORDS

Motion for Rejection Defeated in Commons by Vote of 277
to 254.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, April 4.—The Government's coal mines bill, which is one of its stages brought the final defeat of the MacDonald Ministry, was sent on to the House of Lords today after passing its third reading in the House of Commons. A motion for rejection was defeated in the lower House by 277 to 254.

The Government's majority compared with a majority of eight on the second reading several weeks ago. The principal body of the Liberal party abstained from voting in accordance with their decision not to embarrass the Government during the naval conference.

Third reading was given the bill last night by a vote of 257 to 254, though the Conservatives led by Stanley Baldwin, in a last minute attack declared their faith in the efficiency of the coal industry and said they refused to believe it was on its last legs.

The bill provides for the fixing of a quota of production of coal for the whole country. This will be divided among the different districts. In each district a board composed of the colliery owners and representatives themselves will decide the allotment for each pit.

There is another section of the bill providing for reduction in hours of miners from eight to seven and a half a day. The bill finally establishes a national wages board to consider questions of wages and hours in the industry.

HIGH SCHOOL INSTRUCTOR'S WIFE GETS DIVORCE DECREE

Court Sets Aside Previous Ruling in Favor of Le Grand Stinson.

The divorce decree granted
March 25 to Le Grand Stinson, language instructor at Beaumont High School, was set aside by Circuit Judge Fitzsimmons today and a divorce on grounds of general indis-cipline was granted to Mrs. Arrie Stinson, 2514 Prairie avenue. Stinson was not in court.

Mrs. Stinson told the court that when she signed an entry of appearance her husband told her it merely was a preliminary formality, and that she would be notified of the date for the hearing. She alleged that he failed to provide her with proper clothing and that although his salary was $200 a month he took her pay checks and allowed her only carfare and lunch money.

She received $175 gross alimony and restoration of her maiden name, Parney.

SIX RAILROADS ORDERED TO EXPLAIN EXTRA FARE TRAINS
Cited by I. C. C. to Show Cause for Their Continued Operation.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Six railroads were ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to appear May 1 before examiners to show cause why they should be permitted to continue operation of extra fare passenger trains.

The Commission initiated an investigation last year to determine whether the practice of the roads in charging fares in excess of regular passenger and Pullman fares and surcharges was legal.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, the New York Central, the West Shore, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, the Michigan Central and the Erie filed applications to continue the extra charge on fast trains offering increased facilities.
In fixing the date for the hearing, the examiners were instructed by the Commission that they should be prepared to file full information supporting continuation of the practice.

Census Takers Mistaken For Dry Agents; Doors Slammed in Their Faces

'There's No Home Brew Here' Is Greeting to Enumerators in Many Sections of St. Louis.

CENSUS enumerators, starting their third day of solicitation today, experienced difficulty in many sections of St. Louis because they were mistaken for prohibition agents. Doors slammed following the assertion, "There's no home brew here," and at occasional houses from which emanated the sweetish-sour smell of mash, the occupants refused to answer the door-bell at all.

Finally, in one section that seemed to the enumerator to be composed almost exclusively of suspicious beer-makers, a woman said, "We don't make home brew here, come on in and smell for yourself." He did so, presented his credentials, and after word of his identity had spread on the wings of gossip, experienced less difficulty in the district.

Henry Kersting, one of the two census supervisors here, said letters of warning would be sent to a number of persons who had refused to give information and that if they persisted in refusing, their cases would be referred to the United States District Attorney. The other supervisor is Richard Hassall, in charge of the Eighth District, including the First, Fifteenth, Sixteenth and Seventeenth Wards, the Twentieth to Twenty-eighth Wards inclusive, and Central and St. Ferdinand Townships, St. Louis County. Kersting has the rest of the city and county.

Some of the central streets between Grand boulevard and Kingshighway were fine residence districts at the time of the census two decades ago. In 1920 they were in transition state. Now, it has been observed, the change has not been completed. In some midtown blocks commonly supposed to be given over entirely to light house-keeping rooms a number of private dwellings have been found. Here and there are elderly persons still living in the manner of an earlier and quieter day, in spite of the smoke, the bustle of motor traffic and the changing character of their neighbors.

"Just met one of the old aristocrats," an enumerator in this region related; "she's living all alone and can't be bothered? I should say so."

It is true that many of the solidly built old houses of stone and dingy brick in this part of town are filled with boarders, but there are numerous apartments of the efficiency and large types that were not in existence 10 years ago.

Occupations of lodgers in these places are of great variety. Census takers observed that these people generally were of cheerful, friendly nature, even in the cases of husband and wife living in one room and both working to make ends meet. Here some of the first instances of unemployment were reported, but on the surface the idle ones betrayed little despondency.

SPECIAL forms are being filled out for facts about persons who are out of work and why they are without jobs. Uncle Sam, hoping to find some means of alleviating unemployment, even asks the jobless whether they are trying to find work. The first question asked is whether the individual was at work on the day preceding the enumerator's call. Wednesday a young man whose trade is that of installing laths in buildings said he worked on Tuesday. Therefore, the census counted him as employed.

There was no blank on which to explain what he added somewhat wearily: "That was only the fourth day I worked since two weeks before Christmas."

Some of the enumerators are persons out of regular employment. One, who has been temporarily laid off as a floor manager in a downtown store, was wondering whether he himself would be counted as with or without work.

The enumerators find a great opportunity to exercise tact and diplomacy. "Just sit down, madam," one said suavely to a housewife, "as the dentist says. This won't hurt a bit and it will soon be over."

A 200-pound census taker did his best to be nonchalant when a fragile girl and plump child started to crack under his bulk. He hurried to a sofa.

Said an enumerator to a woman who owns her home on Washington boulevard: "Before I ask the value of your house, I want you to know the tax assessor doesn't see this. 'It doesn't matter,' she replied; 'they'll get you anyway.'"

A number of enumerators surrendered their commissions yesterday and were replaced by alternates. Some of the women who resigned said they were "tired of ringing doorbells." Men who resigned said they found the work more complicated than expected and they did not consider the remuneration sufficient. Enumerators receive 4 cents for each name, 2 cents for a special unemployment blank which is filled out when the head of a house is out of work, and 40 cents for farm schedules.

One woman who resigned had been assigned to an industrial district between Kingshighway and Morganford road. She said her territory was "too muddy and too sparsely populated."

Here and there married men betray a shadow of hesitation before assenting when asked if they were the heads of the households. Some made a joke of the subject.

"He's a bookmaker," one man said of a lodger. "All kinds of books?" the enumerator inquired. "Naw," the man answered with a bit of scorn. "Horses. Bookmakers and bootleggers ought to be proud to give their professions to the Government."

A NATIVE of Austria-Hungary, who worked for one of the city's famed breweries until prohibition began in 1920, said he had been out of work for 10 years. He had been in Koch Hospital for the last nine years.

Apartment houses offer a problem for enumerators, who thought yesterday that it was particularly hard to find persons at home in these establishments. However, they are good places to work on a rainy day. Where wage-earners are away all day the census takers must make evening calls.

"My husband's father was born in Tennessee, I guess," said a woman. "You can tell 'em that anyway; they won't know the difference."

An elderly woman, who smilingly classified herself as "an unoccupied spinster," confided that she had been a hand printer years ago. For company in her little apartment, which is decorated with tasteful prints, she has a dog and a cat. A typewriter stands in a corner.

A man described himself as a promoter. His business is handling claims for war veterans. Five veterans, including a native of France and one from Austro-Hungary, are staying in his home. "Veterans matters are all we talk about," he explained, "so we might as well have people here who understand."

Data on aliens is being gathered with difficulty. As the World War destroyed many European boundaries and resulted in new political alignments, many foreigners have been unable to give the correct name of their place of birth. A large group were unable to remember the date they came to America and another large group had difficulty in understanding the questions.

In the first hour and a half hours' work one enumerator was able to list 150 names with full details. He was requiring about three minutes per person at first, but was able to speed up as he got accustomed to the task.

A woman enumerator resigned today after encountering her second vicious dog within two days. She composed herself after the first incident, but late yesterday afternoon found a barking dog barring her from a home on her list. After a futile effort to attract attention from someone in the house who might have called the dog off, she went home. Her husband appeared at the Federal Building today to tell Kersting she had resigned. "She couldn't sleep all night," he explained.

Judge Jones issued the decision last October after International President Lewis issued an order ousting the district officers. The Fishwick faction appealed to the Circuit Court and the restraining order resulted.

M'DONALD REASSERTS POLICY ON PALESTINEBritain to Stand by Terms of Mandate and Balfour Declaration on Jews.By Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1930, by the Press and Publishing Associates Co. (The New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, April 4.—Prime Minister MacDonald, in a statement to the House of Commons yesterday, reasserted the British Government's determination to "administer Palestine in accordance with the terms of the mandate as approved by the Council of the League of Nations."

"Under the terms of the mandate," he continued, "His Majesty's Government is responsible for promoting the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people, it being clearly understood nothing should be done which might prejudice the civil and religious rights of existing non-Jewish communities in Palestine or the rights and political status enjoyed by Jews in any other country."

MacDonald further stated that the Government was still considering the report of the Palestine Commission, particularly the recommendations in it, and that while doing so was consulting with Jews and Arabs both in London and in Palestine.

Little Enthusiasm Aroused.
The declaration, naturally limited in scope in view of the brief time the Government has had to study the Palestine report, did not arouse any particular enthusiasm either in Jewish or Arab quarters here.

"The statement was satisfactory as far as it went," said Israel Cohen, general secretary of the Zionist Organization, adding: "Presumably it is all the Prime Minister could say until the Government has given the report further consideration. We expect the Government to carry out the mandate for the establishment of a Jewish national home in Palestine, and, in particular, expect more sympathetic support from the Palestine administration than we have had in the past."

In his statement, MacDonald referred to the Palestine mandate as "an international obligation from which there can be no question of receding."

"A double undertaking," he said, "is involved, with the Jewish people on the one hand and the non-Jewish population of Palestine on the other; and it is the Government's duty to give effect to the measure to both parts of the (Balfour) declaration and to equal justice to all sections of the population in Palestine."

"This is the duty from which they will not shrink and to discharge which they will apply all the resources at their command. The report of the Shaw Commission covers a wide field. The commission was appointed to consider the immediate causes of the deplorable outbreaks of August last and to suggest means of preventing their recurrence. In endeavoring faithfully to carry out its terms of reference the commission must have found it difficult to draw the line rigidly."

Studying Recommendations.
Here MacDonald was evidently referring to criticism in Zionist and pro-Zionist circles that the commission had exceeded its authority in going into such questions as land and immigration.

"The Government is now studying the various recommendations of the commission," he continued, "with a view to dealing with the immediate cause of outbreak and preventing recurrence, and is in consultation with the interests concerned. I wish it to be understood that this statement includes immediate provision of police forces required to secure civil peace in the existing circumstances."

Former Premiers Lloyd George and Stanley Baldwin, leaders, respectively, of the Liberal and Conservative opposition parties in the House, endorsed the Prime Minister's statement. MacDonald said he would amplify his statement as soon as possible.

BROADWAY CAFE MAN BILKED OUT OF $7,300 ON BETTING TIP

Offers $15,000 More to Cover Detroit Wager But Letter Goes Unanswered.

DETROIT, Mich., April 4.—Henry Elapas, who operates a restaurant where Broadway crapses 102d street in New York, has reported that four Detroiters swindled him out of $7,300 and almost $15,000 more.

Elapas was not suspicious when two men proposed to buy his restaurant. It seemed quite natural for one of the men to find a pocketbook in a New York hotel and there didn't seem to be anything irregular in the owner's rewarding them by an "inside tip" on a Detroit betting syndicate. The tip won a theoretical $27,000 and Elapas came here to collect. He was asked to put up money to cover his bet and that was the end of the $7,300. Later he telegraphed the Detroit office offering $15,000 more, but his message was unanswered.

In the police regu's gallery yesterday Elapas picked out the pictures of three of his acquaintances. Larceny warrants are out for Robert Kohler, Thomas Pendergast, Frank Davis and John Doe.

"EGYPTIAN PRINCESS" HOAX ON THE MAYOR

Descendant of Cleopatra? Just a Publicity Grabber Looking for Theater Work.

The "Princess Dalia Pattra of Egypt, descendant of Cleopatra," who arrived in St. Louis by airplane on April Fool's Day and was ushered with a press agent's flourish into Mayor Miller's office at City Hall, has checked out of the Queen Marie suite at the Coronado Hotel and taken cheaper lodgings in a downtown hotel while her new business manager tries to land a profitable "theatrical engagement" for her.

The "Princess," who is not listed in the book of Egyptian royalty, so far as the Egyptian representatives at Washington can ascertain, smilingly posed with the Mayor for newspaper photographers and went away with the Mayor's autographed picture and high hopes of favorable publicity leading to remunerative engagements.

Next day, also through arrangements by her press agent, she visited two public schools, explaining her purpose in coming here was to inspect "the wonderful St. Louis schools in order that I may some day establish similar institutions in Egypt."

As a further fanfare for publicity she mentioned her desire to consult with Maj. William B. Robertson, air-mail employee of Col. Lindbergh, about a trans-Atlantic flight. The Mayor is in Canada. Dwight Holmes, financial manager of the Better Business Bureau, began an inquiry which resulted in the "Princess" leaving her $40-a-day Coronado suite, the bill being paid by Frank Eversden, 5357 Fairmont avenue, former manager of an electric appliance salesroom.

"I'm out $300," Eversden told Holmes today, when he called at the Better Business Bureau to "get a line" on the "Princess," a short time after the "Princess" had called there to inquire about him.

Eversden said he had signed a contract to manage the "Princess," his principal job being to get theatrical engagements and publicity for her, for which he was to receive commissions in return for paying her expenses.

Eversden arranged for the visit to the Mayor's office through Harry Evers, Associate City Counselor.

JURY DISAGREES IN TRIAL OF MAE WEST FOR PLAY

Assistant District Attorney at New York Says She Probably Will Not Be Tried Again.

NEW YORK, April 4.—A disagreement having ended the first trial, the District Attorney's office indicated today that it would not ask a retrial of Mae West and her co-defendants on charges of presenting an indecent play.

A jury which had watched policemen re-enact scenes from the play "Pleasure Man," written by Miss West, deliberated 10 hours, then reported to Judge Bertini in General Sessions Court last night that it could not agree. Court attaches said the jury deadlocked seven for conviction, five for acquittal.

Ball was continued for Miss West and 22 others, including the manager and actors in the company. Charges against 34 were dropped.

After dismissal of the jury Assistant District Attorney James G. Wallace, said:

"In view of the length of time which has elapsed since this play was enacted and the fact that it will never again be presented, it may make it undesirable to try it again. It may be just as well to let it go and consider that we have done our duty."

The play was closed two nights after its opening, Oct. 1, 1928, and Miss West and the entire cast was arrested charged with violating the Wales amendment to the penal code prohibiting the portrayal of degeneracy on the stage.

Miss West was convicted in 1927 in connection with her play "Sex" and served a 10-day sentence in the workhouse on Welfare Island.

DETROIT GANGSTER KILLED IN HOLLYWOOD BANK HOLDUP

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 4.—Joe Luby, 27 years old, alleged Chicago and Detroit gangster, was killed by one of three policemen with whom he attempted to "shoot it out" yesterday. Luby's death climaxed a five-minute running pistol fight which ended as he entered his automobile in front of a Hollywood bank he had just robbed of $500.

Firing blindly as he raced down crowded Hollywood boulevard, a police car in pursuit, the robber almost escaped capture when he turned up a side street and abandoned the car. He was seen a few minutes later, however, in a small truck stolen from in front of a residence. As the police car crowded the truck to the curb, Luby drew his pistol and was in the act of firing when Sgt. A. A. Campbell shot him in the heart. The stolen $500 was in his pocket.

Police records here disclosed that Luby was wanted in Detroit for robbing a telephone office and killing Policeman John Scott and a clerk, Jesse Callan, and wounding Policeman Joseph Italia. He also was registered as a fugitive from Chicago. He served several terms in Illinois prisons for robberies and holdups.

Robbers Use Machine Guns in Raid There and in Cincinnati, Where They Are Fired On.

DAYTON, O., April 4.—Five robbers, masked and armed with machine guns, held up five bank employees of the Xenia Avenue branch of the Union Trust Co. and several customers, looted the bank and virtually all its cash and escaped with a sum estimated at between $25,000 and $30,000 shortly after the bank opened for business this morning.

Two of the men remained in an automobile in front of the bank while the other three entered and looted the bank employees and customers to be on the floor. One of the robbers took the machine into the bank. Only $500 which was in one of the drawers of a teller's cage was appropriated.

The Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, April 4.—The leading Bank was robbed of $99 today by four men, who were armed with a submachine gun. A car across a street saw the robbers and opened fire on them. ## REPORTERS TO BE ADMITTED TO NEW COOLIDGE HOME TODAY

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., April 4.—So many newspaper reporters want to see "The Beeches," new home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, that Mrs. Morris L. Conely, who sold it to the former President, but who is still in possession of the place, has consented to pilot a party through the mansion this afternoon.

Mrs. Conely has imposed one restriction on her invitation—male reporters only will be admitted. Mrs. Conely told local newspaper men yesterday that she had received calls for information from newspapers as far west as Chicago. "The Beeches" was described by Coolidge when he purchased it as a "modest place with a little land." Actually it is a 16-room house with nine acres of grounds, an outdoor swimming pool, tennis courts and spacious gardens. Interiorly the house contains four baths, an elevator and numerous other conveniences. The house was built for Dr. Henry N. MacCracken, president of Vassar College, when he was professor of English at Smith College.

BANKRUPT AGAIN TRIES TO GET ALLEGED WINNINGS ON STOCKS

C. J. Zeitlinger Asks for Review of Decision Denying His Claim of $5777.

Christian J. Zeitlinger, promoter of the bankrupt Zeitlinger Industrial Development Co., yesterday filed in Bankruptcy Court a petition for review of Referee Coles' decision rejecting his claim of $5777 against the estate, alleged to represent part of his personal stock market winnings placed in the company's bank account. The referee found he had employed funds of the company in his market operations.

The action, indirectly involving most of Zeitlinger's market profits of about $20,000 inasmuch as the referee not only denied his claim but ruled he owed the company about $13,000 in addition. The ruling served to retain the $5777 for creditors and opened the possibility of a plenary suit by the trustee.

to recover the $13,000. The trustee had maintained Zeitlinger owed the company more than $25,000.

FARMER, ILL, KILLS WIFE AFTER SHE SHOTS AT HIM

Fredericktown, Mo., Man Executed; Relatives Find Him Unconscious.

By the Associated Press.

FREDERICKSTOWN, Mo., April 4.—With the body of his wife lying nearby, John Umfleet, 60 years old, a farmer, was found seriously wounded at his farm about seven miles northwest of here late yesterday.

Umfleet, before being removed to a hospital at Bonne Terre, said he had shot and killed his 59-year-old wife, a bride of eight months, after she had first shot him as he lay sick on his bed. He said a quarrel preceded the shooting.

Umfleet was exonerated by a coroner's jury. The shooting was discovered by relatives who went to the Umfleet home on orders of a physician to remove Umfleet to a hospital for medical treatment. They found the woman dead and Umfleet unconscious.

BELGIAN PROHIBITION FIGHT ABANDONED

King and People Are Loyal to Their Special Brand of Beer.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
BRUSSELS, March 22.—Belgian prohibitionists who had started a campaign to change the country's nearly dry regime into an absolute prohibition has abandoned their fight for the time being, because the Belgian people, from the monarch downward, refuse to part with their favorite drink "Geuzen" beer. Whatever the political differences dividing the two nationalities of Walloons and Flemings in Belgium, on one point there is agreement: nobody shall rob them of the golden-blond beer. "King Albert likes 'Geuzen' beer. The bars in the Parliament Buildings in Brussels always have it on tap. Most citizens in Antwerp and Ghent wouldn't do without it. The famous beer is as much a tradition in the Low Countries as the carillons of the singing towers. The word "Geuzen" refers to the Water Beggars or Water Geuzen, patriots who turned buccanniers and freebooters in the struggle against Spain under William of Orange.

When King Albert was 21 he drank three glasses of the brew at the annual festival of an archers' club and then hit the road three times in succession. Prince Charles, his younger brother, knows where the best beer is sold and strolls demurely into some humble saloon when he gets thirsty. "Geuzen" beer climbed up several notches in the national taste during the war, when it became known that the Germans did not like it. The Bavarians and Rhinelanders, who have their own brews, pulled, very faces when they tasted the Belgian nectar. This caused immense rejoicing throughout the occupied territories, where the Belgians realized that they would have at least their favorite drink to themselves. "Geuzen" is a strange beer, 40 per cent wheat and 60 per cent malt, which has its own qualities and defects. Some say that it tastes like vinegar. But any inhabitant of Brussels takes that for an insult.

ROMJUE PROPOSES U. S. COLLEGE FOR POLICEMEN

Missouri Congressman Suggests Co-Educational Institution With Free Tuition.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—A police man's college to be run by the Government is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Romjue (Dem.), Missouri. The school, a co-educational institution with free tuition, would be established in the District of Columbia. The pupils after graduation would assist the States and municipalities in curbing crime. A board consisting of the District Superintendent of Schools, the Attorney-General and a presidential appointee, would direct the college, which would have as its first endowment $50,000 in Federal funds.

HAITIAN PRESIDENT'S WIRES ARE CENSORED

Martial Law Which Borne Sought Works to His Disadvantage.

By the Associated Press.
PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, April 4.—The instrument which has given President Louis Borne the military power to support his tenure of office is now being turned in the opposite direction, and as Borne prepares to comply with the new Government plan drawn up by President Hoover's commission he finds himself the instrument's object.

This instrument is the decree of martial law, put into effect last January when the legislative elections should have been held under the constitution, but were not held because the President declined to permit them.

Under the decree, complete power to keep peace in the country is placed in the hands of the High Commissioner, Brigadier-General John H. Russell. Even the president is subjected to this decree, in any emergency. That emergency now seems to have arisen.

Must Submit Messages. Although officially no announcement was made, it is known that because some of President Borne's recent actions were regarded as tending to prevent the successful culmination of the Hoover plan, an order was issued by Gen. Russell that the President could send no more messages over the domestic telephone line unless they bore the written approval of the High Commissioner.

The situation was this: President Borne, telegraphed to all prefects, advising them that the recent meeting of the assembly of delegates called according to the plan, to approve the selection of Eugene Roy as temporary President, had acted in an illegal manner, and that the Council of State would do the electing on April 14.

From all parts of the republic came cries that Borne had repudiated the plan by his inference that the assembly had tried to elect Roy, instead of approving him, which actually it did, and then disbanded. Hurried calls were paid by American legation officials to various leaders of the federated patriotic groups. The word was left with these leaders to pay no attention to such messages emanating from the palace.

Order to Telegraph Office. That same day, it later was learned, the domestic telegraph office received an order, under the decree of martial law, to send all future messages of the President to the American legation. It was the first time such step was taken, but the inference was left that nothing would be left undone to secure the successful and peaceful culmination of the Hoover plan.

Through martial law, Gen. Russell holds the "ace in the hole" in dealing with the elections of April 14. Before the commission left it told Gen. Russell that President Hoover expected the plan to be permitted to stand in the way of the plan for giving the Government back to the people.

Should the Council of State, a legislative body controlled by President Borne, who appointed all its members, fail to elect Roy, as it and Borne have agreed to do, the impression is gained in official quarters that the full force of the decree of martial law and complete orders from Hoover himself will be used by the high commissioner to insure Roy's formal election.

BOAT COMPANIONS OF THREE DROWNED FREED AT HOUSTON

Officers Ready to Abandon Theory That Sinking of Craft Was Premeditated.

By the Associated Press.
HOUSTON, Tex., April 4.—Three men charged with murder after the sinking of a boat on the San Jacinto River in which their three companions drowned, were released yesterday on bonds of $1000 each when officers agreed that a theory that the deaths were not accidental apparently was without foundation.

After conferring with investigators, District Attorney O'Brien Stevens agreed to bonds for R. H. Mahley, 24 years old, Nick Green, 24, and W. D. Cunningham, 25. The boat sank last Monday night. Those drowned were Albert Miller, 25; Joe Scott, 22, both white, and Peter McGee, 43, Negro.

The filing of charges resulted from a conversation between the two women in the presence of a patrolman. The officer took them to police headquarters where they made statements.

Now Jant is in City Hospital No. 2 with 19 stab wounds inflicted with an ice pick, he said, by Pearl and one of her friends. Pearl was arrested.

Bomb in Political Headquarters. By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 4.—A black powder bomb exploded in a north-west side apartment early today, causing slight damage. The room was used as the headquarters of William Suwalak, Republican ward committeeman candidate.

109, FATALLY BURNED WHEN HIS WHISKERS CAUGHT FIRE

Kupper Bier of Hoboken, N. Y., Until Three Years Ago Walked on Koshier Market Trade.

NEW YORK, April 4.—A week ago Kupper Bier, 198 years old, who wore the untrimmed beard of the orthodox Jew, attempted to light his long-stemmed meerschbaum pipe and his whiskers caught fire. He was burned about the face. His doctor said he failed to survive the burns because of his age.

As nearly as his 146 descendants can figure it, his age was 193. It may have been a year more or a year less. Nothing angered the old man more than a hint that he was not physically able. To prove it, he shoved the walk in front of his home last winter. Until three years ago he waited on customers every working day behind the counter of his dried yeast market.

He was born the year Napoleon died on a farm near Lemberg, Austria. At the time of his first marriage Texas was still part of the Republic of Mexico and a youth named Ulysses S. Grant was at West Point.

There were seven children by his first marriage, four of whom are still living. In 1870, after the death of his first wife, he married a young girl named Ethel Kanner from Lemberg, and took her back to his Austrian farm. Shortly afterwards they came to America.

The eight children by his second marriage are all living. The youngest, Arthur, is 23. In 1925 Bier visited President Coolidge at the White House, told him he thought prohibition would be a good thing for his old man and was the son of 147 Bier family votes if he should run again.

Fairchild (Wis.) Bank Held Up. By the Associated Press.
FAIRCHILD, Wis., April 4.—Locking two employees and two customers into the vault, two men held up the First National Bank of Fairchild late yesterday and escaped with $2000.

$457,000 EMBEZZLER HELD ON $50,000 BAIL

Boston Sales Manager Surrenders, but Police Are Skeptical of Story.

Boston, Mass., April 4.—A troubled conscience led George A. Rivinius, Winchester, to the Boston police, to whom he disclosed that he had stolen $457,213 from the firm he represented here as sales manager and from the Atlantic National Bank.

His story was so astounding that police were skeptical, but auditors with the aid of Rivinius disclosed large shortages. While auditors went over the books, Rivinius was held in $50,000 bail for forging and uttering drafts for $257,213.41 from the bank.

Rivinius told Capt. Skilling he had worried about the larceny and, before he did anything rash, wanted it off his mind. He said he left heavily playing the stock market.

Rivinius said he had been sales manager for George H. McFadden & Co., Philadelphia (Pa.) cotton merchants, for six years. About four years ago he said he began manipulating the books. According to his figures, he took about $200,000 from the company.

Rivinius would go to the bank, present a bill of lading for a draft, and it would be returned to the firm to be vouchered. Rivinius is alleged to have forged the name of J. W. Frothingham or John W. Armory to the bills and, when the draft was issued, he would return to the bank and get the money.

MONTERREY ROAD OF 150 MILES TO BE FINISHED BY AUGUST
It will extend from Lower Rio Grande Valley; Four Grading Outlets to Work.

EDINBURG, Tex.—Completion of a paved highway from Monterrey to Reynosa, Mexico, to connect with Highway 12 in the lower Rio Grande Valley is assured by Aug. 1, Mexican engineers working on plans for the road from this end have said.

V. G. Gama, F. J. Gaxiola and O. S. Greco, highway officials of the states of Tamaulipas and Nuevo Leon, Mexico, have just completed a survey of the route southward from Reynosa.

The length of the proposed road is 150 miles. Work has already started from the Monterrey end, and a good graded highway extends for 45 miles this side of Monterrey.

Four large grading outfits will be employed in the construction work and it is planned to complete about one and one-half miles a day.

BANK EXECUTIVES STOP RUN BY DISPLAY ADVERTISEMENTS Assure Public at Kokomo, Ind., That All Depositors Will Be Paid.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KOKOMO, Ind.—Officials of the Howard National Bank here fought a run on the bank recently through advertising. Unconfirmed rumors had caused heavy withdrawals of deposits when the bank officers decided to submit their case to the public. They contracted for a large advertisement in a local newspaper, promising to the city that there had been a run on the bank and that all depositors would be accommodated.

Within a few hours after the bank opened on the day of publication, the run was ended. Public confidence had been restored.

International "White Way"
By the Associated Press.
LAREDO, Tex.—The Twin Border Cities' white ways is the plan of Laredo and Nuevo Laredo this summer when one of the greatest international illuminated paths along the border is completed between the two cities. Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, already has established a "white way" from the international footbridge down the principal thoroughfare. Laredo has let the contract for its electric traffic signal system and a great white way and work will begin on the project soon.

Texas Gas for Illinois.
CHICAGO.—A 1200-mile pipe line bringing natural gas from the Amarillo, Tex., fields for use in Illinois factories, will be laid during 1930, according to M. M. Leighton, chief of the State Geological Survey, in a chapter of the book, "Illinois—Its Resources, Present Development and Possibilities," published by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. A similar gas line completed last November carries gas from the Northern Louisiana fields to the St. Louis district, including Alton and East St. Louis and other smaller cities.

CHIEF RABBI OF LENINGRAD GETS 10 YEARS IN EXILE CAMP

He Had Been Accused of Maintaining Illegal Connections Abroad.

MOSCOW, April 4.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)—Rabbi Lazarov, the chief Rabbi of the Leningrad, who was arrested Feb. 25, together with Rabbi Yasnogorowski, by the Russian secret police on the charge that they had been maintaining illegal connections abroad, was sentenced yesterday to 10 years' exile in a concentration camp.

Rabbi Lazarov's son was expelled for three years while the Rabbi, Zernach Zedek, was expelled for two years. The 14 members of the Leningrad Jewish community, who had been arrested for disobeying the regulations laid down with regard to religious communities also were expelled to a concentration camp for various periods of years.

The home for the Jewish aged, that had been supported by the now liquidated Jewish community, is now closed for lack of funds. The Jewish old men and women, some of them more than 80 years old, are being distributed among various Christian homes while a few are being transferred to a former monastery 10 miles from Pskov.

The Atheist Society, the League of the Godless, yesterday issued an order forbidding the use of communion during the anti-Pasover campaign for converts. The order says that no house-to-house collection of candlesticks, praying shawls, or phylacteries should take place during Pasover, and that the delivery of such articles should be of an absolutely voluntary nature.

FIVE SALOON MEN ARRESTED BY POLICE LIQUOR SQUAD

Whisky and Beer Seized in Raids Made on Receipt of Anonymous Letters.

Several anonymous letters received by Chief of Police Gerk complaining of liquor sales were turned over to Detective Sergeant Wille and his squad for investigation yesterday.

Wille later reported seizing beer and whisky at various places and arresting the following saloon proprietors: Edward Gmelmer, 4401 South Broadway; Andrew Phillips, 5112 Easton Avenue; James Bray, 2820 Marcus Avenue; John Lehr, 2001 Pestalozzi street, and Ernest Nerviana, 2870 South Jefferson Avenue.

KILLS MAN WHO, HE-ASSERTS, SOLD HIM POISONED MORPHINE

Whitla Addict Wounded Woman, Also a Drug Seller, and Then Shot Self.

WICHITA, Kan., April 4.—Mack Searle, middle-aged former farmer of near Kismet, known to police for drug addiction here, declared, "I'm glad I did it," after he had shot and killed John H. (Dob) Boas, 32 years old, a persistent violator of narcotic laws; wounded Mrs. Bonnie Tipton White, who known to police as a user and seller of drugs, and attempted to kill himself.

Searle, who barricaded himself in a bedroom at the White home and put bullets in his head and chest after shooting Mrs. White three times, declared he was justified because he was "sick and crazy" from poisoned morphine Boas and the woman had enticed him to buy.

Frank Boas, brother of the slain man, arrested at his mother's home with a quantity of morphine, told officers he and his brother had unwittingly purchased a shipment of poisoned morphine from a runner named Edwin Davis and that Searle bought some of it.

Bob Boas was slain as he emerged from a South Wichita confectionery and started to crank his truck. Searle then drove four blocks to the White home.

The Boas brothers had served prison terms on narcotics charges and the slain man was under Federal indictment. Frank Boas and his 44-year-old mother were made defendants late yesterday on State narcotics charges.

AUTHOR OF 'PAID IN FULL' GETS INTERLOCUTORY DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 4.—Award of an interlocutory decree of divorce to Eugene Walter, author of "Paid in Full," from Charlotte Walker, stage actress, on grounds of desertion was disclosed here yesterday.

The decree was given Walter by the Superior Court last week on default and supplemented a previous divorce granted him in Delaware some years ago. The second divorce action was filed to overcome legal technicalities which developed from the first.

Walter is living in Hollywood where he is employed by a motion picture studio as a scenario writer. Miss Walker recently appeared on the stage here. They were married in 1906 and separated in 1923. They had no children and no monetary settlement was mentioned.

THREE-POWER SEN- NAVAL PACT, QUICK ADJOURNMENT, IS NOW CONSIDERED

proposal, Said to Be Quite Possible, Would Shelve Problems of France and Italy for Later Disposition.

GNATURES COULD BE ADDED LATER

Some Spokesman Says His Delegation Is in London to Talk Disarmament and Security Is Matter for League.

LONDON, April 4.—Signing of a three-power pact by the United Kingdom, France and Italy, and the adjournment of the naval conference was said today to be quite possible.

This would involve leaving the questions of French security and Franco-Italian parity to be settled in other fields, and would leave so that France and Italy could be in a position to sign as soon as these difficulties have been worked out.

The American delegation this morning tentatively engaged negotiations to return home on the evening of April 22.

It was stated at American headquarters that this date was regarded as the limit to which the conference could meet.

It also was authoritatively stated that the delegations feel the conference must be brought to a close within a comparatively short time.

Too Many Complications.—A series of conferences were held a draft formula for French security during the day. Foreign Minister Briand and Prime Minister MacDonald devoted much time to its study. Later it was said in an informal quarter that while the negotiations gave hope of ultimate success, it had been discovered there were so many complications it was highly improbable they could be settled in the amount of time the present conference has devoted to them.

It was pointed out that the negotiations now proceeding here, if successful, reshape the political complexion of Europe. This being so, it is felt in many conference quarters that the problem too complicated and delicate to be handled in a short time.

The French are continuing study of a security formula, but well-informed circles say that unless France unexpectedly discovers a quick way to an agreement, then the adjournment of the conference will follow in the immediate future. It is generally known that a three-power pact could be whipped up quickly and signed.

Annoyance with each other is being displayed at French and Italian headquarters. The service of the conference has been hampered by the French-Italian party dispute.

Italian Position Is Stated.—The Italian spokesman this morning made this statement on the Italian position:

"France wants two things: she wants security and she wants us to accept inferiority in naval strength. Regarding the second, the Italian position remains unchanged. We stand on parity in principle at any time."

As far as a political formula is concerned, that is a matter which comes under the League of Nations and the view of Foreign Minister Grandi is that it should be discussed not at London but at Geneva with the representatives of all powers who have responsibility under the covenant of the League.

For all, we came to London in order of disarmament and not to talk about the League covenant."

Thus the Italian demand for parity with France appeared today as the rock on which naval conference hopes for a five-power limitation treaty might be wrecked.

The Italian spokesman touched upon the question of European peace, maintaining that the balance of power on the European continent was one of the most essential factors in preserving peace.

The American, British and Japanese expert committees met at St. James's Palace today to consider the observations made in the Japanese reply to the British and American proposals. The Japanese representative said that earlier replacement of certain ships was needed in order to keep Japanese dockyards busy, and this was accepted in principle by the other representatives.

Experts of the five delegations daily have agreed an agreement dealing with harmonization of disarmament warfare. British navy.

Home Spokesman Says His Delegation Is in London to Talk Disarmament and Security Is Matter for League.

By Associated Press.
LONDON, April 4.—Signing of a three-power pact by the United States, Great Britain and Japan, and adjournment of the naval conference was said in an authoritative quarter late today to be quite possible.

This would involve leaving the treaty questions of French security and the Franco-Italian party to be signed in other fields, and would mean that France and Italy would be in a position to sign as soon as these difficulties have been settled.

It was stated at American headquarters that this date was regarded as the limit to which the conference could meet.

It also was authoritatively stated that the delegations feel the conference must be brought to a close this comparatively short time.

Too Many Complications.
A series of conferences were held a day before the French security conference during the day. Foreign Secretary Brand and Prime Minister MacDonald devoted much time to study. Later it was said in well-informed quarters that while the negotiations have hope of ultimate success, it has been discovered there were so many complications that it was probable the conference could be settled in the amount of time the conference has devoted to them.

Italian Position Is Stated.
The Italian spokesman this afternoon said this statement on the Italian position:

SENATOR WAGNER'S FIGHT FOR UNEMPLOYMENT BILLS WINS AFTER TWO YEARS

Two of Them Out of Committee, Third to Be Reported Next Week—Old Guard Didn't Want Him to Get Credit.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—An extraordinary exhibition of political jealousy and partisanship that had lasted for more than two years, apparently came to an end yesterday when the Senate Committee on Commerce reported favorably two bills designed to improve employment conditions, and virtually agreed to report favorably a third such bill a week hence.

All three bills are the work of Senator Robert Wagner, New York Democrat. One proposes the establishment of a nation-wide system of Federal employment agencies. The second proposes the stabilization of employment during business depression by a program of public works. The third provides for the collection and publication of complete employment statistics by the Department of Labor.

Wagner first introduced them more than two years ago. They were referred to the Committee on Education and Labor. Although Senator Coughlin, chairman of the committee, regarded them favorably, no action was taken. Every time Wagner endeavored to obtain action, he found himself backed by a stone wall. Notwithstanding his strenuous efforts and his considerable parliamentary experience and skill, he was unable to move his bills.

Hoover Urged Same Plan.
Eventually, in response to inquiries, he learned that administration Senators resented his sponsorship of the measures, first, because he was a Democrat and an Al Smith Democrat, at that; and second, because he was a comparatively new Senator, and that he would continue to encounter powerful obstruction. The congressional session of 1928 ended without any action.

Soon after the election of Hoover in November of that year, Gov. Brewster of Maine, it will be recalled, presented to the conference of Governors at New Orleans an extraordinary statement of President-elect's views on unemployment. The remedies proposed were almost identical with those proposed in Wagner's bills.

The New York Senator withdrew his bills, reintroduced them, and had them referred to the Commerce Committee, of which Senator Jones (Rep.), Washington, is chairman. He found Jones cold toward them. Unemployment was credit for instituting an important step toward relieving unemployment. There was too much political credit involved.

How the Jan Was Broken.
The even this broke the Jan was the death of Senator Warren (Rep.), Wyoming. It created a vacancy in the chairmanship of the Committee on Appropriations, and Jones was promoted to that post. This resulted in the elevation of Senator Johnson, Republican Progressive of California, to the chairmanship of the Commerce Committee. Having no love either for the Old Guard or the administration, Johnson proceeded vigorously to have the committee consider the Wagner bills, with a view of reporting them favorably. Yesterday's action was the result.

The two bills reported were that to stabilize employment through the expansion of public works, and that to provide for complete employment statistics. The bill to establish Federal employment agencies probably will be reported next week. Wagner was so gratified over his final success that he was unwilling to comment on his previous difficulties.

The first bill would create a Federal employment stabilization board, to be composed of the Secretaries of the Treasury, Commerce, Labor and Agriculture, which would advise the President periodically of the trends of business and employment. Whenever the President found, on the basis of such recommendations, that a period of unemployment impended within six months, he would transmit a special message to Congress asking for emergency appropriations to be expended in the construction or maintenance of river and harbor projects, the prosecution of flood control, and the construction of public buildings.

How Scheme Would Operate.
The Secretaries of War, Agriculture and the Treasury could be directed to accelerate, during such periods, all public projects under their control.

The bill would declare it to be the policy of Congress that the conduct of all public works should be arranged and planned in such a manner as to lend themselves to the execution of the stabilization plan, which, in plain language, insofar as practical, during periods of abundant employment, and accelerated during periods of unemployment.

In addition to the foregoing, the Secretary of Agriculture would be authorized to approve emergency Federal-aid road projects, even in advance of the appropriation of the funds. The approval of such projects would be deemed a contractual obligation of the Government.

Finally, the act would authorize the appropriation of sums up to $150,000,000 to be expended in any single year on public works to prevent unemployment.

The other bill reported yesterday would provide for the collection and publication by the Bureau of Labor Statistics each month of complete figures on the number of persons employed, total hours of employment and total wages paid, in the following industries: Manufacturing, mining, oil production, quarrying, building construction, agriculture, lumbering, transportation, communication, the retail and wholesale trades and others which the Secretary of Labor might choose to include.

The lack of such statistics in the present situation has provoked much criticism of the Department of Labor.

The third measure, which is yet to be reported, proposes a comprehensive system of Federal employment agencies, to constitute a United States employment service, under the supervision of a director-general to be appointed by the President, at a salary of $10,000. There would be a woman assistant director-general.

LATE MME. ALBANI SANG BEFORE QUEEN VICTORIA

Canadian Soprano Who Made Debut in 1879 Succumbed at 77 in England.

LONDON, April 4.—Mme. Emma Albani, grand opera soprano who died at her home in Kensington yesterday afternoon at the age of 77, had been ill only a week.

In the last century Mme. Albani took leading roles at Covent Garden and sang before Queen Victoria at Windsor Castle. She was made a Dame of the British Empire in 1925 and received the Order of Merit from Denmark and Germany.

She was born at Chambly, near Montreal, and much of her talent was ascribed to her father, Joseph Lejeune, musician, organist and harpist, who taught her from childhood. As she grew older the fame of her voice spread to the United States and she was invited to sing at the Cathedral in Albany, N. Y. The congregation was so greatly impressed it decided to send her to Milan. She made her operatic debut in Italy in 1879 and her success was immediate.

She married Ernest Gye, impresario, in 1894. Her farewell concert was given in Albert Hall, London, in 1911.

MRS. HOOVER, UNNOTICED, ATTENDS QUAKER CONVENTION

Goes to Yearly Meeting of the Society of Friends at Philadelphia.

By Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—Mrs. Herbert Hoover attended the Friends' yearly meeting here yesterday unnoticed by many in the auditorium. She is a member of the Friends Society.

She came to the meeting unexpectedly and quietly took a seat in the middle of the old meeting house. With her sat Mrs. George Vaux Jr. and her traveling companion from Washington, Mrs. Charles D. Walcott, sister-in-law of Mrs. Vaux. Mrs. Hoover told a Secret Service man who accompanied her and Mrs. Walcott that her visit here was purely a church matter and that she did not want to be bothered with publicity.

During the meeting yesterday a report of the West Town School Committee was read and it was thought this was one of her reasons for the visit. Last year when an appeal for $150,000 for the school was made, she was one of the first contributors.

I. C. C. AGREES TO RECONSIDER
WABASH RAILROAD VALUATION

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The Interstate Commerce Commission reopened today the question of valuing the Wabash Railroad and set further hearings for May 12.

The commission placed a value of $102,616,951 on the Wabash as of June 30, 1919. In its petition reopening the road contended its valuation for rate making and recapture purposes should be $161,645,948.

13 KILLED IN BELGIAN MINE

By Associated Press.
BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 4.—Thirteen men were killed and eight injured in a firedamp explosion in a coal mine at Elouges, near Mons, last night. Two of the injured men, seriously hurt, were taken out by rescue crews.

The explosion occurred as an electrically controlled dynamite charge was detonated. The miner in charge of the operation declared that all precautions had been taken and that there was no trace of firedamp before the accident.

Completes 6000-Mile Air Trip

GANDHI AND HIS FOLLOWERS NEAR END OF MARCH

Indian Leader Expects to Make Salt Sunday—Has New Plan if Not Arrested.

By Associated Press.
JALALPUR, Bombay Presidency, India, April 4.—Mahatma Gandhi and his followers arrived tonight at Vijapur in the Jalapur district, nearing the end of their march to the Gulf of Cambay for the manufacture of salt in defiance of the Government monopoly.

Addressing a public meeting here, Gandhi said that the resignations of village headmen were more valuable than the recent resignation of the Pandit Malaviya and six other members of the legislative assembly, arguing that the headmen were an inalienable part of the Government's administrative machinery, while the members of the assembly merely gave polish to that machinery.

By Associated Press.
BOMBAY, India, April 4.—Well-informed circles said today that Mahatma Gandhi, who is leading the Indian Nationalist campaign for civil disobedience, will not be arrested unless he so forces the situation as to leave the Government no alternative.

The Mahatma and those devotees who have followed him from Ahmedabad, camped today at a village a few miles from Gandi, his ultimate destination. The place where it is said he will violate the salt laws, probably Sunday, is a low-lying land inundated by the sea tide. Stagnant water which accumulates there evaporates leaving a residue of salt which Gandhi proposes to collect in violation of the salt tax.

Gandhi continues to challenge the Government to arrest him and is reported to have a new plan in mind if the authorities persist in governing him.

Gov. Sir Frederick Sykes again has canceled his tour of the southern districts of the presidency, owing to the growing political tension.

Speaking to a crowd of villagers yesterday, Gandhi said: "Either I shall return with what I want or my dead body will float on the ocean."

QUEEN VICTORIA OF SWEDEN, LONG AN INVALID, DIES

End Comes at Rome Where She Had Winter Home—Married King Gustav in 1881.

By Associated Press.
ROME, April 4.—Queen Victoria of Sweden, long an invalid, died here today.

King Gustav, who had been visiting in Naples, returned here to their wedding took place at Karlshuset on Sept. 20 of the same year. Victoria had learned the Swedish language and after a few years it scarcely could have been recognized that she was not a native of her adopted country.

Three sons were born—Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus, who also has the title of Duke of Scania; William, Duke of Gothenland, who is an accomplished poet and novelist; and Erik, Duke of Vastergotland, who died in 1918.

From early girlhood, Queen Victoria was a physical culture enthusiast and fond of athletics. Thus, it was one of the ironies of fate that she should have developed a bronchial ailment, which for many years made it dangerous for her to live in the rigorous climate of Sweden. She spent her first summers in Sweden at the royal detached palace of Tuusula, not far from Stockholm, and when the climate there proved unfavorable a villa was erected for her on the Swedish island of Oeland, in the Baltic Sea.

In later years the climate there did not alleviate her trouble and she was obliged to make numerous trips to Italy, where she maintained a winter home, and to the island of Mainau, in Lake Constance, Bavaria, which had been willed to her.

Known as "Mother of the Land," notwithstanding her impaired health, Queen Victoria, by her sympathetic, charitable and genuinely unselfish nature, earned the affectionate titles of "model mother" and "mother of the land," expressions of sentiment that meant a great deal to her.

Interested in charity work, she drew the fire of two House Republican conferees, Treadway of Massachusetts and Bachrach of New Jersey, who charged the Texan was trying to muddy the waters by talking about what occurred behind the doors of the conference room.

Garner repeated that the country was entitled to know what the conferees were doing with the bill. He said the House should be permitted to vote on cases.

Some of Rates Agreed Upon.

SWEDEN'S QUEEN DEAD

By Associated Press.
JALALPUR, Bombay Presidency, India, April 4.—Mahatma Gandhi and his followers arrived tonight at Vijapur in the Jalapur district, nearing the end of their march to the Gulf of Cambay for the manufacture of salt in defiance of the Government monopoly.

Addressing a public meeting here, Gandhi said that the resignations of village headmen were more valuable than the recent resignation of the Pandit Malaviya and six other members of the legislative assembly, arguing that the headmen were an inalienable part of the Government's administrative machinery, while the members of the assembly merely gave polish to that machinery.

BOMBAY, India, April 4.—Well-informed circles said today that Mahatma Gandhi, who is leading the Indian Nationalist campaign for civil disobedience, will not be arrested unless he so forces the situation as to leave the Government no alternative.

The Mahatma and those devotees who have followed him from Ahmedabad, camped today at a village a few miles from Gandi, his ultimate destination. The place where it is said he will violate the salt laws, probably Sunday, is a low-lying land inundated by the sea tide. Stagnant water which accumulates there evaporates leaving a residue of salt which Gandhi proposes to collect in violation of the salt tax.

Gandhi continues to challenge the Government to arrest him and is reported to have a new plan in mind if the authorities persist in governing him.

Gov. Sir Frederick Sykes again has canceled his tour of the southern districts of the presidency, owing to the growing political tension.

Speaking to a crowd of villagers yesterday, Gandhi said: "Either I shall return with what I want or my dead body will float on the ocean."

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 4.—Thirteen men were killed and eight injured in a firedamp explosion in a coal mine at Elouges, near Mons, last night. Two of the injured men, seriously hurt, were taken out by rescue crews.

The explosion occurred as an electrically controlled dynamite charge was detonated. The miner in charge of the operation declared that all precautions had been taken and that there was no trace of firedamp before the accident.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of all people, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunder, never lack sympathy for the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely trifling news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A Plan to Stimulate Industry.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

If we could extend our practice as automobile owners and replace machinery and buildings when they reached a point where, as compared with new, they are no longer economical, we would add tremendously to our well being. There are many thousands of readers of the Post-Dispatch employed in manufacturing plants who will testify that the machines they operate and the buildings they live and work in are by no means up to date.

It is a mistake to suppose that it is not practicable successfully to encourage the owner to modernize his home or plant. Some unknown genius in Washington found the remedy when the matter of good roads was first considered, and by the simple arrangement of Federal aid practically compelled the states to get busy building them. Afterward the same principle was applied to inheritance taxes, forcing the states to get busy with self-interest, to make these uniform and generally speaking much higher than the average state legislature deemed politically wise.

If now, in its wisdom, Congress would add a short paragraph to the income tax law, providing that from the tax as calculated, an amount not in excess of say 25 per cent of same might be deducted if expended for new equipment, buildings or other capital investments, including, of course, homes, it seems certain that at once to a great extent unemployment would cease. I do not offer this suggestion as a permanent cure for unemployment, but as a specific, which if promptly administered will immediately relieve the present condition. I might add that there is nothing particularly radical about the suggestion, as the same theory was applied through relief from taxation to encourage home building in New York to replace the war shortage.

There is, of course, in Congress at this time unmistakable evidence of the bitter and long conflict between country and city and the very few farmers would be directly benefited by the privilege of making a deduction from their income taxes, because, unfortunately, they pay none, the representatives of agriculture might conclude that the scheme would be another city trick. This I think, would be a very short-sighted view, for unemployment reduces the ability of the city to buy, and as practically all lines of agriculture produce all the market can consume even at the peak of employment, a lessening of demand, thereby creating a surplus, affects the price seriously.

ACCOUNTANT.

As to Ex-Premier Drury.

REFERRING to ex-Premier Drury's testimony that Government control of liquor is a failure in Canada: Let me say to you that I lived in Ontario for over half a century and know something about Mr. Drury. He failed in his term as Premier. He could not hold the job. What he says regarding the liquor traffic there should be taken with a grain of salt.

Premier Ferguson brought back liquor under Government control because he found that the law could not be enforced while the majority of the people were against it.

I voted for the dry act in Canada, thinking it would be a good thing for the country, but after some years of its trial I saw things were worse than they were before the act was passed. I now see that people cannot be legislated into Heaven. They cannot be forced to do anything, but they can be led. I do not imblime, neither am I a teetotaler.

The dry fanatics are forever saying that the open bar will be back again. Why so? It need not be. That can easily be avoided. Canada does not have bars. The only way to handle the liquor traffic is to put it under Government control.

List the Trunkholde.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

YOU certainly deserve admiration in your fight against prohibition. There is no doubt but that this prohibition cancer has done more harm than the Big Bertha did during the war, and if this cancer is not successfully cured soon it will not be long before a highly polished bootlegger will be "His Majesty" of this so-called land of Liberty.

Here is a suggestion for the future. Why make criminals out of men who?

Why deprive 150,000,000 people of their rights and liberty on account of a few drunkards? Use the German system by having the national trunkholde (Trunkholde) punish the men and women who sell to those who help them to get drunk. I would my contribution to life.

PROGRESS AT LONDON.

Reports from the London conference are encouraging. It now seems certain that the United States, Great Britain and Japan will agree to a three-Power treaty for limitation of naval armament. Such a result may not write the conference a success, but it assuredly will quash the verdict of failure which has been prematurely pronounced.

A three-Power treaty which leaves out the navies of France and Italy presents obvious objections. Britain may be forced by the continental situation to increase her navy, which would leave the United States and Japan free to build more warships. The conference is quite aware of this danger, and it is merely using a three-Power agreement as a means of building up to a five-Power agreement. The good will engendered by the Anglo-American-Japanese agreement is a potent force for general agreement.

Senator Reed, to whom was entrusted the task of bringing Japanese and British views into agreement with our requirements, has made this admirable statement of the case:

All three delegations have been frank and fair. I cannot imagine more pleasant negotiations than these have been. The result was not a victory for anyone but an honorable and reasonable settlement between the three.

That is the spirit in which, it was hoped, the entire parley would be conducted. There never was any place in the project for sharp bargaining or blunting or the duplicity of superior diplomacy. That day has disappeared from the international calendar, if the pretensions and professions of the nations are sincere.

Meantime the possibility of a five-Power treaty, supposedly dead last week, has been revived. France and Great Britain have drafted a formula which, it is hoped, may be edited into acceptability. In any event, progress toward an understanding has been made. And that progress, whatever the outcome of the present conference, will be so much ground gained when next the nations meet.

It is clear to everybody now, except the chauvinists, that relief from the burden of armaments is to be achieved only by repeated conferences. That this process will ultimately win may, we believe, be assumed. Consider the difference in the moral circumstances of the present conference and that of Geneva. No delegation to the Geneva conference experienced any embarrassment for the failure. There was no sense of culpability. There was no reproachful public opinion awaiting the return of those delegations. But if this London conference had failed the disappointment would have encircled the globe. There is material progress, in our opinion, in this psychology. When no nation can afford to bear the stigma of responsibility for the failure of a disarmament conference, the world is moving toward disarmament. To that position the world has advanced, on the testimony of London.

"THE LILIES AND LANGUORS."

When the movie became the talkie (perhaps we ought to say when motion picture art progressed from pantomime to sound) something had to be done. Will Hays has done it. He has formulated a new code which is clearly designed to make the picture of the future as unobjectionable as business will permit.

Heretofore the motion picture has, in the words of Mr. Swinburne, disclosed

The lilies and languors of virtue, the roses and raptures of vice.

Good-by to the roses and raptures. Not literally, of course. Say what you will, to err is human still. We may be galloping headlong to perfection, but we have not quite got there yet. The peccabilities, therefore, will have to be commanded in the elucidation of the plot, but the commanding will be done delicately, sparingly, yes, miserly. Nobody will be unnecessarily offended. No one's pet prejudices will be trampled on. If a highball has to be served it will be served sorrowfully. If somebody has to be kissed, it will be no such Marathon affair as we used to witness when the screen was dumb. The talkie kiss is to be a swift, deft, prophylactic event. If the situation unavoidably demands that the multiplication table be recited it will be recited correctly. School children attending the pictures will not be contaminated by arithmetical blunders. And the grammar will be the best that the sunshine of Hollywood can grow.

Some of the newspapers, we are grieved to see, are not properly impressed with the czar's exequator to the talkie art. For instance, the New York World says that Mr. Hays "descended from Sinai." We should say he went all the way up the stately steps for his pluperfect injunctions.

Heigho for the lilies and languors!

GLIDING ACROSS THE CONTINENT.

Having grown accustomed to trapeze performers who hang suspended from planes by their teeth and to pilots who make their craft turn hundreds of flipflops, all in the interest of science, it is refreshing to meet Capt. Frank M. Hawks. He is riding across the country in a glider hitched to the tail of an airplane, and is now rounding into the home stretch on his way east from St. Louis. Capt. Hawks does not talk about dead old science or aviation progress or pioneering in the clouds. He is making the trip as an exploit, with the frank purpose of arousing interest in gliding as a sport.

Towing of gliders by airplanes was forbidden by the Department of Commerce several weeks ago, as being hazardous and serving no purpose, after several fatalities had occurred. Capt. Hawks got special permission to make the attempt, however, since his glider, the Eagle, is built much stronger and is more efficient than the ordinary type. His progress across the continent is no joy ride. The tiny craft bucks and pitches in the air currents, resembling nothing so much as a kiddy car being pulled by a railway locomotive. At one point the tow line was jerked in two and Hawks set the glider down safely on an adjacent air field. He guides the course of the "air train" by a telephone to the plane's pilot, "Duke" Jernigan. Were it not for this back-seat driving the glider would have little chance to survive the 2300-mile journey.

Capt. Hawks, in pioneering the glider, may be achieving more for aeronautics than his modest disclaimer of scientific laurels would indicate. Being a comparatively inexpensive sport, gliding has large possibilities in making the public air-minded. The flying student's most difficult task is in learning to come down safely, and since gliding consists of little more than soaring and descending, its value in the training field is obvious. Capt. Hawks is providing an interesting exploit to thrill the public, and is doing much more than that at the same time.

POOR PROMOTER NEWMAN!

The mess Promoter Newman got himself into when he tried to exploit the local street railway system is emphasized by the report of the Finance Committee of the Transportation Survey Commission.

Had Promoter Newman himself written the report he could not have done better. And what does the report say? It says the City of St. Louis has only the bitter choice of extending the franchises of the street car property or buying it as a municipal system. In other words, if we do not permit Promoter Newman to sell this dying horse to the public in a distant market we must buy it.

The committee submitted this report on All Fools' day, which was the right day for it. The make-believe of All Fools' day is not supposed to outlast the day itself, and the make-believe in this report is already as dead as all the other fests of April 1. The city is reduced to no such bitter choice as the report indicates. Promoter Newman came into St. Louis and bought the street railways upon his own initiative, and it is none of the city's worry how he gets himself out of his predicament. The business of the city is to see that he does not get possession of the streets for any period of time beyond the life of the present franchise. This is a period of transition in transportation. The street car is passing. It may have become completely obsolete within the approximately 12 years the franchises in St. Louis are supposed to run.

The argument as to whether it would be wise to extend those franchises and surrender the city's right to make whatever use of the streets the future may dispose of is over. The Mayor and all but one of the 28 Aldermen have declared themselves for home rule. The community itself has become convinced that franchises are also things of the past. They serve only the purpose of exploitation and corruption. The history of franchises in St. Louis during the last 30 years reads like a story by Alexander Dumas. It is a story of theft and flight, of hoodlums and robbery, of safe-blowing and bribery. St. Louis has turned her back upon that dark chapter. The attempt to get a franchise, even to set the City Charter aside to get one, spent itself in the battle for the terminable permits bill. That was its Waterloo, and it can no more come back from that decisive defeat than Napoleon could come back from St. Helena.

The city would be in pretty business taking this decrepit old Dobbin off Promoter Newman's hands and assuming in addition approximately $12,000,000 of water pumped into the valuation by the fantastic theory which obtains under State regulation. Let Promoter Newman worry about his financial problems. The city has its own financial problems to worry about. Meanwhile, the city can make progress toward home rule over metropolitan transportation and fares by attacking the validity of some of the franchises the street railway company holds now. There is no reason why Promoter Newman should hold the offensive in a matter of such great importance to the city. The city itself can assume the offensive, and the moment it does so what was designed as a raid will become a rout.

COMFORT FOR DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

Gaston Doumergue, President of France, gazes at the calendar, sees the end of his term approaching, and sighs with relief. "I feel just as I did in the days when I was doing my military duty," he says. "A month or two before being 'liberated' I scratched off every day of the calendar with a big red pencil."

Meantime an American statistician points out that the span of life of our ex-Presidents has been shrinking since the early days of the Republic. "It is a disquieting fact," he reports, "that we must go back 56 years before we find in Fillmore an ex-President who came to the end of his life at a more advanced age than did Mr. Taft." And the news from Moscow has it that one reason Stalin stays in virtual seclusion in the Kremlin is because of the possibility of assassination.

Democratic presidential candidates have their consolation cup.

The Angora Government of Turkey, with problems to solve, wants to find out how the United States copes with crime. Frankly, valuing the good name of America as we do, we hope the Turks don't find out.

ELECTION FIGURES AND THE DIGEST POLL.

Before the last presidential election, the prediction was freely made that Gov. Smith would carry the large cities by comfortable majorities. This was based on the supposition that the cities, being wet, would support a wet candidate for President. As it turned out, of the 14 largest cities, Hoover carried eight (Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Buffalo and Cincinnati) and Smith only six (New York, St. Louis, Boston, Cleveland, San Francisco and Newark). Various attempts were made to explain this result, the dyes of course construing it to mean that the wetness of the cities had been exaggerated. Early returns in the Literary Digest poll settle the point. They show tremendous wet majorities in cities that voted for Hoover.

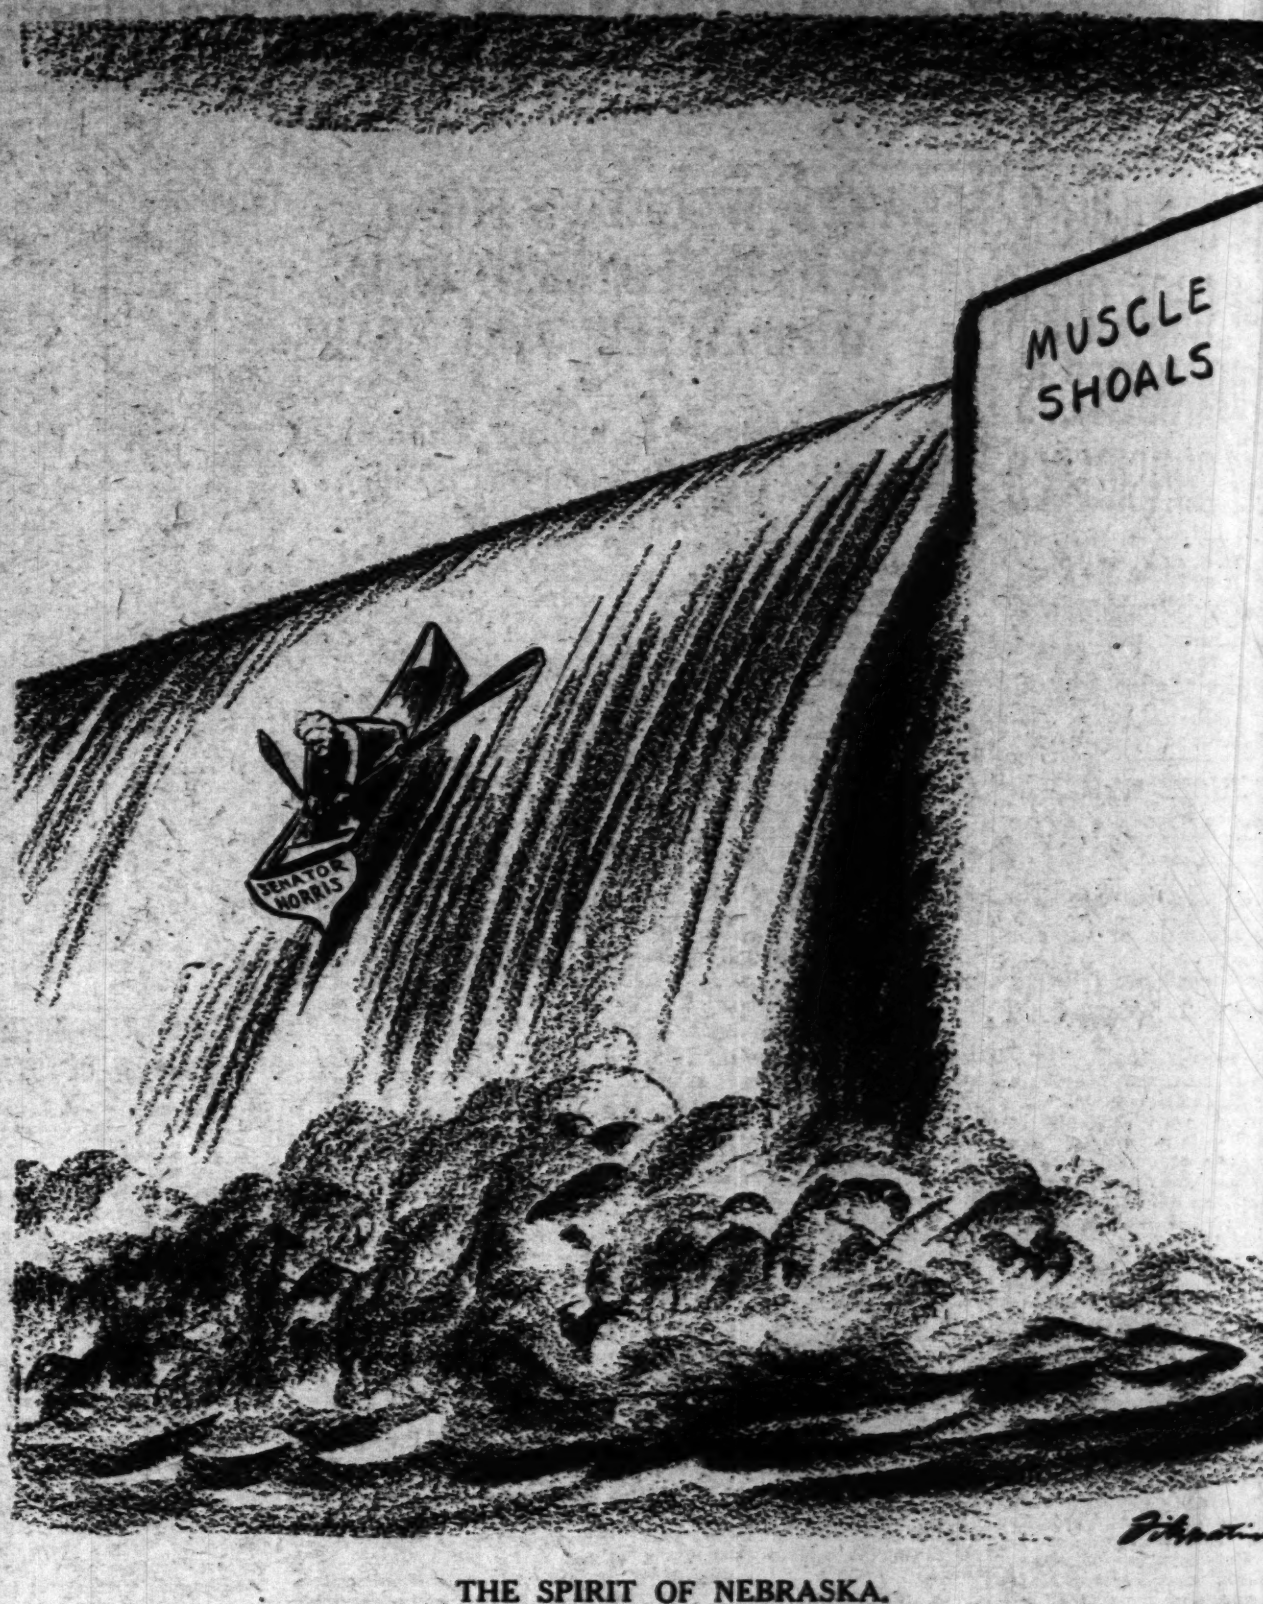

Los Angeles is the outstanding example. The presidential vote there was: Hoover, 371,198; Smith, 149,373. Hoover's plurality was 221,517, far greater than the entire vote for Smith. In the Digest poll, the early Los Angeles vote is as follows: For enforcement, 9211; for modification, 11,561; for repeal, 11,599. Counting modification votes as wet, Los Angeles is thus far against prohibition by a vote of 23,460 to 9211. In other words the situation is exactly reversed. Hoover won approximately 71 per cent of the entire vote, while up to the present the dyes have cast approximately 29 per cent of the Digest vote.

Other cities present similar reversals:

	Phila.	Pittsburgh	Detroit	Chicago	Delphia
Smith	32,245	157,729	824,102	269,997
Hoover	92,393	264,993	943,777	499,562
Hoover plurality	10,047	107,264	119,675	140,005
Enforcement	4,283	5,910	11,912	11,405
Modification	5,244	12,755	27,494	18,155
Repeal	11,129	21,775	45,682	44,602
Wet plurality	12,015	23,121	60,566	51,353

These figures constitute the clearest proof that the Smith-Hoover election was not a plebiscite on the prohibition question.

Third day of the census, and the noses still have it.

THE SPIRIT OF NEBRASKA.

Two Views of the Missouri U. Situation

Board of Curators assailed for presuming to appraise scientific value of questionnaire; "demagogic tactics" of Dr. Brooks criticised by liberal journal; member of Visitors' Board cites president's lack of diplomacy, but opposes using him as "goat"; thinks governing board should also resign if university's executive is forced out.

THAT "IMMORAL" QUESTIONNAIRE.

From The New Republic.

THE report submitted to the American Association of University Professors on the dismissal of Prof. De Graff and the suspension of Prof. Meyer from the University of Missouri is one of the most important statements ever issued by the Committee on Academic Freedom and Tenure. Most of the cases which have been considered by this committee have turned on the expression, inside or outside of college walls, of economic or religious views unacceptable to the supporters or patrons of the institution. In the present case, the professors mentioned were disciplined for employing a certain method of investigation, because the authorities thought, or pretended to think, that it would have some effect on the sexual morals of the students. Meyer and De Graff were responsible for a questionnaire submitted to women students as part of a sociological investigation, in which they were asked to answer anonymously several questions.

The president of the university and the Executive Board charged that this questionnaire "tended to make students sexually immoral"; that it was "harmful to students, especially to women students"; that it "could not produce any scientifically valid conclusion"; and that it "tended to create the condition that it is alleged to correct."

The situation is precisely as it is the Board of Trustees should forbid certain experiments in chemistry because they might introduce doubt as to the reality of transubstantiation.

The essential question in the case is the right of the Board of Curators to pass upon methods of investigation. The Committee on Academic Freedom and Tenure, in a footnote, states that it "expresses no opinion on the value of the questionnaire procedure, deeming this a question for the judgment of specialists in the field concerned." But the special committee, of which the chairman was Prof. A. J. Carlson, a physiologist trained in the exact method of the laboratory, while admitting that "the questionnaire is not a satisfactory fact-gathering device as the instruments of the other sciences," goes on to say that "it seems to be the most direct and at present the only available method of ascertaining what people regard to be right and wrong."

And in any case, says the committee, "it is presumptuous for the Board of Curators to make pronouncements about the scientific value of an investigation. . . . Scientific validity has never been established by any legal procedure or by the dictates of any board to pass on such matters is shown by its middle-headed remark about conditions which the questionnaire 'is alleged to correct.' With contemptuous terms the committee notes that there was nothing to indicate that the questionnaire intended to reform the students to whom it was sent. . . . Scientific investigation does not necessarily try to correct anything. Its first aim is the establishment of facts."

The report of the committee makes clear that the Board of Curators was led through out the entire episode by their man on the job, President Stratton D. Brooks, whose course was marked by the tortuousness and evasion which in college too often marks the administration of the presidential office. As the recognized means of communication between instructors and their employers, a president might be expected to use his utmost endeavors to promote understanding between them.

In this case, President Brooks gave the view-halloo to the pack as soon as the questionnaire broke as a newspaper scandal. He denounced the questionnaire as a "damnable idea" and "sewer sociology." He stated that he gave his unqualified approval to an editorial in the Columbia Daily Tribune which described the questionnaire as "filthy, degrading, immoral, revolting and perverted in character and tone." By resorting to such demagogic tactics, President Brooks committed the Executive Committee and the Board of Curators to a disciplinary action which, in later conference with representatives of the association, he indicated that he had opposed as too drastic.

SEEKING A GOAT AT MISSOURI U.

JOHN F. CASE is the Missouri Kuralt.

ACCORDING to press dispatches, Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University, is to lose his job this month. This report followed a meeting of the Board of Curators called after a new outbreak of criticism regarding the notorious sex questionnaire. And while reports state that the board still stands back of its decision in the matter of suspending one faculty member and discharging another, nobody over will believe other than that Brooks was fired to save the curators' faces—if he is fired.

As a member of the University Board of Visitors, which has no authority other than to make an annual inspection and to make recommendations to the Governor and the Legislature, I know something about this school. Stratton Brooks has made a good business head. Seven years ago it is true that a large sum of money was spent on repair of the president's residence. But the Board of Curators, not the president alone, was responsible. In the main, Stratton Brooks has conducted the work of the university efficiently and economically. And he has been good. That may not have increased his popularity with the faculty, but what is a president for?

Probably the chief criticism of President Brooks is his lack of diplomacy. He was a storm center in Oklahoma and has been more or less a storm center here. But it should not have taken seven years for the Board of Curators to find this out. This sex questionnaire episode was handled unskillfully. It should have been suppressed and the guilty persons disciplined without flaming headlines in the press. But when a body of presumably distinguished citizens attempts to "save face" by making an employe the goat, it might be well to have a new deal all around. If we are to have a new president, let us also have a new Board of Curators.

A Statement by the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers).

Quakers.

WE invite attention to the growing number of cases in which applicants for United States citizenship are being rejected because of their allegiance to a cause in the matter of war. The ruling in the case of Dr. Douglas C. M. Ingham raises the issue pointedly. Dr. Ingham, a professor in the Yale Divinity School, is obviously unusually qualified to become a citizen. He is rejected, however, for the reasons set forth by the Department as follows:

It appearing that the said petitioner, considering his allegiance to be found in the will of God, would not promise to bear arms in defense of the United States under all circumstances, but only if he believed the war to be morally justified, it is decreed, that the petitioner is not attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States and further decreed that said petition for citizenship is denied.

The Macintosh case is but one of an increasing number of applications of men and women rejected for similar reasons. This policy seems so unjust to the individual and so detrimental to the welfare that it is cause for grave concern.

Liberty of conscience is a cornerstone of all enlightened democratic governments. Denial of it is recognized as oppression. It is something more. For to strip the rights of free conscience is to strip the very heart of individual character and to undermine the foundations of our institutions. No modern Government such as ours can afford to ignore the people. America was long a haven of refuge for freedom-loving men and women persecuted in other lands. We refuse to let it now be the established policy of Government that we must obey men more than God, and that those who give their first allegiance to God are delayed in their citizenship.

Governments cannot always recognize the freedom of the individual conscience. We submit that they should always except where it clearly violates the law or religious sense of the community. This day when a constantly increasing number believe that war and Christianity are not reconciled and when all of the nations of the world have solemnly pledged war as an instrument of national policy, it clearly cannot be said that a conscientious refusal to bear arms violates moral or religious standards of our country.

At a time when the nations are striving for disarmament and the pacific settlement of disputes, the conscientious objection to war will be an asset rather than a liability. It will not set us a mere negative protest. It will be an active force for the good of our country and its service as helpful, as of many other citizens. He may be called upon more than most to support our country in its efforts to abolish war.

The policy of exclusion for conscientious objection is grossly undiscriminating, placing on a barrier to the applicant who is unscrupulous, or unthinking, or uneducated, and spiritually dull. It excludes such men as Dr. Macintosh, who could have been a valuable asset to the country in the founding of Pennsylvania, would today exclude a Ramsey Macintosh.

Unique
THE PURPLE CLOUD. By M. P. Shiel.
(Vanguard Press, N. Y.)

THE name of M. P. Shiel is known to all who read the pulp magazines. America with the publication of "The Purple Cloud" has a new author. "How the Old Woman Got Home" is the author's first novel. It is a story of a man who has been dead for 50 years and had a long list of novels to his credit, though even in England he lives and where all of his work first appeared, he was quite unknown to the larger reading public. Even now, though something of a Shiel boom is in progress, it is hardly to be said that there is a Shiel handwagon on our literary highways.

In addition to the novel here, the following books by Shiel have appeared in America: "How the Old Woman Got Home," "Cold War," "The Lord of the Sea," and "The Secret of the Sea." "The Purple Cloud" is undoubtedly the most powerful of these, and is generally considered a masterpiece. First published in England 23 years ago, it made a deep impression upon certain literary connoisseurs, but the rest of the world remained little more than a whisper in the general chaos of the literary market. It is the book to which the newly translated Shiel fans in America have been looking forward eagerly, and most certainly it will not disappoint them.

In a world "so full of a number of things" as this one is, the epic of "The Purple Cloud" is a rare thing. It is rarely to be used in its correct sense, especially in speaking of books; but it is fairly certain that "The Purple Cloud" is a story of a man who has been dead for 50 years and had a long list of novels to his credit, though even in England he lives and where all of his work first appeared, he was quite unknown to the larger reading public. Even now, though something of a Shiel boom is in progress, it is hardly to be said that there is a Shiel handwagon on our literary highways.

DRY DIRECTING LITERARY DIGEST PROHIBITION POLL

William S. Woods, Editor, Accused of Favoring Wets, Personally for Enforcement, It Is Learned.

FOUNDERS WERE BOTH VERY DRY

'Bosh' Only Comment on Charge of Favoritism to 'Moist' Sections—Magazine Itself Neutral.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, April 4.—William Seaver Woods, editor of the Literary Digest, the man in charge of that publication's 20,000,000 ballot prohibition poll, who has been indirectly accused by the dries of favoring the wets and conducting a poll that is detrimental to the prohibition cause, is a drier. Although Woods, following himself the policy of strict neutrality adopted by the Digest in all controversial issues, declined to speak for publication on that subject, nevertheless, the Evening Post, learned authoritatively that Woods personally is for enforcement. His prohibition opinions are well known to his associates at 354 Fourth avenue, where the returns are being tabulated. Also, quirkily enough, on the twentieth floor at 254 Fourth avenue, in the offices of the Digest, in the reception room, there hang two stern-faced portraits. One is of "Old" (he was so referred to because of his venerable aspect and not from disrespect), Dr. Isaac K. Funk, and the other is of "Old" Dr. Adam Wagnalls. They were the founders of Funk & Wagnalls, publishers of the Literary Digest. Both drier, very drier. In fact, Dr. Funk was so drier that he founded what used to be known as "Prohibition Park" in Staten Island, and worked actively for the cause. Both venerable doctors are dead, but the prohibition poll is going merrily on and on. To determine just how fair derogatory statements about it are, the Evening Post sent a representative to the Literary Digest.

"Bosh," Woods' Reply to Critics. "Bosh," is the one word answer that Woods—remember he's a drier—made to all statements that particular wet sections were being favored; that dry states received few ballots; that wets were picked out on the mailing list. Woods was asked about Dr. Clarence True Wilson. It will be recalled that Dr. Wilson advised an audience to vote three times in the poll if they happened to have three ballots. Dr. Wilson, it is true, later modified this advice somewhat, but the impression he gave has not been modified.

"What do you think of that advice?" Woods was asked. "I have nothing to say," was the reply. Woods was reminded that nothing to say might mean a great deal to say and that after all, the head of the Digest poll should make some comment regarding the state of mind of Dr. Wilson. So, prevailed upon, Woods only amplified his "Nothing to say," by declaring that the Digest has always maintained and always will maintain its neutral policy.

All Ballots Carefully Checked. The Evening Post learned, however, that the Digest is well aware that certain people might try and vote several times and all ballots are being carefully checked.

The truth of the matter is that it is perfectly possible and legal for a man or woman to receive three ballots and vote three times. It so happens that in addition to the 20,000,000 ballots, a poll that should be termed general, there are five supplementary ballots, all on the same subject. These supplementary ballots are each confined to members of the following professions or classes: Subscribers to the Digest, clergymen, all denominations; lawyers, doctors, teachers and bankers. The returns from clergymen are said to be very interesting.

It was learned that 116,000 ballots have been sent to the clergy, 132,000 to the lawyers, 155,000 to the doctors, 500,000 to the teachers and 219,000 to the bankers. So, a man might easily receive one ballot in the general poll, a second because he is a Digest subscriber and a third because he is a clergyman. However, each of the ballots has a distinguishing mark and will be counted in the particular poll to which it belongs.

600,000 Ballots to Iowa. To return to the charge that dry states have been slighted, Woods replied the reporter that Senator Brookhart of Iowa publicly said that only 17,000 ballots had been sent to Iowa. When he made the charge, 30,000 ballots from Iowa already had been received back in the mails and on a matter of record more than 600,000 ballots were mailed to Iowa.

Woods declined to tell how many ballots had been mailed to each State in the Union. However, he offered to give figures on a few, and the reporter chose New York, New Jersey, Kansas, Tennessee and Florida.

New York State, with an estimated population of 11,422,000, has received 2,129,000. New Jersey, population 2,733,000, has received 596,000 ballots. Kansas (remember Kansas is voting bona fide), population 1,323,000, received 417,000; Tennessee, population 2,435,000, received 258,000; Florida, population 1,353,000, received 235,000 ballots.

On the basis that there are 120,000,000 persons in the United States the poll works out in such a way that about one-sixth of the population in each State has received ballots.

Funk & Wagnalls were publishers of The Voice, prohibition party weekly organ, which in the '80s and '90s was the most aggressive of dry publications.

Foreclosure proceedings are

THREE-POWER PACT NOW BEING CONSIDERED AT NAVAL PARLEY

happy over that agreement, say work is being continued steadily on all fronts, with the probability of a brief holiday at Easter.
The British had hoped for conclusion of the conference by "budget day," April 14, but there is no expectation generally, however, that the negotiations will be finished by the end of April.

Admiral and Mrs. Takarabe of the Japanese representation here, will leave shortly for Tokyo by way of Siberia, so that the Japanese naval minister may be present when the naval estimates come up in the Diet.

How Reed and Castle Friendship Brought Back With Tokyo.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 4.—Indicates of Senator Reed, who has been acclaimed the principal negotiator of the American-Japanese agreement of the London naval conference, are commenting on the part Reed's next door neighbor played in making the understanding possible.

They refer to William R. Castle, special American Ambassador to Japan, and one of Reed's closest friends. Both are members of a group who bowl in winter and residing in the summer. Castle was sent to Japan at about the time
Reed went to London.

While the Senator was holding conversations with Ambassador Matsuoka of Japan in London, Ambassador Castle was advocating the pact at the Japanese foreign office in Tokyo.

Due to his friendship for Senator Reed and his eagerness to insure the success of the negotiations, Castle kept the Senator informed, friends say, by daily cable reports.

Ambassador Castle is a native of Hawaii and was drafted temporarily for the Japanese post from an assistant secretaryship of state.
When he and Senator Reed were both in Washington, scarcely a day passed which did not find them in each other's company. Castle has under construction, side by side, new residences on E street, near the house occupied by President Roo-ver before he entered the White House.

After yesterday's session, in which 22 disputed tariff rates were settled by the conference, Garner said to the waiting press correspondents that he was ready to announce what had been done.
"Come inside," interposed Smoot, who appeared in the doorway. "I'll give you every price agreed upon. I want to make sure that all you fellows get this accurately." He then told in detail of the rates agreed upon.

Some of the rates agreed upon were: Boric acid, one cent a

Meanwhile, William Butterworth, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, sent a letter to the Conference Committee asking that the flexible provision written into the measure by the House be retained. Organized business, he said, was convinced of the principle of flexible adjustment of tariff rates.

throughout most of her life. Queen Victoria increased her activities in that direction at the outbreak of the World War. She formed the Queen's Central Committee to organize and direct the private charity aid within the country and also showed great interest in the activities of the Swedish Red Cross, the soldiers' and sailors' homes and the pioneers of Lapland.

Many times during the war she made visits to her aged mother at Karlshamn, where that old woman troughed with danger. On one of these occasions French flyers in 1915 bombarded the royal palace where the Queen was staying.
She was on a similar visit in No-

GAIN IN ALCOHOL PATIENTS IN YEAR AT CITY HOSPITAL

Three hundred more cases of alcoholism were treated at City Hospital during the fiscal year which ended March 31 than in the preceding year, according to the annual report of the hospital now being completed. The records show that 569 alcoholism patients were admitted last year, an increase of 255 over the previous fiscal year.

This is the second successive year in which the records indicated four-and-a-half-fold increase. Prior to the year ending March 31, 1929, the figures indicated a decline.

BARS 'SHEPHERD' IN MODERN VERSION OF THE 23D PSALM

Swarthmore Professor Would Read It: "The Lord Is My Automobile's Low Gear."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Dr. Jesse H. Holmes, professor of philosophy at Swarthmore College, speaking yesterday in Columbia University's symposium on religion as the representative of Quakerism, urged scrapping the pastoral definition of God contained in the Twenty-third Psalm, "The Lord is my Shepherd," as meaningless today because modern city dwellers cannot be expected to know anything about sheep. In its place, he said, should be substituted concepts less out of date and more personal, but yet containing the idea of protection and help which was expressed by the pastoral folk of 30 centuries ago in the figure of the shepherd. He suggested as modern psalms to express this same reverence and faith:

"The Lord is my automobile's low gear to help me in climbing hard hills."

"The Lord is my antiseptic in times of dangerous epidemics."

"The Lord is sunlight in my room, bringing me the health of ultra-violet rays."

The danger to our religious faith, Dr. Holmes said, is that religion has become secondhand. "Most religion nowadays is quoted," he said, "it is derived from the experiences of somebody else, but has no real basis in our own experience. 'The Lord is my Shepherd' tells us practically nothing about God. It is a sentimental phrase vaguely suggesting sheep. And what can that possibly mean to us of the city and the twentieth century?"

CHILD BADLY HURT WHEN STRUCK BY BACKING AUTO

Frank Saupio, 3, Suffers Concussion of Brain; Two Other Accidents.

Frank Saupio, 3 years old, suffered concussion of the brain yesterday when he was struck by the automobile of Jay Seidel, 5243 Calver avenue, who was backing his automobile from a parking space in front of the child's home at 1224 Blair avenue. Seidel took the boy to city hospital.

Police are searching for the woman driver of an automobile who fled after striking Clara Buerk, 13-year-old daughter of Joseph Buerk, as she skated across the street in front of her home, 5553 Frange avenue, early last night. The driver stopped, got out of the machine and inquired if anyone was hurt, but immediately left. At city hospital the girl was found to have suffered lacerations and abrasions and was taken home. Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ahl, 2809 Iowa avenue, were injured last night when their automobile was demolished between two Park street cars. Ahl, an engineer, was driving north in Missouri avenue and was struck by a westbound car as he made a left turn into Park avenue. His machine was crushed between the first car and an eastbound car. He suffered fractured ribs and internal injuries. Mrs. Ahl was cut and bruised.

30-PASSENGER PLANE FLIES FROM HERE TO KANSAS CITY

By the Associated Press.

The F-32 arrived here Wednesday from Cleveland with 18 passengers and a crew of three, and made four flights over the city yesterday. The plane is the first of six similar ships ordered by Western Air Express for passenger service between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

FUNERAL OF J. C. MITCHELL

Funeral services for James Carson Mitchell will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of his aunt, Mrs. David W. Mitchell, 1817 Myrtle avenue. ### UTILITY ABANDONS FIGHT TO RETAIN SALEM, MO., PLANT

Missouri Utilities Company Announces It Will Comply With Order of City to Remove Its Property.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 4.—

Abandonment by the Missouri General Utilities Company of its fight against ouster of its electric light and power plant from Salem, Mo., and withdrawal of the company from the town, where it has been competing with a new municipally owned electric plant, was announced here yesterday by attorneys for the company.

The Salem council last October passed an ordinance ordering the company to cease operations in Salem and remove its property from the streets after the town had refused to renew the franchise of the company, which expired in January, 1929. The ordinance allowed the company 90 days in which to remove its property, and the company has been resisting that order.

Upon expiration of the 90-day period, without compliance by the company with the ordinance, officials of Salem, Feb. 17 instituted a quo warranto proceeding in the Missouri Supreme Court in the name of Attorney-General Stratton Shartel, to oust the company.

Refused to Reduce Rates

The period allowed the company for filing its answer to the suit in Supreme Court expired today.

Noah W. Simpson of Jefferson City, and William F. Elmer of Salem, attorneys for the company, announced that the company would not file an answer, and would request dismissal of the suit, because the company was ceasing operation in Salem and would remove its property.

Abandonment of operations by the company also will terminate an unusual rate case before the Missouri Public Service Commission in which the town of Salem is opposing a proposed electric rate reduction by the Missouri General Utilities Company, charging it was not made in good faith but was an attempt to wreck the business of the Salem municipal plant.

Construction of a municipal electric plant in Salem resulted in part from a refusal of the Missouri General Utilities Co. to reduce its electric rates. The municipal plant was completed and placed in operation last October.

Soon thereafter, the company filed a new rate schedule with the public service commission, proposing to reduce its maximum rate from 15 cents a kilowatt hour to 13 cents, and reducing its minimum rate from 10 cents a kilowatt hour to 6 cents.

The commission suspended this rate schedule for investigation.

After Mayor G. H. Slawson filed a protest on behalf of the town, declaring the proposed rates were intended to cripple the new municipal plant. The case is pending for decision, but will be dismissed because the company is withdrawing from the town.

Losses All But 100 Customers.

A suit filed in Dent County Circuit Court, attacking the legal power of the town to enter into a contract for the purchase of machinery and other equipment for the municipal plant from the earnings of the plant will be carried to a conclusion, company attorneys said. This suit was filed by the company's attorneys in the name of a taxpayer.

The Missouri General Utilities Company operates in several other southeast Missouri towns, including Rolla, St. James, Steele-ville, Bloomfield, Marble Hill, Luttrell, St. Charles, St. Marys, Wittenberg, Altenburg and Perryville. The company is controlled by the American Utilities Company, a holding concern which recently was acquired by the Associated Gas and Electric Co., a large public utility holding company.

The Missouri General Utilities
Company has been losing customers to the municipal plant since the latter plant started operations.
Attorneys for the company today stated the company now was furnishing service to only about 100 of the 625 connections it formerly served. The company now is preparing to remove its property from the streets and might sell some of it to the municipal plant, it was said.

REQUEST FOR U.S. TO FINISH ILLINOIS WATERWAY OK'D

House Committee Approves Recommendation of Gen. Brown, Calling for Expenditure of $7,500,000.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The House Rivers and Harbors Committee today unanimously approved a report submitted by Major-General Lytle Brown, Chief of the Army Engineers, which recommended that the Government take over the Illinois waterway project. The report also recommended appropriation of $7,500,000 for completing the link between the Great Lakes and the Mississippi River inland waterway system.

A provision that the whole question of water diversion from Lake Michigan would remain unaffected was incorporated in the report. This action was taken by the committee after Chairman Dempsey had obtained approval of the provision from Attorney-General Clegg, Carlstrom of Illinois and representatives of the Mississippi Valley and the Lake States.

Brigadier-General Beakney, Assistant Chief of Army Engineers, assured the committee today that 1800 second feet of water from Lake Michigan would be sufficient to maintain commercial navigation on the entire waterway. Illinois interests, however, did not wish such a limit written into the bill, while other lake cities wanted the entire matter of diversion left to the Supreme Court.

The effect of approval today will be that the project will be incorporated in the omnibus rivers and harbors bill, which is expected to be reported by the committee within the next week or two.

Representative Hull (Rep.), Illinois, told the committee that the project had the approval of President Hoover.

State Rep. Spent $15,500,000. Gen. Brown said the State of Illinois had expended $15,500,000 on the waterway, and that after the $20,000,000 appropriated by that State for the project had been spent, Federal expenditures should begin because the physical work was only about 75 per cent complete.

The channel he proposed would be nine feet deep, under Government control, and $235,000 would be allowed annually for maintenance and operation.

Acquisition and completion by the Government of the waterway was recommended today before the committee by Brigadier-General Beakney of the Army Corps of Engineers.

LONGEVITY RATE FOR WOMEN DECREASE DURING 10 YEARS

Nevertheless, Members of the Sex Have Better Chance Than Men to Live to Reaching Age of 70.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Dorothy G. Wahl of the Milbank Memorial fund's reserve staff has announced that Federal Census Bureau figures show American women on now have less chance of living to old age than women had ten years ago, although women have better chances of reaching the age of 70 than men have.

Miss Wahl's report was based on a study of deaths among adults from 1921 to 1927, and said during that period infant causes were responsible for 55 to 85 per cent of all deaths in the United States after the age of 35. These are tuberculosis, heart disease, cancer, diabetes, cerebral hemorrhage and apoplexy, pneumonia, nephritis and accidents.

Miss Wahl said, lower death rates among babies and from infectious disease had increased the average length of life, but that death was taking an increasing toll among people in the prime of life and after middle age.

In the age group 35 to 74, the increase in deaths of men exceeded that of women by 320 a 100,000. The death toll for men exceeded the death toll for women in each of the causes studied, except diabetes.

FOR LAKE MICHIGAN DIVERSION AS AID TO 9-FOOT WATERWAY

R. I. Randolph, Consulting Engineer, Addresses East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

Maintenance of the Chicago diversion of water from Lake Michigan sufficient to provide a navigable depth in the projected Lakes-to-the-Gulf nine-foot waterway was urged by Robert Isham Randolph, consulting engineer, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce and officer of the Mississippi Valley Association, at the annual meeting of the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce last night at Broadview Hotel.

He pointed out the necessity for inland cities to improve their rivers as inexpensive traffic outlets, and the present and potential importance of East St. Louis as a meeting place of rail and river lines.

Arnold C. Johnson, elected last night for a third term as president, spoke of the urgency of the Chicago Creek cutoff, aviation, tax relief, street improvement, a new Union Station for East St. Louis and the problems to be solved in using the Free Bridge for rail traffic. Other officers are: Vice President, John S. Abbott; Treasurer, Paul Behlman; and manager, C. E. Jenks.

SPEEDBOAT OPERATOR SHOT, THOUGHT TO BE LIQUOR RUNNER

Burning Craft Crashes Into Canadian Dock; U. S. Patrol Reports No Missing.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 4.—A flaming speedboat with no one at the helm crashed against a liquor export dock at Windsor, Ont., about midnight last night, a liquor "run" was hanging over the dock.

An attendant at the dock dragged the man to safety before fire consumed his craft. At Grace Hospital here the man was identified as Steve Jurcke, 35 years old, of Chicago, a Detroit suburb. His face was partly shot away and a bullet had passed through his shoulder. After an operation physicians early today said he might recover.

AUTHORS AND PLAYWRIGHTS URGE CHANGE IN COPYRIGHT LAWS

Tell House Committee Demand for American Books Abroad Necessary Revision of Statutes.

WASHINGTON, April 4.—From eminent authors, playwrights and publishers yesterday told the House Patents Committee that a growing demand for American books abroad necessitates a sweeping change of the antiquated copyright laws.

Will Irwin brought before the committee Marc Connelly, playwright; Elmer Davis, novelist; Chester T. Crowell, Magazine writer; Thyra Samter Winslow, short story writer; and Edwin H. Hart, attorney for his author-wife, Frances Noyes Hart, who is ill.

They all urged that the Federal bill should give the individual author greater control over his product and permit this country to enter the International Copyright Union.

How Doctors Build Up Weak Bodies to Splendid Health

Yeast for Keen Appetite, Good Digestion. IRON for Rich Red Blood

Combined in Pleasant, Easy-to-Take-Tablets

If you drag through life weak, listless, nervous, with poor appetite and weak digestive powers, it is a sign your system lacks certain elements necessary to perfect health and strength. Elements found in Yeast and Iron are frequently just the ones needed.

If you are healthy, hearty, tireless, robust men and women, start today to get the Yeast and Iron, which may make you feel, look and act like a new person. They are combined in pleasant tasting tablets known as IRONIZED YEAST. Sold by all druggists.

Good Appetite and Good Digestion Your First Needs

Doctors prescribe Yeast as one of the quickest and best possible ways to promote a good appetite and good digestion. The Yeast first makes you want to eat hearty meals and then puts your digestion in such good order that you can assimilate what you eat.

Doctors advise Yeast even when the appetite is unimpaired, if you are run-down, nervous, weak or constipated. You have often heard that it is not what you eat but what you digest that does you the most good.

In other words, if you are enabled to eat heartily, and can digest all you eat, you will soon increase in health, strength, energy and physical appearance.

When you have taken Yeast and Iron in the form of IRONIZED YEAST for a short time, your appetite should improve and be like that of a healthy, hard-playing youngster, with equally good digestive powers.

Brewer's Malt Yeast for Quick Results
The best form of Yeast is that known as brewer's yeast. This is the kind used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is richer than most other forms of Yeast. It should also be combined with blood-enriching Iron. In this form, many say, it is far more effective than unmedicated yeast—gives results quickly. In IRONIZED YEAST this brewer's yeast is the kind used. These pleasant little tablets give you all the Yeast you need to build weight.

enter the International Copyright Union. Publishers, declaring that American authors were producing a far better product than ever before, attracting a foreign demand they cannot supply because of the simultaneous publication, ruling, also approved the bill. The high cost of attorneys capable of understanding the complicated copyright law, increasing the overhead on book production, was given as a reason for revision.

FIGHT FOR NATIONAL AIR TRANSPORT, INC.

United Aircraft and Curtiss-Wright Corporations Struggling to Control.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Reform by the directors of National Air Transport, Inc., yesterday to consider a merger offer made by the United Aircraft & Transport Corporation was followed last night by a statement from United that it would carry its stock exchange offer direct to N. A. T. stockholders in an effort to gain control of the company. Thus the stage seems to be set for a fight for control of N. A. T. between the two largest aviation companies in the country—the United and Curtiss-Wright corporations.
Charles M. Keys, N. A. T. director, also is president of Curtiss-Wright. Howard E. Coffin is chairman of the board of N. A. T. It was disclosed last night by Frederick B. Rentschler, president of United, that United had become the largest single N. A. T. stockholder. Rentschler announced that United would send out to all N. A. T. stockholders a letter making to them individually the same offer turned down by their directors. This offer will hold until April 15. The offer is one share of United for three and a half shares of N. A. T.

MARION DEBATORS WIN TITLE

MARION, Ill., April 4.—Marion Township High School Wednesday night won the debating championship of Southern Illinois by defeating Ashley, winner of Class B here and at Ashley. The subject for debate was "Resolved, that the United States should adopt a policy of disarmament." Marion had won in Class A over seven schools.
The affirmative team was composed of Charles Rodd, Virginia Montright and Edith Davis, the negative of Paul Dunham, Henrietta Herman and Albert Kueser.
ASSUMPTION, Ill., April 4.—Miss Helen Ramsey, daughter of Edward Ramsey, merchant of Assumption, was secretly married to William Markham of Assumption, senior in the Assumption Township High School, at Bloomington, Ill., last Feb. 4. It was learned recently that Mrs. Markham was graduated from the Assumption Township High School in 1924, and holds a position with the Illinois State Bank here.

DETAILS OF TRUE BILLS ON HOTEL ARSON PLOT

Four Defendants Are Accused of Murder of Seven Victims of Fire.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Details of the eight indictments against the four defendants in the Buckingham Hotel Annex arson and murder case were made public today, in the February grand jury's final report.
The four defendants are named in each of the indictments. The first of the indictments charges arson, in the willful setting of the fire which destroyed the Annex Dec. 5, 1927. The other seven indictments charge murder in the first degree, in the death of each of the seven persons who lost their lives in the fire.
Or the indicted men, Lewis E. Balaon, former chief owner of the Annex, is at liberty on $75,000 bond; Ralph Pierson, formerly minority owner of the hotel, and Andrew B. Meadows, night watchman of the Annex, are in City Jail; and Robert H. Cutham, night clerk of the Buckingham Hotel, is a prisoner in city hospital.
The State holds that the motive was to collect insurance. Cutham and Meadows have signed confessions, the latter stating that he set the fire, Balaon and Pierson have denied any knowledge of an arson plot.

MUSICAL COMEDY FOR BENEFIT OF NEGRO CATHOLIC PARISH

Proceeds to Go to Fund for New Church and School for St. Elizabeth's.
One hundred Negro high school students, members of the Young Catholic Crusaders of St. Elizabeth's Parish, are rehearsing "Flying Feet," a musical comedy to be given at the Odeon on the nights of April 24 and 25.
The play was written and will be directed by the Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J. Proceeds will go to a fund for a new church and parochial school for St. Elizabeth's, the only Negro Catholic parish in St. Louis.
The new buildings, to cost more than $200,000, will be west of Grand boulevard, according to the Rev. William M. Markoe, S. J., pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church. Father Markoe points out that 50 per cent of his parishioners live west of Grand and that present quarters of the school and church in the old Julius Walsh mansion at 2721, Park street are inadequate for his 2500 parishioners.
A similar play was given last year and Father Markoe hopes to make the event an annual one.
"Flying Feet" will have a chorus of 50 persons. Arthur Burgett and Lola Lindsay, both 17-year-old Summer High School students, are to play the leading roles.
Dies at Prayer After Explosion.
By the Associated Press.
KETTLE ISLAND, Ky., April 4.—John Engle, coal miner on week days and Baptist preacher on Sundays, died kneeling in prayer after the explosion in the Pioneer Coal Co. mine here last Saturday that killed 16 men. One of the rescue workers who helped bring out the bodies told today how Engle had been found, dead from the poisonous gas that followed the explosion. Engle regularly held services on Sunday among his fellow workers in this community.

FRENCH PRESIDENT GLAD TERM IS NEARING CLOSE

Domergue, a Bachelor, Boored by Social Functions He Must Attend Alone.
PARIS.—President Gaston Domergue is anxiously marking time until the end of his seven years in the French White House.
Being the President of France is really a bore, and a bigger bore than ever when one is a lonely old bachelor like "Gastounet," and must do all of his entertaining and attending public functions alone.
"I feel just as I did in the days when I was doing my military service. A month or two before being 'liberated' I scratched off every day of the calendar with a big red pencil."
Domergue says that he will retire to his old town of Agen, Vives in the Midi, will travel and work.

CHURCH HAS ITS OWN BUS

WILKINSONVILLE, Mass.—St. John's Episcopal Church here has its own bus line to assist parishioners from the sparsely settled country districts in getting to church on Sunday morning.
A group of church members presented a big coach to the parish for the purpose of picking up members in the neighboring towns of South Grafton, Milbury and Sutton who otherwise might be compelled to stay away from services.

By the Associated Press.
COFFEYVILLE, Kan., April 4.—Four young persons were gravely injured and two older women less seriously burned in the explosion of a gasoline drum at the Frank Maples farm, two miles north of Leipsch, Ok., yesterday.
The blast occurred when Bill and Lee Maples unloaded two steel drums of gasoline from a truck in the farm yard 40 feet from an open fire under a tub of wash water. The wind carried flames to the fire when the cap popped off one drum.

BROWNS MOVE FROM MEMPHIS TO KANSAS CITY FOR GAMES WITH BLUE HORNS

COFFMAN MAY GO NINE INNINGS; CROWDER'S GREAT FORM ENABLES TEAM TO WIN, 1-0, FROM CHICKS

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 4.—Bill Killefer and his traveling troupe of Browns returned to their home State today and prepared to meet the Kansas City Blues here in the first of a three-game series.

Following the example of endurance set by Al Crowder in Memphis yesterday, Dick Coffman may be asked to go the full nine innings today, or as far as the Blues may decide to let him.

Today's batting order will be that which Killefer has decided will open the season against the Tigers in Detroit on April 15. That is, with the exception of the pitcher, Sam Gray has been definitely decided upon to work opening day and Hale will bat second, with Kress fourth, Schulte fifth and Melillo sixth. Also, Ted Guille has won the starting post in right field.

Before the season starts, however, the Browns have to meet the Cardinals in the two-game city series. Killefer has given much thought to his pitching assignments for these games and has come to the conclusion that he will start Dick Coffman and Walter Stewart against Gabby Street's merry men. That will leave him Gray, Crowder, Collins and Ogden for the Detroit series.

Looks Like Crowder's Year.

Every time he pitches, Al Crowder is justifying Killefer's confidence in him. In the Memphis game yesterday, the former Senator went all the way, the first Browns pitcher to do so this season. And he was a masterful workman all the way. After two were out in the ninth, the Chicks made two of their four hits, but one of these was fair by inches past third and the other was an infield hopper which bounded over Crowder's head.

Crowder's work in the South is worthy of more than passing mention. He has pitched 19 innings, and, allowing only seven very scattered hits during that much going, has not been scored upon nor really threatened. Crowder has learned that a well-mixed assortment is better than a world of speed and a quick-breaking curve. And these days he is mixing them up with an artistic hand. Forrell handles the "General" splendidly, and the prediction that Al will be one of the real stars of the start this season can be made without fear that the prophecy will be proven false.

And, if the Browns are going anywhere this season unless there is an immediate and startling change of heart, Al will be the man who will have to be as effective as has been Crowder. Clubs of the slugging type like the Athletics, Yankees and Tigers can be expected to have a fair chance of winning if their pitchers hold the opposition to five or six runs. Not the Browns. The pitchers of this team must hold the foe to one or two or the old ball game is over with the enemy winner.

Five One-Run Victories.

As a rule a record which shows nine victories in 12 games is considered impressive. That's the record the Browns have made thus far. Five of these nine victories have been at the expense of the Milwaukee club and even with the

LES CANADIENS CAPTURE SECOND STRAIGHT GAME
BY 4-3 SCORE

MONTREAL, April 4.—The Montreal Canadiens captured their second straight game today, defeating the Boston Bruins 4-3 in a thrilling contest at the Montreal Forum.

The Canadiens, led by their star player, scored first in the first period. The Bruins responded in the second period, but the Canadiens regained the lead in the third period.

The victory gave the Canadiens a 2-1 lead in the series. The Bruins, who were the favorites, were defeated for the second time in three games.

The Canadiens' defense was solid throughout the game, and their offense was more effective than in their previous game.

The Bruins' attack was hampered by the Canadiens' defense, and they were unable to score in the first period.

The Canadiens' victory was a significant one, as it showed that they were capable of competing with the Bruins on their home ice.

The Bruins' loss was a disappointment, as they had been expected to win the series.

The Canadiens' fans were cheering loudly throughout the game, and their support was a major factor in the team's success.

The Bruins' fans were also cheering, but their support was not as strong as the Canadiens'.

The game was a classic example of the rivalry between the Canadiens and the Bruins.

The Canadiens' victory was a testament to their skill and determination.

The Bruins' loss was a setback, but they will not let it affect their performance in the future.

The Canadiens' fans were proud of their team's victory, and they were looking forward to the next game.

The Bruins' fans were disappointed, but they were still proud of their team's effort.

The game was a great one, and it was a pleasure to watch.

Training Camp Gossip

Grantham Leads Pirate Batters with .339 Average—Bill Walker to Hurl for Giants in Opener.

NEW ORLEANS, April 4.—The Cleveland Indians' squad in training here showed more cuts of the pruning knife today.

Business Manager Walter McNichols announced last night that two recruits, Rony Lawson, right-handed pitcher, and Jerry Harris, college catcher, who has been one of the sensations of the training season, both will join the Terre Haute club of the Three-I League.

The Indians, however, will keep strings on them.

This cut brings the squad within only seven above the limit to which it is to be pruned. The squad now numbers 32.

Much to the credit of Walter Simmons, brother of Al of the Athletics, the Indians yesterday defeated the New Orleans Pelicans, 6 to 4, on a rain-soaked field. He made four of the runs.

Grantham Leads Batters.
HOUSTON, Tex., April 4.—Gus Suhr's two home runs in yesterday's exhibition game here still was the chief topic of conversation among the Pittsburgh Pirates today.

The big first baseman's hitting has been one of the features of the Bucs' spring tour. Incidentally eight Pirates now are batting .300 or better. Grantham, with .339, is leading the regulars.

Walker to Hurl Opener.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 4.—Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants refuses to say who will pitch the opening game of the season, but the boys are guessing that Bill Walker, southpaw, will get the assignment. "I never announce my pitchers in advance," said McGraw. Some of them are high strung young fellows and lose sleep when they know they are going to pitch the next day. Right now the best looking pitcher in camp is Bill Walker. He is bigger and stronger than he was last year and has the confidence that goes with a successful season in the majors.

3000 Turn Out to See Ruth.
WICHITA FALLS, Tex., April 4.—The New York Yankees came to Wichita Falls, saw and were conquered, but the real winner was Babe Ruth. While the Tanks were losing to the local entry in the Texas League yesterday Ruth clouted two home runs, the second of which was one of the longest drives of his career. The center field fence here is 405 feet from home plate. Ruth's second drive cleared this barrier with plenty to spare and landed nearly 500 feet from the batter's box. More than 3000 fans turned out to watch the Babe and his mates.

Robins Drop Four Players.
MACON, Ga., April 4.—Release of four more players has cut the Brooklyn Robins' squad to 27. Southpaw Jim Paulkner, obtained from Buffalo of the International League, was returned to that club; Clarence Blethen, right-handed pitcher, was sent to Atlanta; Outfielder Max West to Jersey City of the International League, and Bob Farham, outfielder, to the Macon club of the South Atlantic League. The Dodgers attached strings only to Paulkner.

Three Good Fullbacks.
Frank Vaughn, Jimmy Nolan and Joe Hand are the outstanding fullbacks. Young Carl Dorley has gone away to play baseball.

In goal Charley LaBarge is still the best man available for such a game, even though Bill Clark did drop him from his list of regulars. Johnny Hamm, Sam Ducker, Madison Walsh and Bertel are all good goal guardians, but LaBarge has them all beat when he's in shape.

It is probable that McSweeney will have the squad together within a few days, provided the St. Louis Soccer League officials provide him a place to practice. Every day counts now for there is much to be done aside from merely selecting players.

FOR ARSENAL

By Dent McKimming.

Paul McSweeney, one-time star forward and later a very capable referee, who has agreed to act as coach of the St. Louis Soccer League squad from which a team will be selected to meet Arsenal of England in June, has a big task on his hands.

Two factors make his task especially difficult, one a lack of outstanding players and another the lack of a suitable, convenient practice site.

With no indoor park available, it will be impracticable to schedule practice games for the squad against teams from other cities.

Were it possible to select a team now and put it up against clubs from Detroit, Cleveland and the East in a series of exhibition games, a fine all-St. Louis eleven could be developed within the short space of two months, but such a program appears to be out of the question. Out-of-town teams are available, but the St. Louis Soccer League having no park of its own, cannot entertain visitors now, although weather conditions are ideal for the sport.

Room for Improvement.

Oscar Moosmann, coaching the Madison club in the 1928-29 season, proved that great improvement can be wrought in St. Louis soccer if the players are trained in ball control and general tactics. There is no question that McSweeney will be able to bring out a club worthy of representing St. Louis if he is given material and a suitable place to train.

At the conclusion of the regular league season, several weeks ago, there appeared to be a dearth of good players.

Of the forwards, Lou Ahrens, Eddie Flavin, Eddie Hart, Dinty Moore and Joe McCarthy, seemed to have the sort of ability that would stand up in a test against Arsenal. A dozen others will be available, including McKenny, Boehnke, Cronin, Kichham, Nash, Worden, Brengle, Curran, O'Shaughnessy, Foster, Mulroy, Prindle and others.

Bill Lehman would surely be the center halfback selection but the wing positions are great open spaces. Eddie Burke, Fink, Kane, Tracy, Benoit, Diaz, Oster, and Creak are the best of a very inefficient bunch of halfbacks. In no other department is St. Louis soccer so weak.

Three Good Fullbacks.

Frank Vaughn, Jimmy Nolan and Joe Hand are the outstanding fullbacks. Young Carl Dorley has gone away to play baseball.

In goal Charley LaBarge is still the best man available for such a game, even though Bill Clark did drop him from his list of regulars. Johnny Hamm, Sam Ducker, Madison Walsh and Bertel are all good goal guardians, but LaBarge has them all beat when he's in shape.

It is probable that McSweeney will have the squad together within a few days, provided the St. Louis Soccer League officials provide him a place to practice. Every day counts now for there is much to be done aside from merely selecting players.

Jockey Kummer
In Training for Turf Comeback

NEW YORK, April 4.—LARENCE KUMMER, who rode to fame on the renowned Man o'War, plans a comeback.

Each morning finds the erstwhile idol of the turf diligently striding to get in condition at Aqueduct. At present he is several pounds overweight but hopes to get down to riding poundage and at the same time regain the favor of the Jockey Club, which refused to grant him a license in 1925.

Kummer, who ranked with Laverne Fator and Earl Sande in his prime, finished the 1925 season with a clean record but his actions off the track were said to have aroused the ire of the racing solons. The Jockey Club, however, never stated its reason for refusing to grant a license to the boy who rode Man o'War to his 29 victories.

CLEVELAND HAS SMALL HOPE OF WINNING FROM FALL RIVER CLUB

CLEVELAND, O., April 4.—Determined to battle to the final whistle, yet entertaining little hope of success, Cleveland's representatives in the national challenge cup finals will meet the Fall River soccer club here Sunday.

The Fall River expense list runs in the neighborhood of $100,000 yearly and maintenance is made possible only by a great following in the East.

It is little wonder the Fall River club is called the greatest combination assembled in recent years. Many of America's most capable players will be on the team opposed to the Bruells.

Included in the Fall River lineup will be Alex McNabb, 25-year-old captain of the team, who received his soccer schooling in Scotland and who before coming to America furnished the Greenock Morton eleven with its strongest unit on the forward line.

The years seem to have taken little of the speed and spring from McNabb and the Fall River attack is centered largely around the veteran outside right.

Jimmy McAuley, inside left, is the star who started the Bruells to defeat last week in New York. He drove three scores into the Cleveland goal in the first half and the focus never recovered from that attack. When the old Boston club was disbanded last October the management of the Fall River team immediately purchased the best of the defunct members at great cost and these acquisitions, together with the holdovers, have been welded into the country's outstanding outfit.

It is said to be the most costly soccer array that ever booted the leather. The Fall River expense list runs in the neighborhood of $100,000 yearly and maintenance is made possible only by a great following in the East.

Oklahoma Aggie
Wrestlers Enter
A. A. U. Tourney

NEW YORK, April 4.—Most of the color in the National A. A. U. wrestling championships beginning today at the New York A. C. may revolve about the performance of the crack grapplers of Oklahoma College of Agriculture, National Collegiate A. A. U. titleholders.

Fresh from their third straight victory in the National Collegiate at State College last week, the Aggies hoped to secure the National A. A. U. team title as well.

Virtually every member of the Aggies' team rated as a formidable contender in his class, but none more so than Earl McCready, the heavyweight, who won the unlimited championship at State College by throwing every man that faced him, in less than three minutes.

All told, some 100 wrestlers from every section of the country were entered in the championships. Preliminary rounds are today, with the windup tomorrow night.

For Cream Custard Roll.
Mix one-fourth cup sugar with one tablespoon cornstarch. Add one egg and beat until smooth. Scald one cup milk and add gradually to the mixture. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until thickened, smooth and boiling. Add desired flavoring and cool before using. When cold spread over the sheet of cake, roll up and cover with chocolate icing.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

New Way of Baking Ham, Making a Chicken Pie and Jellied Rhubarb.

Have a slice of ham cut about one and one-half inches thick and weighing about a pound and a half. Cover with hot water and let stand for 30 minutes, then drain and wipe with a soft cloth. Spread lightly with prepared mustard and place in a baking pan. Mix together one cup finely chopped tart apple, one cup fine stale bread crumbs, one teaspoon minced onion, one-quarter teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon paprika. Next add one well-beaten egg and enough boiling water to just moisten the crumbs. Spread this over the ham. Pour one-half cup each of milk and water in the bottom of the baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for 50 minutes, covering the dish for the first 30 minutes.

Chicken Pie.
There are many recipes for this, but this particular one is for the use of left-over cooked chicken—either fried or roasted. Cut enough of the chicken in pieces to make three cups. Use boned chicken to make up the amount if there is not enough of the left-over.

Melt four tablespoons butter or chicken fat and add five tablespoons flour. When well blended stir in three cups of milk, or use chicken gravy and enough milk to make three cups all together. Cook until thickened and smooth, stirring constantly. Then add one teaspoon grated onion, one-half teaspoon celery salt, two tablespoons minced parsley, salt and pepper to season, one tablespoon lemon juice and one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Next add the chicken and one cup of sliced fresh or canned mushrooms. Pour the mixture into a deep baking dish and cover the surface of the mixture with tiny baking powder biscuits, rolled one-fourth inch thick. Bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes or until the biscuits are crisp and brown.

Jellied Rhubarb.
Cut the leaves from one pound of fresh, pink rhubarb. Wash the stalks and then cut in half-inch pieces and then peel. Place in a saucepan with one cup water. Cover and boil for five minutes, then add one cup sugar and continue cooking until the sugar dissolves. Soak one and one-half tablespoons plain gelatin in one-fourth cup cold water for five minutes and stir it into the hot rhubarb. Stir until it is dissolved. Pour the rhubarb into a small mold or into four individual ones and set aside to cool and harden. When firm and chilled, serve with whipped cream or a thin custard sauce.

Pick over and rinse one pint of oysters. Add one and one-half cups hot rich milk and bring to boiling point. Add one-half teaspoon pepper, one-half teaspoon salt, three tablespoons butter and one-fourth cup cracker crumbs. Serve immediately.

Boiled New Potatoes.
Select potatoes of uniform size.

Wash, pare and if potatoes are large, cut in halves or quarters. Cover with boiling water and cook until soft, about 25 to 30 minutes. Drain from water and keep under cover in a warm place until ready to serve. Place in vegetable dish and dot with butter.

If desired, potatoes may be cooked unpeeled (with jackets on) in boiling water as directed above.

SNICKERDOODLES ARE CAKES
Just the Thing to Serve With a Cup of Tea or Chocolate.

Snickerdoodles are nice, although they have a rather queer name. To make them, take one-half cup butter, two cups sugar, two eggs, one cup milk, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt.

WAYS OF SERVING FISH FILLETS

New Ways of Preparing Fish Sought for the Lenten Season.

The most modern way of merchandising makes it possible for today's housewife to buy her fish already filleted and, wrapped in parchment paper to insure freshness and good quality.

Some of the brands of fish are prepared as they are brought in from the fishing boats, wrapped, packed in ice and shipped at once to the dealers. Or dealers will fillet fish at direction.

The word means a solid piece of meat without skin or bones. The fish that are most frequently filleted are flounder, haddock, sole and bogs.

Both flounder and haddock filets may be cooked in the same way, so in the following recipes bear in mind that they may be used interchangeably. Generally speaking, haddock is a little thicker than the flounder and the flesh is slightly coarser.

Poached Fish Filets. If the filets are large cut them in pieces for serving; small filets may be left whole. Put one quart of boiling water in a shallow sauce pan with a thick slice of lemon, two sprigs of parsley, one-half teaspoon peppercorns, one tablespoon salt and one bouillon cube. When boiling put in the fish—one and one-half pounds for five people—cover closely and simmer for 20 minutes. Remember that simmering is cooking just below the boiling point. If the fish cooks too rapidly it will toughen and may break apart.

When done, lift carefully from the water with a skimmer and place on a hot platter, sprinkle with minced parsley and serve with the following sauce: Melt two tablespoons of butter and add a teaspoon of minced chives. Cook slowly for three minutes, then stir in three tablespoons of flour and when blended add gradually one and one-half cups of the strained water that the fish was cooked in. Continue stirring until thickened and boiling.

Stuffed Baked Fillet. Use the long filets for this, allowing two for four servings. Mix one cup of soft fine bread crumbs with one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon minced parsley, one tablespoon chopped pickled onions, one pimento chopped fine and the grated rind of half a lemon. If desired, four mushrooms may be chopped and added. Stir in beaten egg and then enough hot water to hold the stuffing together. Spread this over one fillet, lay the other over it and hold in place with toothpicks. Place in a greased baking pan and brush the top with melted fat. Bake in a moderate oven for 35 minutes, basting twice during the cooking with one-half cup of water mixed with two tablespoons of butter. Serve either plain or with a parsley sauce.

Baked Fillet Rolls. Cut thin filets in pieces for serving, or pound thick ones into pieces about one-fourth inch thick and cut in strips about two inches wide and four inches long. Sprinkle each with salt and pepper and brush with lemon juice. Place one large shrimp and a teaspoon of chopped mushroom in the center of each fillet and roll up like a jelly roll. Fasten with a toothpick and dip each roll in melted butter. Place upright in a greased pan, pour two tablespoons of water in the pan and cover with a piece of buttered paper. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Remove to a hot platter, pull out the toothpicks and sprinkle the fish with equal parts of minced parsley and chives. Serve with Hollandaise sauce.

For Pineapple Cream Roll. Whip one-half pint heavy cream until stiff enough to hold its shape. Add one cup drained, canned crushed pineapple and four tablespoons powdered sugar. Spread half this over the sheet of cake, roll up and spread the rest of the cream over the top. Serve very cold.

For Strawberry Cream Roll. Whip one-half pint cream and fold in one cup ripe, fresh strawberries cut in quarters, and five tablespoons powdered sugar. Use in the same way as pineapple cream.

HOT CROSS BUNS DEDICATED TO HOLY WEEK FAST DAYS

One of the Early Day Customs Popularized by Modern Observance.

Hot cross buns are always served on Friday of Easter week. This is an old custom which has been handed down from early days.

Most of the wholesale and retail bakeries feature these delicacies and housewives who desire them will find no difficulty in procuring them at grocery and chain stores. However, those who prefer to make their hot cross buns will find this recipe very satisfactory:

Dissolve three-quarters of a cake of yeast in half cup of tepid water, then add one and a half cups lukewarm milk, half teaspoon salt and two and one-half cups flour.

Let mixture rise overnight and in the morning add two tablespoons melted butter, one egg, well beaten, one-quarter cup sugar, half cup chopped seeded raisins and a quarter of a cup finely shredded citron, with flour sufficient to knead dough.

Knead thoroughly, cut in rounds and lay in a greased baking pan. Let buns rise until doubled in bulk, then bake in a moderately hot oven. When nearly done brush over with beaten eggs to glaze, and when cooled fashion a cross on each bun with confectioners' icing. If preferred the cross may be

TRIED ALL KINDS OF LAXATIVES

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Gave Only Permanent Relief

As everybody knows, the market is flooded with cathartics, pills and patent compounds for the relief of constipation. At best, whatever results are obtained are temporary. Besides, there is the danger in certain habit-forming drugs.

Mr. P. M. Fisher, 517 Olive Street, Scranton, Pa., has something to say on this subject which will be interesting to all constipation sufferers. He says:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse."

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthful condition."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or money refunded.

In addition, it adds needed iron to the diet. You will like its delicious flavor. There are many delightful ways to eat it. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

A cup of noble Coffee drew them to Nashville

It was only natural that in the days of the Old South, people of wealth and leisure should include Nashville in their travels, and dine at the old Maxwell House—for of all the fine hotels of Dixie, this was the most famed.

Especially was its fragrant coffee a celebrated and tempting attraction—the high grace note of an epicurean cuisine.

So rich and satisfying was its aroma, so rare and mellow its flavor, that each year this special blend has been sought by more and more people. Today Maxwell House Coffee is prized in millions of homes. There is only one blend of Maxwell House Coffee. Why don't you try it tomorrow? The quality that has made it famous is always the same and there is always the same net weight of coffee as specified on the friendly blue tin, no matter where or from whom you buy it. You can try Maxwell House Coffee without risk of disappointment—if you are not fully satisfied, your grocer will unhesitatingly return your money.

PLANNING MEALS FOR THE FAMILY TABLE

Chicken Dinners and Vegetable Cookery Featured This Week.

In planning meals for this week and from now on, use so far as possible, the fresh spring vegetables in as many ways as possible for they are one of the best possible forms of spring tonic. Their rich supply of health-giving vitamins and minerals provide the elements that will combat that "tired feeling" and their appearance and delightful flavors tempt the lagging appetite.

Really a vegetable, though not classed as such, rhubarb is making its appearance now. There are few of the spring foods that offer such a spur to the appetite as this. Its tart flavor is so refreshing and agreeable and rhubarb salts are a real aid in toning up the system. Note this vegetable is used in three different ways in this week's menu—stewed for breakfast, jelly for dessert one night and in a pudding for lunch.

A roast chicken will make a nice variation in the meat line this week for Sunday dinner. In selecting a chicken, buy one that is heavy for its size, as that means a maximum of meat. A five-pound chicken should provide two meals for a small family.

Most people prefer to have a well seasoned stuffing in a roast chicken because of the added flavor it imparts, and also because it makes the meat go farther. Make the stuffing of dry bread crumbs mixed with minced parsley, chopped celery, ground lemon rind and a little poultry seasoning.

Salads are frequently used this week—even more often than usual, but on Sunday a dish of plain, crisp celery and radishes is served instead of the salad.

Be sure celery is crisp. Keep it so by washing it and then putting it in a bowl of cold water to which has been added a slice of lemon. Have just enough water in the bowl to keep the ends of the celery wet and store it in a cold place—preferably the refrigerator.

Radishes may be crisped in much the same way—cut off the leaves and the stem end and peel the radishes down to form petals. Drop in cold water and chill.

Lettuce and salad greens of any kind should be washed as soon as they are brought into the house, then drained and put in a salad bag or pan and chilled to insure crispness. Do not keep them in water, as it usually spoils the flavor.

On Tuesday a spinach salad is served for lunch. When cooking spinach for Monday's dinner, plan enough for two meals. For the salad, chop the cooked spinach very fine, season with salt, pepper and butter and set aside to cool. When ready to serve, mold the spinach by pressing it into small cups—after-dinner coffee cups are good—turning out on lettuce and peering over each mold two tablespoons of French dressing. Garnish with a slice of hard-boiled egg and a spoonful of beet relish.

BAKED BEAN DINNER LOAF

Nice Recipe for a Tempting Second Day Dish.

Even the most careful housewife generally has some leftover baked beans at the conclusion of the meal. These leftovers will make a delicious baked bean loaf, if this recipe is used.

Baked Bean Loaf. Take three cups baked beans, one green pepper, finely chopped, one-fourth cup onion, finely chopped, one-half cup stewed or canned tomatoes, one cup soft bread crumbs, one cup finely minced ham, one teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper.

Force baked beans through a coarse sieve. Stir onion and green pepper in the stewed tomatoes for five minutes.

Add to beans with crumbs, meat, eggs and seasonings. Stir thoroughly, shape into loaf and roll in flour. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

Five Mocha Cream Roll. Cream together one-fourth pound sweet butter and one cup confectioner's sugar. Gradually work in two tablespoons thick cream, one teaspoon coffee extract and two tablespoons dry cocoa. Spread over the sheet of cake, roll up and garnish the top with whipped cream sweetened and flavored with coffee. Maraschino cherries, cut in quarters may be dotted over the cream.

CREAM ROLL CAKE A VERSATILE SWEET

Variety of Fillings Provides for a Simple or Elaborate Dessert.

Here is a cake recipe that has more possibilities than any other recipe in a large and varied list—it makes a tender jelly roll that never cracks in the rolling; cream rolls of numerous flavors; an ice cream cake; fruit tart, etc., etc. The best thing about it is that it is practically a "fool-proof" recipe that has been tried out on people who are novices at cooking as well as given to expert cooks. It is simple to make, inexpensive and takes only a few minutes in time. It may be made to serve anywhere from two to six people.

Here is the foundation recipe, or the recipe for the cake itself. The fillings may be varied at will. The recipe as given here will serve six.

Cream or Jelly Roll.

Separate the yolks from the whites of three eggs. Beat the whites until stiff enough to hold their shape. Beat the yolks until lemon colored. Add to the yolks three tablespoons of sugar, beating it in gradually. Sift three tablespoons of flour with one-half teaspoon baking powder and stir into the egg and sugar mixture. When well blended, fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites, folding the batter over and over until thoroughly mixed. Grease a shallow baking pan about 10x15 inches and spread the cake mixture in a layer about one-half inch thick, using the back of a spoon. Bake in a moderate oven for eight minutes.

Remove from the oven and turn the pan upside down on a wire rack to cool. When cold, loosen the cake from the pan with a spatula or any broad bladed knife. It will be very flexible, and should be about half an inch thick. Place on a flat surface, spread with the filling and roll up like a jelly roll, starting on the short end. Place on a platter and ice or decorate as desired.

A smaller cake may be made by decreasing the number of eggs, etc. One egg, one tablespoon sugar and one tablespoon flour with one-eighth teaspoon baking powder, baked in a bread pan will serve two people. Two eggs, two tablespoons each flour and sugar and one-quarter teaspoon baking powder, baked in an 8x10 inch pan, will serve four. For more than six people it is best to make two or more rolls, as they are difficult to handle in a very large sheet.

Spread the sheet of cake with currant, quince, raspberry or grape jelly in a thick layer. Roll up, cut down in slices and serve with a spoonful of whipped cream.

LET CHILDREN COLOR EGGS

Decorating Easter Eggs Gives Children Pleasure.

Easter time is the season for coloring eggs.

The custom of coloring eggs originated centuries ago and belongs to no sect, race or creed. It is growing in popularity every year the world over.

You have doubtless seen pictures of the famous egg rolling contest that takes place each year on the White House lawn at Washington. This ceremony has so popularized the custom of coloring eggs that in hundreds of cities and towns all over the country similar contests are held by local organizations.

In addition to commemorating the spirit of Easter, coloring eggs gives the children an opportunity to use their own talents and ingenuity and for this reason should be encouraged as much as possible.

Appetite Appeal Tidbit.

Rub cheese through grater, add a little Worcestershire sauce and a few drops of lemon juice; work until soft and smooth. Arrange lettuce leaves on thin slices of bread, add cheese mixture and chopped dill pickles. Cover with a thin slice of bread lightly buttered.

water saturates every portion of the otherwise confined aromatic full rich flavor releasedinto the teacup. The same holds true of any brand, blend or grade of tea no matter how expensive or inexpensive the tea is.Another tea tip that always should be followed is that the brew be well stirred after it has steeped for the regulation five minutes.This was clearly demonstrated by J. J. McNamara, chairman of the Board of Federal Tea Testers, who recently went through the annual program of deciding what teas the United States Government would permit to come into this country.
It is an experiment that takes but a moment.Into each of two teacups place a spoonful of tea leaves. A heaping spoonful is better for the test, although an even spoonful ordinarily is used when serving tea.
Pour boiling water over the leaves.
Put one cup carefully aside without stirring at all. At the end of five minutes, carefully separate with a spoon the leaves that are inert at the bottom of the other cup and notice the rich orange or amber colored liquid which clings to the bottom of the cup under theleaves. This liquid is the fragrant, full-flavored tea extract.Now stir the leaves vigorously and note the change in color and the steaming fragrance as compared with the cup unstirred. Then taste the insipid near-brew in the unstirred cup and last taste the cup containing the brew that was stirred. Note the difference.Brooks Camp favored with lemon pepper adds a new deliciousness to rich, tangy flavor—better than any you've tasted before. Always, you'll get Away with monotony—serve this modern pancake!

When breakfast becomes a bore, it's time to do something. Breakfast is an important meal, because it influences our spirits. Breakfast should never be monotonous. It should be more than good food—it should be interesting food. For instance, take pancakes—the modern kind of pancakes, made with the new Pillsbury's Pancake Flour. There's something that brings a sparkle to the eye. A breakfast that is more than mere nourishment. A meal that's an occasion—a happy combination of

VEGETABLE WORLD HAS ITS ARISTOCRATS

There Are Plebeian Vegetables and Others Fit to Serve a King.

Aristocrats of the vegetable world are the artichoke, avocado and broccoli.

The plebeian cabbage is a distant relative of the artichoke, yet the two do not often find themselves in the same homes. The artichoke and somewhat resembles a large thistle and has long been esteemed as a culinary vegetable, although it has only come into popular use in America in recent years.

Many people think of artichokes as a comparatively new vegetable, but they too have enjoyed a long popularity. They belong to the thistle family, but have always been highly prized, so much so in fact that at one time, so we are told, the ancient Greeks even passed a law forbidding the commoners to eat them. A favorite way of serving artichokes was with vinegar and honey. Modern methods of cooking prefer rather different seasonings, but even now artichoke salad with a vinegar dressing is often most with.

Broccoli is another upstart relative of the cabbage, really being the original form of the cauliflower. It is very similar in appearance to the cauliflower except that its head is smaller and it takes longer for nature to form its "curd" of succulent, incipient flower buds.

Avocado's sobriquet when it has the misfortune to find itself in the company of the tearful onion or the low-browed parsnip is alligator pear.

French Artichoke Salad. Use one can artichoke bottoms, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon chopped green peppers and one tablespoon chopped red peppers.

Drain the liquid from artichokes. Add salt and marinate in French dressing. Put in refrigerator to chill. When ready to serve place on lettuce and garnish with the peppers. Serve with French dressing.

Alligator Pear Salad.

Remove rind from pears, cut in slices and arrange in semi-circles on crisp, shredded lettuce. To one-half cup mayonnaise, add three tablespoons soft Roquefort cheese. Cover salad with dressing just before serving.

Broccoli Stewed.

Clean carefully but do not eat away the green leaves for they are edible as are the stems and flower top. Steam or boil the vegetable to tenderness as for cauliflower or asparagus. Drain and serve with melted butter, Hollandaise sauce or Parmesan cheese.

Fried Artichokes.

Cut off the outer leaves and hard points and divide lengthwise in four or six pieces, according to the size of the vegetable; rub with lemon; plunge into cold water, drain well; beat up one egg (for six small artichokes) and add to it salt, pepper, thyme, sage, marjoram and savory to taste; roll each piece of artichoke in this; then in flour and fry quickly in boiling fat in which chopped onion has been browned; drain and serve hot. The herbs may be omitted, or if desired, the pieces of artichoke may simply be rolled in flour.

PRUNE CORNSTARCH PUDDING

A Wholesome Dessert for an Every Day Family Delicacy

This is a molded dessert which is most nutritious and easy to prepare.

Three tablespoons cornstarch, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup cold prune juice, one teaspoon cinnamon, two tablespoons lemon juice and one and one-half cups hot pulp and prune juice made from cooking one-half pound prunes until tender.

Mix cornstarch and sugar with one-half cup cold prune juice. Carefully add the cornstarch mixture to the hot pulp and juice and cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Cover and cook in the double boiler for 45 minutes.

Five minutes before it is finished add cinnamon and lemon juice.

Turn into molds, which have been wet with cold water, and set away to chill. Serve with cream or lemon sauce.

ORANGE RICE PUDDING

New and Different Type of This Old-Fashioned Sweet.

While rice pudding is one of the old standbys, the fact remains that most home cooks make the delicacy the very same way, week in and week out.

This recipe is for a new and different rice pudding.

To make it, take two oranges, one-half cup rice, two cups milk, one cup sugar, one cup water and a pinch of salt.

Peel and separate the oranges into sections. Boil 15 minutes in a syrup made of the sugar and water, being careful the sections are not broken. Drain well.

Boil the rice in the milk (use a double boiler), until tender and fluffy; add the salt.

Put a layer of rice in a pudding mold, then the orange sections and then another layer of rice. Chill thoroughly and serve with the syrup poured over.

SEAFOODS ARE IMPORTANT

Shrimp with its characteristic flavor and delicate color adds interest to any meal and can be served in several ways. In almost any recipe shrimp, crab and lobster may be used interchangeably.

For a company luncheon what could be more attractive and satisfying than large, ripe tomatoes, stuffed with a shrimp salad mixture.

Chocolate Cream Roll. Melt two squares of unsweetened chocolate over hot water, stir in one-fourth cup powdered sugar and one tablespoon plain cream. Roll until smooth and well mixed. ### SOMETHING NEW IN SANDWICHES

Vegetable Fillings Are the Feature of These New Type Tidbits.

The problem of what to serve for light refreshments that are different from the everyday run of such foods, confronts every prospective hostess.

It is hard to get away from sandwiches because of the convenience and because they seem to fill a need that nothing else can meet.
So as sandwiches are the standby for these occasions, the question resolves itself into how to make them "different" and interesting.

A happy solution exists in making the regular type sandwich with vegetable fillings.

Use Raw Vegetables.
Generally speaking, raw vegetables are used for these fillings and they offer many interesting possibilities in flavor combinations. To say nothing of their appeal from the health standpoint, and especially at this time of year, when an abundant supply of vitamins and mineral salts are such an important item in regulating the spring dietaries.

Although curves are not as rigorously frowned upon in the fashion world as they were a year ago, yet there are still a number of persons who are still in the reducing lists.
For them, the vegetable sandwiches will have an added appeal, for they are not fattening as are the sweet fillings of tidbits rich with mayonnaise, nuts, cream cheese, etc.

The vegetables that are best suited to this purpose are the greens, such as watercress, romaine (very small leaves) endive, crisp heart stalks of celery, shredded green peppers, shredded new cabbage, grated or shaved new carrots, sliced radishes, sliced cucumbers, diced cooked beets, mashed cooked green peas, cooked chilled asparagus, thinly sliced raw Jerusalem artichokes, creamed mushrooms, sliced raw tomatoes. There are not doubt others but this list offers a good beginning and many rich possibilities.

Use either white or brown bread and cut it thin, removing the crusts to make very dainty sandwiches, leaving them on for more hearty ones. Spread each slice lightly with softened butter.

Vegetable Club Sandwich.
A vegetable club sandwich suitable for "after bridge eats" consists of three rounds of toast with a filling of shredded lettuce, sliced tomatoes and green peppers for the first layer, and shredded cabbage mixed with Russian dressing, cucumbers and sliced radishes for the second layer. Sprinkle all the vegetables very lightly with salt and use mayonnaise sparingly.

Watercress Rolls.
The tidbits are made from very thin slices of white bread, buttered and rolled around a crisp thick sprig of chilled watercress that has been dipped in French dressing. A thick stalk of cooked, chilled asparagus, dipped in dressing and then in minced chives may be used in the same way. Also a small stalk of celery stuffed with Roquefort cheese or with peanut butter may be rolled in a thin slice of wholewheat bread.

Grated raw carrots mixed with mayonnaise and spread on slices of white or wholewheat bread with a sprig or two of watercress added have a delicious flavor and a most attractive appearance.

Chopped cooked beets and finely diced celery are another happy combination that may be accompanied by a tiny sweet pickle as a garnish.

CARE OF PERCOLATORS
A Good Cup of Coffee Depends, to Part, on the Urn.

Even careful housekeepers occasionally become lax in caring for the percolator. Cleanliness of the percolator is required for good coffee.

Percolators and urns should be cleaned for in much the same manner as a toaster.

They are never put in water and the outside is wiped with a damp cloth. The inside should be rinsed out with warm water and then wiped dry.

About once a month a mixture of baking soda and water should be allowed to boil in the appliance.
The action of this solution keeps the interior sweet and clean.

AFTERNOON TEA IS A POPULAR FUNCTION

Delightful Way to Compliment Either Casual or Invited Guests.

These chilly days of spring, a steaming cup of tea is a gracious and wise means of welcoming guests.

Tea is so easily prepared and may be served in such a variety of ways that the afternoon tea hour need never be monotonous. Tea served with sugar and cream is, of course, preferred by some. Vary this with sliced lemon, each slice attractively decorated with a whole clove, slices of small oranges, or perhaps a bit of candied ginger in each cup.

Sugar cubes may now be purchased in many and varied colors, which make an attractive addition to the afternoon tea. The ingenious hostess, however, may tint her sugar cubes at home. Food colorings are obtainable at the stores in delicate pink, green, yellow or violet. Tint a quarter cup of water with sufficient coloring and apply with a dropper. Too much water will, of course, dissolve the cubes, but a little will tint them very attractively.

Sandwiches for afternoon tea are seldom made of meat, though minced chicken, ham, or sardines beaten to a paste are sometimes used. The bread is cut very thin and enclosed in a bit of lettuce spread with mayonnaise, chopped olives, or watercress. An attractive sandwich is made from small-Vienna rolls split not quite through, and spread with a vegetable filling.

Another tea sandwich is made by spreading jelly or preserves between two salt crackers. If the crackers are crisp in a hot oven they are often improved.

Almond sandwiches of all varieties are delicious for the tea-table.

3 tablespoons flour

1 1/2 cups milk

RHUBARB PARFAIT IS A NEW DAINTY ICE COLD DESSERT

Cold Desserts Always Favored for Last Course of Formal Dinner.

Rhubarb, although belonging to the vegetable kingdom, is used to make many dishes ordinarily made with fruits and berries.

Rhubarb parfait, for instance, which has become a favorite this year among epicures who demand a tasty, icy cold dessert at the end of a hearty meal.

Rhubarb Parfait.
Use eight long stalks of tender pink rhubarb, one cup brown sugar, one cup water, one cup white sugar, three eggs, one cup whipped cream and one-fourth cup orange juice.

Cut the rhubarb in short pieces, sprinkle with sugar and add the water. Bake in the oven one hour then put through sieve. One pint of puree should result.

Heat the puree and when hot pour over three beaten egg yolks. When mixture cools, fold in the whipped cream and the three egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Add the orange juice and turn into pans of mechanical refrigerator. At the end of an hour and one half, stir mixture, then continue freezing for at least two hours longer.

DAINTY SMALL CAKES FOR BRIDGE PARTY

One Good Foundation Recipe Will Make Many Varieties of Sweetmeats.

Today's lesson deals with the making of some little party cakes that are suitable to serve next time the bridge club meets or when guests are expected for Sunday night tea.

How to Make Small Cakes.
Take a set of tiny cake pans—ones about 1 inch in diameter are prettiest—and grease them with butter or one of the vegetable fats, using a little brush or a piece of soft paper. Also grease an oblong, shallow baking pan. Cakes baked in this are to be cut into squares and diamond shapes.

Put one-third cup butter, or whatever shortening preferred in a mixing bowl with one cup granulated sugar. Work these two materials together until they form a light, soft creamy mixture. If the butter is hard, warm the bowl slightly over hot water. When the mixture is creamy, add the yolks of two eggs and beat again. Put one of the whites in a bowl and set aside to use for the icing. Put the other in another small bowl and beat until stiff.

Add three-fourths cup milk to the butter-sugar-egg mixture.

Sift two cups of cake flour with one-fourth teaspoon salt and two teaspoons baking powder, and add to the cake mixture. Stir until the flour is all mixed in, and then beat for a minute to make smooth. Next fold in the stiffly beaten egg white and one-half teaspoon each of lemon and vanilla extracts.

Fill the little pans two-thirds full with the batter. Now stir three tablespoons dry cocoa and two tablespoons milk into the rest of the batter and then pour it into the oblong pan, smoothing it out with the back of a spoon.

Bake the two pans of cake about 15 minutes, or until they are well raised, firm to the touch and delicately browned. Be careful that the chocolate cake does not burn. When done, remove from the oven, and let stand for at least five minutes before taking them from the pans. Loosen gently with a knife and turn the pans upside-down. When the cakes are cold, ice them as follows:

Put the egg white saved in the mixing bowl with two tablespoons undiluted evaporated milk and beat lightly. Next add one cup of soft confectioner's sugar and continue beating. Put half of this mixture into another bowl and add to it one square of melted chocolate, one tablespoon evaporated milk and three-quarters cup confectioner's sugar. Beat thoroughly.

Add the grated rind of half an orange and one tablespoon orange juice to the rest of the icing, and then enough sugar to make an icing that will spread without running.

Ice the small cakes with chocolate and garnish with nut meats and tiny pieces of candied cherries. Ice the oblong cake with orange icing and then, when the icing is firm, cut into small squares with a sharp knife. Some of the squares may be cut diagonally across to make triangle shapes. If a sharp knife is used, it will not be hard to cut the cake evenly. Keep the pieces small as they are daintier.

Pieces of candied orange peel or candied violets may be used to garnish the orange icing and make it very decorative; the violets may be bought in almost any good candy shop.

STRAWBERRY HARD SAUCE AND STRAWBERRY ICING

These Berries Are Being Used in Combination With Other Foods.

In the early days of the strawberry season home cooks should strive to use the berries in combination dishes where a comparatively small amount of the fruit may be made to go a long way.

For instance this strawberry hard sauce may be used to garnish puddings and pastries and desserts of this type.

Strawberry Hard Sauce.
Make a sauce of four tablespoons butter and one cup of confectioner's sugar, add carefully the stiffly beaten white of one egg and three or four tablespoons of strawberry pulp which has been carefully mashed. Flavor with three or four drops of almond extract. Mix carefully and chill thoroughly.

As much of the crushed fruit as desired may be added up to the point where the acid of the fruit begins to cause the fat to separate. A little sugar may be added to the mashed berries if they are very sour.

Strawberry Cream Frosting.
Delicious when spread between layers of cake or on top of loaf cakes.

Use one cup of strawberries, one-half cup butter and three cups powdered sugar.

Cream the butter with a wooden spoon, add part of the sifted sugar, then the strawberries which have been put through a ricer and the remainder of the sugar. Stir until well blended when it is ready to spread on the cake which must be thoroughly cold.

A little lemon or orange juice may be used to harden the icing.

FRIED SMELTS ADD APPEAL TO A LENTEN LUNCHEON

Meatless Meals Require Care in the Selection of Foods That Balance.

Use medium sized smelts, allowing one and one-half pounds for four servings. The heads are usually left on small fish, such as smelts, but they may, of course, be cut off before cooking if desired. Wash the smelts in cold water, drain and dry on a piece of cheese-cloth or clean, soft silk cloth.

Best one egg until tight and mix with two tablespoons water. Dip each smelt in this and then in very fine dry breadcrumbs.

Heat any preferred fat in a heavy, deep frying pan, using enough to have a fourth-inch layer of fat in the pan.

When hot put in the fish and fry until brown on one side, turn carefully and fry on the other side.

HUSBAND IS HELD FOR AKILLINGS OF WIFE AND SON

Former Philadelphia Real Estate Man Arrested in Florida—Was Beneficiary of $10,000 Insurance.

By the Associated Press.

SEBRING, Fla., April 4.—William R. Carver, former Philadelphia real estate man, was held in jail here today in connection with the killings of his wife and two-year-old son, which a coroner's jury had attributed to a Negro yard boy, whom Carver shot to death. A warrant charging Carver with murder of his wife and son and of the Negro was issued by County Judge Whitehurst.

Mrs. Carver and her boy were killed in the Carver home here Wednesday. The coroner's jury found the Negro, Ben Whitehead, had killed them and that Whitehead's death at Carver's hands was justifiable homicide.

Carver was arrested yesterday after officers learned that he was beneficiary in a $10,000 insurance policy of Mrs. Carver, taken out last September. State's Attorney Grady Burton ordered the arrest.

Sheriff Oscar Wolff said stains had been found on a pair of Carver's golf trousers. He also said that an examination of the body of Whitehead failed to disclose any blood other than what appeared to have come from his own wounds.

Officers quoted Carver as saying it looked as if "they are trying to railroad me by placing my word against that of a Negro."

Carver recently moved here from Philadelphia where he had been in the real estate business. His father, Samuel Carver, a steel manufacturer and real estate dealer, came here from his winter home in Miami when he learned of the tragedy.

AUTO DRIVER MAKING TURN RUNS DOWN THREE PERSONS

Arrested When Woman's Skull is Fractured; Her Mother and Her Son Hurt.

Turning his automobile into Alcott avenue from Lillian avenue, at 8 o'clock last night, William Gandolf, a barber, 4302 Shreve avenue, ran down three persons who were crossing the street. They were Mrs. Kate Brooks, her 9-year-old son, William, and her mother, Mrs. Rose Anderson, all residing at 4512 Genevieve avenue. Mrs. Brooks suffered a fracture of the skull and injuries to her abdomen and legs, her son and her mother were slightly injured. They were treated at Christian Hospital. Gandolf was arrested.

SECOND GROUP OF FOUR PLAYS IN TOURNAMENT PRESENTED

The second series of four one-act plays in the St. Louis Art League tournament was given at the Wednesday Club auditorium, Taylor and Westminster avenues, last night.

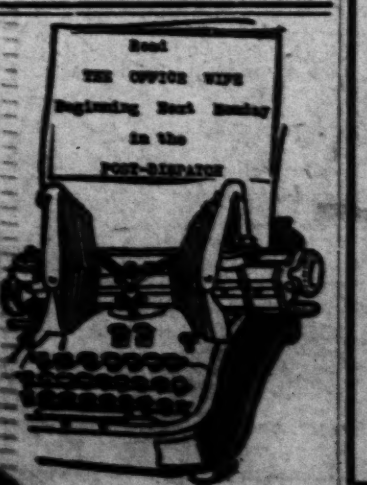

"Obligato," by Ann Saunders, is a "pretty little sketch" in which a "element is covered by a steadily practiced piano lesson. Esmeralda Weinacker, Mary Hickman, Jane Poole as a Negro maid and Thomas in fast color make up the cast.

"Leah the Jazzite," by Elmore Gunden, shows how a young man who has taken a day off to get married can manage it even if the girl he set out to marry moves out of the picture. Babette Herman, Sylvia Miller, David Seelin and David Maslankov gave a vigorous performance.

"102 Degrees," by Jasmine Stone Van Dresser, indicates the fever of a novelist who left a sick bed to woo the artist who illustrates his books. Laura Hinchman, Virginia Black Livingston, Lucie S. Richardson, James Lucas and Vida Gruner Moss, who made her part as the charwoman stand out, were the players.

"The Guest Unheard," by Milton McGovern, is tragedy grim and unrelieved. A woman driven insane by the death of her daughter kills her son also. Marie Kennedy as the mother, Donald Gunn and Virginia Fuchlen handled the piece well.

The final four plays of the series will be presented tonight. Tomorrow night the three winning plays will be announced and will be repeated.

TRAINMEN OPPOSE CITY'S VIADUCT PLANS

Tell Public Service Board Forest Park Structure Should Have 22-Foot Clearance.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 4.—The protest of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen against the plan of the City of St. Louis for the proposed viaduct over tracks of the Wabash and Rock Island railroads in Forest Park, to eliminate the Lindell-Union grade crossing, was taken under advisement by the Missouri Public Service Commission, after a hearing here yesterday.

The trainmen object to the clearance of 18 feet between the rails and viaduct, as fixed in the city plan, and contend the clearance should be 22 feet, as provided in the State law regulating clearances for structures erected over and adjoining railroad tracks. This law provides, however, that the commission may approve a lesser clearance for a viaduct if it finds that a and extra cost, it was impracticable.

City Counselor J. T. Muench testified in January that because of physical conditions, grades that would be required for the roadway, and extra cost, it was impracticable to build the viaduct with a clearance of 22 feet. It was pointed out that several other viaducts over railroad tracks in the city and county have clearances of 18 feet.

No opposition was voiced at the time, and the city asked the commission to issue an early order, so construction could be started. Before the commission issued an order, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen intervened with a protest and asked for a further hearing.

W. A. Wheeling of St. Louis, legislative representative of the brotherhood, testified yesterday about hazards to trainmen on freight trains, of a structure with an 18-foot clearance.

DEVICE TO PREVENT ICE FROM FORMING ON PLANE

"Overshoes" Designed at Cornell U. Said to Have Been Tested Successfully.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 4.—Overshoes for airplanes—a new method of keeping wings free of ice—are announced at Cornell University. They are a discovery in safer flying announced as a result of "successful tests" in the Midwest.

They were developed by Dr. William C. Geer, research chemist, with the co-operation of Dr. Meritt Scott, Cornell physicist, the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, the B. F. Goodrich Co., of Akron, the National Air Transport Inc., and its Eastern superintendent, Wesley L. Smith.

The overshoes lace over the forward edge of the wing. They are a thin layer of specially vulcanized rubber exuding continually a colorless oil which is the secret of success. It is announced that the ice does not stick nor the oil "scrub off."

This slipperiness alone is insufficient and so the overshoes have a small hose under their striking edge. A slight pulsation of pump driven air in this hose breaks the ice as it forms on the wing edge and so prevents air from pressing the forming ice fast against the wing.

SOLDIER AND COMPOSER DIES

Baron Von Der Goltz Wrote Opera in Time of Peace.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, April 4.—Gen. Baron George Konrad Von Der Goltz, soldier and composer, died in Berlin today at the age of 77.

Born in Berlin in October, 1852, he fought in the war of 1870 and before the World War was commander of the Thirtieth Division. During the war he was in command of a Landwehr division under Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, and took part in the battles of Tannenberg, Lyck and Oorwiele. He also was deeply interested in music. He composed a torch dance for the wedding of the former Kaiser and also wrote the operas "Myrrah" and "Wilhelm." He was not related to Count Rudiger Von Der Goltz, nor the late Gen. Colmar Von Der Goltz, both noted soldiers.

Altitude Record Accepted.

By the Associated Press.
STRATFORD, Conn., April 4.—Word has been received by the Sikorsky company that the National Aeronautical Association at Washington has officially recognized the altitude of 23,122 feet made with a 1000-kilogram load (2204 pounds) by Capt. Boris Sergievsky on March 13 as a new world record. The flight was made with a plane powered with two 575-horsepower Horney motors. The previous world record was 20,961 held by Franz Kneer of Germany, and the American record was held by Sergievsky at 19,933 with the same kilogram load.

$571,665 For Columbus Lighthouse.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 4.—A further step toward the erection of Pan-American nations of a Christopher Columbus memorial lighthouse at Santa Domingo, was taken yesterday as the House Foreign Affairs Committee approved the Davila joint resolution providing for a $571,665 contribution by the United States. Chairman Porter of the committee said the legislation had been recommended by two Presidents and two Secretaries of State, and urged that it be pushed speedily to final enactment.

ST. LOUIS ARTISTS GLORIFY BACK YARD

Entries in Black and White Competition of Post-Dispatch on Exhibition.

Sketches of St. Louis scenes, submitted in the sixth annual black and white competition sponsored by the Post-Dispatch under the auspices of the Artists' Guild, picture a city abreast of modern trends, steeped in rich traditions of another day, and with almost nothing in between. The artists this year seem to have restricted themselves to the very old and the very new. They have pictured a city which glories in its back yards and tumble-down shacks as much as in its set-back office buildings; as proud of its mighty river, long bridges and dilapidated waterfront as of its churches and parks.

Back yards and alleys are celebrated in more than 30 of the pictures shown. From the shacks of Negro quarters in Carondelet to the tenements of North St. Louis, where the family wash seems to be almost always hanging on the line, the artists have sketched picturesque scenes of disorder and decay.
Among other subjects are the ruins at Third and Plum streets of what is said to be the first courthouse in St. Louis, Commercial alley, lately adopted as the Bohemian quarter; Biddle street, and an alley near Broadway and Eads avenue.

The Mississippi and its levees is the next most popular subject, more than 20 of such pictures being shown. Included are crowds of Negroes on the levee, stavedores bustling as the apple boats come in, an excursion steamer tied up near Eads Bridge, and night scenes showing lights across the river.

Christ Church Cathedral, with more than a dozen pictures presented from various viewpoints, is next in popularity. At least half were sketched from the nearby sunk garden and include a corner of the public library and the Shell building. There are three pictures of the vaulted interior with soft lights filtering in. One shows in detail the Gothic arches at the main entrance.

Having disposed of these subjects the artists do not again concentrate on any single scene. The Old Cathedral appears twice, the new one but once. The Civil Courthouse, Bell Building, and Forest Park landscapes are each pictured a half dozen times and the Art Museum once more than that. The Zoo and Eads Bridge, once most popular of all subjects, are sketched five times. Washington University's buildings, the Federal Building, Union Station, Bevo Hill, Reservoir Park and the Water
Tower are pictured once or twice.

A jury of three critics appointed by the Art Director of Chicago Art Institute will announce prize winners Saturday night. Awards of $250, $100 and $50 are offered by the Post-Dispatch.

The Artists' Guild hall is open to the public each week day afternoon except Tuesday from 1 until 5 o'clock and on Sunday afternoons from 1 until 5 o'clock.

HINTS EUROPE IS FIGHTING

HOOVER'S FARM AND PLAN

Dr. David Friday Says British Have Not Forgotten Rubber Monopoly Activity.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., April 4.—The possibility that a powerful combine or European wheat interests had been formed to keep from buying wheat in the American markets as a move to embarrass President Hoover in his farm relief program and in retaliation for the part he played in breaking down England's world-wide rubber monopoly, was seen by Dr. David Friday, noted New York economist, in an address before the Nebraska Investment Bankers' Association.

"There is no hiding the fact," he said, "that there is high feeling among powerful British interests against President Hoover. They have not forgotten his activity in breaking down the British monopoly on rubber. Now that he is engaged in a pretentious program of farm relief, these interests see their opportunity to take a page out of his own book, and I believe they are taking full advantage of that opportunity."

Dr. Friday predicted easy money rates would continue for at least six months, and the present business revival would continue until next autumn.

EXCLUSIVE OAKLAND TO HAVE EXCLUSIVE ELECTION TUESDAY

Board of Trustees Misread the Law and Set Wrong Day for Voting.

The exclusive village of Oakland, St. Louis County, which lies between Webster Groves and Kirkwood, will have an exclusive election next Tuesday.

Other county communities held elections last Tuesday, April 1, but Oakland's board of trustees misread the law and called their election for the first Tuesday after the first Monday of April, instead of the first Tuesday.

Oakland voters laugh over the error, but consider it of little consequence. There are eight candidates for five trusteeships, which carry responsibility for the village of 300 persons, but no salaries.

Dies at Requested Age of 108.

HOBOKEN, N. J., April 4.—Kupper Mer, who his family said was 103 years old, died yesterday. The eldest of his 13 children, Samuel, 73, was at the bedside. He was born in Austria.

SPOKEN DRAMA KEEPS HOLD, SKINNER SAYS

Actor at City Club Luncheon Confesses, However, He Will Make Another Movie.

Gray-haired men pressed to the speakers' table at the City Club yesterday to shake the hand of Otis Skinner, guest speaker at luncheon, who is appearing in "Papa Juan" at the American Theater this week.

"I saw you first 40 years ago," one was heard to remark and as the crowd milled about the self-styled "champion of the legitimate stage," snatches of comments and hastily uttered tributes were audible.

"The Silent Voice in 1914... professional debut in 1917... getting a little bald (in a whisper)... Cock of the Walk... years ago... my little grandsons... to shake hands... Elmer... my wife in Moberly, Mo., hasn't changed a bit."

"Since Aristophanes wrote his farces and Aeschylus gave his tragedies to Athens, the decay of the theater has been discussed as an imminent occurrence," he began following his introduction by Harry R. McClain, active in St. Louis amateur theatricals.

"In spite of the movie, a deeper appreciation of the legitimate stage is developing, for nothing can equal its appeal to human emotions. The urge for impersonation and dramatic interpretation is inherent, evident in the little girl who puts on her mother's clothes to play the lady."

"The trouble is that we are too prosperous in America. The working man finds he has money and time which must be disposed of. He finds the movie a form of entertainment easy to assimilate. He finds that there he can kill two hours' time, but he comes out with an atrophied brain and without any particular reaction."

"He sees a stupid feature picture, a news reel and a terrible and unspeakable brand of vaudeville—all for 50 cents or little more."

"But, as one of the champions of all that is good and true and pure in the legitimate stage," he concluded, "I feel obliged to admit that in June I am going to Hollywood to make a picture."

SCOTTISH IRON MOLDER WINS HONORS AT ART EXHIBITION

Statue Called "The Runner" Was Made by Laborer in His Back Yard.

By the Associated Press.
GLASGOW, Scotland, April 4.—A Scottish iron molder has startled Glasgow art circles by taking the honors at the Socialist Art Exhibition with his plaster statue called "The Runner," which he made in spare time.

A number of well-known artists and sculptors who were unaware of the artist's identity declared that "The Runner" must be the work of a great foreign artist who was making his first appearance in Scotland.

John Longden, the laborer sculptor, has spent all his life molding iron and never attended an art school. The idea for his statue was suggested by a clipping from a newspaper and he began working it out in his back yard. It took two years to finish it.

Critics are unanimous in praise of the figure, which is lifelike and portrays a runner in full pace.

46-FOOT BOAT RE-CROSSING SEA

Ketch Carlark Nearing Bahamas on Return From Europe.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 4.—Three Cornell University graduates who crossed the Atlantic Ocean in the 46-foot auxiliary ketch "Carlark" and now are on their return voyage to America, were reported all well and nearing the Bahamas in a message to the Associated Press. The messages, radioed from the Norwegian motor tank ship "Spangager," said the Carlark was 800 miles from Nassau, Bahama Islands, and heading for that port.

On board the Carlark are Carl I. Weagant, the captain, of Douglaston, N. Y.; Joseph E. Rumschauer of Chicago and Dudley M. Scholier of Cleveland, O. The ketch sailed secretly from New York last June and Weagant did not tell his companions until they were seven days out that they were crossing the ocean.

$1,000,000 GIFT TO ACADEMY

Graduate Makes Largest Donation
Phillips Exeter Ever Received.

By the Associated Press.
EXETER, N. H., April 4.—A gift of $1,000,000 to Phillips Exeter Academy by Col. William B. Thompson, '90, of Yonkers, N. Y., is announced by Principal Lewis Perry. It is the largest donation ever received by the academy. There are no restrictions on its use and may be distributed at the discretion of the trustees.

Col. Thompson has been one of the academy's chief benefactors in recent years. He has given funds for the erection of a gymnasium, swimming pool, baseball cage and a science and administration building.

LOUIS BERETTI--Gangster

By Donald Henderson Clarke, Author of "In the Reign of Rothstein"

The galloping story of the career of a juvenile enemy of the law—Born in the throes of a Chinatown battle, successively thief, dope peddler, bootlegger, gunman, Louis finally turns on his "mob" and crashes the front page as the heroic avenger of society in a sensational kidnapping.

CHAPTER XXIII.

LOUIS was seeing red. Dan! Dan, and then Margaret. But above all, Dan. His flesh and his blood. A Beretti! Nothing mattered beside that.

He didn't know it, but he looked just as self-contained as ever when he got up from his chair, and stretched his big arms over his head. He didn't know it because his mind was a revolving wheel of lights, which was whirling with incredible speed around a central flame. The central flame was his purpose to get home.

No Little Italy was waiting when he swung his right fist to Big Italy's jaw, and knocked him senseless. There was no feeling at all in him, except the driving need of speed, when he pulled two big army automatics from Big Italy's pockets, and went through the door and down the stairs.

It was just after 1 o'clock in the morning. The street lights were dimmed by the bright October heavens. But Louis wasn't aware of that.

He jumped the steps, upsetting two late patrons who were just being admitted, and next he knew he was at the wheel of his roadster. In another instant he was going 30 miles in second; in another he was traveling 40 in third. He went around into Seventh avenue on two wheels.

He was at the entrance of the Hudson tubes in two minutes. At that hour the traffic ordinarily is light. It is not unusual for patrons to drive between 50 and 60 miles on the long straight lanes under the Hudson River.

The unnoticed speedometer on Louis' car shot to 50, to 60, to 70, to 80. The rows of lights were one long stream of light.

He was unconscious of a warning gesture from a tunnel policeman. The tunnel policeman knew Louis Beretti. Louis Beretti wasn't seeing anybody or anything then except the road ahead, and Dan.

The speedometer was above 80 across the meadows. A motorcycle policeman took up the chase; was distanced, but kept on. Louis didn't even know about it.

The cold October moon, riding high in wind clouds that decorated rather than obscured the brilliant luminance of the heavens, furnished a wild, still light for the wild ride. The demons of fear were screaming at Louis' back, and the cry of his own blood in peril was yanking him on. It was no mere mortal means of motion that was rocketing him home.

He was conscious of taking his first breath when he saw the familiar outline of Joe Bergman's get-away car in front of his house. He slid the last few rods with shut-off motor, stopped with perfectly timed four-wheel brakes, and went through the front door, an automatic in either hand.

MARGARET had been lying in bed reading a newspaper when he came. He told her to move the newspaper and look in a long mirror across the room. In its depths she saw the figure of a man just moving out of sight across the hall into Dan's room.

Instinctively she gently lowered the paper and picked up the telephone and whispered Louis' private number at the Cellar door into the transmitter. She knew the number.

She often had wanted to call it. But somehow she never had mustered up the necessary courage. Louis was just saying "Hello" when a man's voice in back of her said:

"You tell him that the boy's all right and you're going out—and you make it natural or you'll never see the boy again."

Margaret wanted to scream. She was sick with fear for Dan. There was Louis just in the other end of the telephone, and yet she couldn't tell him the danger. She hadn't any doubt the man meant what he said. So she told Louis she was going out with the Atterburys. She wondered if Louis thought she had gone crazy. She feared she had, or would. Louis sounded so cold and distant. When he put the receiver back on the hook the sound of it was like slamming shut in her ears the last gate of hope. She was at the brink of a bottomless black pit and beginning to slip.

As a matter of fact, she almost fainted, and might have fainted if the rough hand grabbing the telephone from her hand hadn't brushed her.

The owner of the hand wore a mask, and he held a revolver. "Now," he said, "you're going to tell me why this damned husband of yours butted into that Booton kidnapping case, and just what he did."

"I don't know," Margaret said, "before God I don't know."

"You'd better know," the voice said. "You'd better know, or you'll never see your son again."

"Let her hear him sing a bit," the voice directed.

A muffled whimper of pain came from Dan.

"The servants are all chloroformed," the voice told her. "Your husband is going to take a long trip tonight—to Coney Island and points beyond. Come on now."

"Oh God!" Margaret prayed. "Mother Mary help me."

"Nobody's going to help you," the voice said. "And I'm not going to give you all night to squawk, either."

A hand took rough hold of her wrist and twisted it sharply. She cried out involuntarily.

"SHUT UP," the voice commanded. "We're doing worse than that to the kid in the other room. We ain't going to hurt you; we're going to hurt him. Spill it."

"Oh God!" Margaret cried. "I don't know anything except that Louis was a part of Little Booton's uncle in the war, and that when Billy's uncle was killed, he told Louis to do what a brother would do for his sister. And I felt sorry for the poor mother."

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters

LOUIS BERETTI of New York's Chinatown, grows up as a boy with an antipathy to policemen, school teachers and "snitches." His pal is Big Italy. Louis begins life as a thief in a small way. When the war comes he forms a friendship with Bill Pedersen, an aristocrat, who has a pretty sister, Louise. Bill is killed and, when the war is over, Louis returns home, takes up bootlegging and runs a speakeasy. Big Italy, his partner, is sent to prison for two years and Louis carries on alone. He is making plenty of money when he meets Margaret, a good-looking Irish girl, and marries her. A year later a son is born to them. Big Italy comes out of the pen and he and Louis resume their partnership. In the meantime Louise Pedersen has married a wealthy man and also has a son. This child is kidnapped and Louis, remembering his war buddy, takes a hand in a search for the baby and discovers a clue to the kidnapers. Then he begins to worm the truth out of one of them. Getting it he kills this man and goes after the others, but gets a startling phone call from his wife.

grunts of a strong man exerting the last ounce of his muscular and nervous force in a tremendous task. And yet, in the blind organism of his rage Louis contrived to hold his own body against the other's that Dan was prevented from falling.

Louis knew from wrestling and from jiu-jitsu and from other forms of personal combat, a number of fatal holds, and practically no other holds. They were all fatal holds that he applied to Mask No. 2.

Mask No. 2 was Tommy Welch, and he died most unpleasantly and so fast that he had no time to consider his sin, which probably was more than he deserved.

A scream from Margaret caused Louis to turn with Dan in his arms, to see Mask No. 1, aiming a revolver at him.

Louis told Dan down, and went toward Mask No. 1, who, his disguise awry, now was revealed as Joe Bergman.

Joe, his eyes staring in horror, fired two shots at Louis. Louis' body jerked as the first heavy slug tore through him, and it jerked again, as the second one hit him with force enough to tell any mortal. But before Joe Bergman's fear-cramped forefinger could trigger again, Louis had him.

His face distorted into a garish grimace, Louis bent, Joe Bergman's head around, until the revolver in it pointed into Joe's belly. Then Louis gradually increased the pressure on Joe Bergman's own trigger finger until the revolver exploded, sending a leaden plug through Joe's bowels.

Louis pressed again, and another bullet followed the first. He sent a third bullet into the body. And then he took the revolver in his own hand, and pressed it against Joe Bergman's ear, and blew out his brains.

The motorcycle policeman who had followed Louis' car ran into the room, just as the last shot was fired.

It was not a pretty sight that met his gaze.

"Kidnaping my kid," Louis said to the policeman, speaking with effort. "Will you look at him first?"

Dan began to cry.

"Get him and my wife out of here, quick," Louis said. "Get 'em out."

"And before you call a doctor," Louis continued, "and before you do anything, you call Spring 400A, and see if Bill O'Brien is there. If he is, you tell him Joe Bergman is dead, and to come right over. If he isn't, you call Longacre 4400, and tell Kid Quick to deliver that message when Bill O'Brien gets there."

"I gotta call Headquarters first, Mr. Beretti," the policeman said. "You know me," Louis said. "And if you know what's good for yourself, you'll make my calls first."

Kitchen Kinks

Flour should be kept in a cool, dry place, tightly covered.

Add a little of lemon to the water when boiling old potatoes, just to give them a better color.

A few tablespoons of chopped red and green peppers adds much to the attractiveness of cold stew.

After greasing the tins for small cakes, dredge a bit of flour into them. The cakes will come out much easier after baking.

Cucumbers will keep for a week in the refrigerator.

French and mayonnaise dressing will keep indefinitely in a cool place if kept tightly covered.

All beans in cans aren't baked.

Read the label. If the label reads "baked beans," they are baked.

Heinz Oven-Baked Beans are baked in dry oven heat—and they're labeled "baked" on the can for your guidance in buying.

You can tell they're baked

FOLLIES OF FASHION

By Marguerite Barnes

WE are beginning to encounter more and more frequently the high, tight-waisted, full-skirted evening gown. The young girl who is short waisted, tall and slim, too, cannot wear the extreme of this silhouette, as indicated at left, without making her long legs look too long and her small, short waist too small in proportion. The lovely gown at the right, of a lighter color, has the same silhouette but is better adapted to this type of figure. The lace bertha adds width to the waist and the use of horizontal lines on the skirt makes the length from waist to hem seem shorter.

Rural Pupils to Sing in Mass Fair Choir

BETWEEN 3000 and 5000 rural school children will sing at the Iowa State Fair next summer in a state-wide rural choir.

Every rural school child in grades four to eight is eligible to try out for the choir. He must pass tests in music and rhythm.

C. A. Fullerton, head of the music department of Iowa State Teachers' College, will direct the choir.

The Spring Tailor

IT WOULD be disappointing in this period of fashion revivals if the sailor hat were missing. But it is not. Only it is so recognized that it is a bit difficult to recognize at first glance. The crown is rounded and quite shallow, as is fitting in these millinery days, and the brim rolls audaciously with an upward tilt at one side, revealing the fashionable ear-lock of gold, black, brown or red, as the case may be. Ribbon bands the crown and ties in a pert bow at the back. So much for the first spring sailor! It is shown in ballgown.

DAILY STORY

FOR

CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

Stories of Danger

THE Little Black Clock and John and Peggy were on the old vessel with Vasco da Gama and the Clock was telling them how everyone was trying to discover Vasco da Gama from going on.

He had turned the time way back for this was Da Gama's trip around the Cape of Good Hope which was then called the Cape of Storms.

"They're talking him not to try to go to India all the way by water," the Little Black Clock said. "And he has already heard stories of those who sailed around these parts who told about the sea becoming boiling hot here."

"He has been told that there is a great mountain in the sea here and that the mountain is like a magnet which will pull the iron bolts out of a ship."

"He has been told of a whirlpool in the sea into which his ship will be dragged down, down to the bottom where he will find monsters so huge they can swallow a ship at one gulp."

"You see there have been such stories around this coast that people have made up tales which they have believed were true."

"But you'll notice how Vasco da Gama is not stop him."

"He is going around the Cape now and he will go until he reaches India—all the way by water."

"There he'll get the spices that are so much wanted, and will have succeeded in his voyage."

The children and the Little Black Clock left the boat by means of a smaller boat and took a plane for home.

But after they had left their boat they saw the vessel of Vasco da Gama tossing about. And they saw how terrific a storm was coming up—far worse than that they had been through. And looked at his small, old-fashioned vessel and thought how very brave those old explorers were.

With a new water bath in heated over two burners of a stove several articles of food can be cooked in separate receptacles at the same time.

She is Making Her Mother Happy

Elisa from the time I started giving her Acidine regularly for her stomach," says Mrs. Semmer, of Union Ave., Chicago. "She likes take Acidine because it tastes like peppermint. Therefore I gave it to her regularly enough to keep her from getting sick. And she is so much happier now, I want every one who has the same trouble to had, to know how she can get it her mind."

Too much acid makes most people who keep a child's delicate stomach so upset she has no appetite and gets puny, pale and drawn.

More than 3 million people are suffering from this trouble. Acidine regularly because it sweetens an acid stomach so quickly tastes so good and costs so little. Get Acidine at any drug store.

Talks to PARENTS

By Alice Judson Beale

Birthday Present.

HOWARD took the first money he ever earned straight to the store and bought a beautiful, costly set of darts. He brought it home and showed it proudly to his mother.

"That certainly is a grand game. How nice of you to remember it is Billy's birthday tomorrow."

"Billy's birthday! What do you mean? This isn't for Billy. This is for my own self. I got it with the first money I ever earned, and it's mine."

His mother said nothing. Next morning he came down to find his mother placing the carefully wrapped package which contained Billy's birthday present at his place at the breakfast table.

Howard watched uncomfortably. He thought maybe Billy would like my box of magic tricks? You remember when I got it last year, you said it was a real birthday present for me. I was just teasing you with that old magic box. That's just an old thing, Howard's face. "Well, anyway, thank you, Howard."

Howard disappeared. In a few moments he came back holding in his arms the box of darts. "Here, Billy. Here is your real birthday present from me. It was just teasing you with that old magic box. Here, happy birthday."

Just the game into his brother's arms and ran out of the room.

Lessons in selfishness cannot be forced. They must be learned through the suggestions of home timeworn and through the natural course of events.

HEALTH

Articles prepared by experts for the New York Academy of Medicine.

Edited by Dr. Jago Goldstein.

Chopin and Tuberculosis

CHOPIN, as is well known, suffered from tuberculosis.

It is told of him that once, when he was traveling in Southern France, he chanced to stay in the room of a little town. No one there knew the traveler or his companion, George Sand.

It was noticed that Chopin was unwell and ill. His constant coughing and periodic fevers and his general debility soon led some of the natives to recognize that he was suffering from consumption.

Soon the entire town was again a stranger who so evidently was bringing a plague into their midst. The opposition to his presence became so intense that the innkeeper was obliged to insist upon his removal, so that, as the tale runs, George Sand was obliged to cart her sick companion out of town in a wheelbarrow, the only vehicle available.

Such is the tale, and if not authentic in fact, it is authentic enough in spirit. Were then the citizens of Southern France so heartless that they would countenance the removal in a wheelbarrow of a mortally ill man? That is hardly the point.

It was not the sick man they thought of, but the children at home whom they thought, they thus shielded against the horrors of contamination.

The cause of tuberculosis was at that time, the early part of the nineteenth century, entirely unknown. The manner of its spread was much disputed. Doctors thought the disease hereditary.

Even Laennec, at that period a leading student of the disease, believed it was transmitted from parent to offspring. Was not his own mother stricken down by the disease and was he not suffering from it?

Most people, on the other hand, were inclined to believe the disease contagious and took measures to isolate themselves from contact with it.

Rhubarb and Pineapple Pie

This is the time to make it when rhubarb is so lovely and pink. Two cups rhubarb, three-quarters cup sugar, one cup flaked pineapple, one pie tin with pastry and sprinkle a little flour over the bottom. Fill evenly with rhubarb, cut into 2-inch lengths. Then add sugar. On top place the pineapple, sprinkle with flour and cover with a top crust. Bake in a quick oven.

Sleep, Baby, Sleep.

One mother, whose baby rebelled at being put to bed at a regular time for a nap, tried turning the radio on and found it produced almost instant slumber. She soon had an established time for sleeping, set to the tune of music. It won't hurt to give it a trial the next time you have trouble.

A Kitchen Brightener.

If the top of your kitchen sink of wood, cover it with white cloth, stretch tightly and tack on the underneath side. You will be surprised how much brighter and brighter the kitchen will seem.
